AboveTopSecret.com is the Internet's largest and most popular discussion board community dedicated to the intelligent exchange of ideas and debate on a wide range of "alternative topics" such as conspiracies, UFO's, paranormal, secret societies, political scandals, new world order, terrorism, and dozens of related topics with an impressive demographic mix of members.

With more than 140,000 members generating over 5 million posts of substance that cover more than 400,000 topics in 157 different discussion forums, you could say "the truth is in here."

The Motto: "Deny Ignorance"

More than a slogan and deeper than a mission statement, our members have embraced the motto of "Deny Ignorance" as our reason for being, demanding everyone who posts to aspire to a higher standard of participation. These simple two words have galvanized a broad membership base that spans the spectrum from highly speculative conspiracy writers to staunch skeptics. The result is a unique collaboration of diverse individuals rallying under this simple statement to learn from each other, discover new truths, and imagine new ideas that expand minds.

This motto has life. It has purpose. It demands ATS members to think.

It is a state of mind.

It is a sense of purpose.

It is a statement against the paradigm.

It is a rage against the mindless status-quo.

The idea of "deny ignorance" isn't a goal that ATS hopes to accomplish.
Instead, it's a challenge. A call to all those who come here to aspire to a higher state of awareness through informed discussion and debate.

Deny ignorance is what we do.

It's how we think. It's how we talk. It's how we listen.

Ignorance is the social disease of history that has clouded our minds and dulled our brains.

Is the evil that men do, the reason history repeats, and the cause of intolerance.

We deny it. it's not welcome here. Within these boundaries, it has no strength.

Here, ignorance is denied.

UFO? Shape shifting worm like tube with strange light...

I live in Los Angeles. This happened at about 11:00AM give or take a few minutes... Today Sunday, March 11, 2007

I was looking out my apartment window and I saw at first what looked to be a stationary object... I quickly grabbed my camera...As I zoomed up on it I realized it was moving slowly. Then it seems to speed up a bit. When it started changing shapes I was amazed.

The light or reflection also seems very strange to me. Also I noticed somewhat of a reflective or metallic surface of the object. Very strange stuff. Not my first UFO sighting. Certainly one of the strangest things I've seen in a while.

I have seen similar videos of worm like objects like this but not of this color and not with the strange light.

The raw video is almost 600megs. Sorry for the lower quality format.

Take a look:

This is an EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW with “The Three Amigos” back before the ATS MIX conception and before I became a more FCC compliant, kinder, gentler Dave. This interview details how AboveTopSecret.Com started, when Simon met Skeptic Overlord.... and when Springer came on board. This is as FACTUAL as you are ever going to get about the history and mechanics of the biggest and most successful conspiracy website in the world. There are numerous surprises, even for the ATS

VETERANS. So sit back, kick your feet up, grab your favorite beverage and get ready for a lot of fun with “The Three Amigos”. By the way, there is another voice in this interview. The first person to POST HERE who it is CORRECTLY, I will award 5,000 ATS points. WON ON ANOTHER THREAD By Member SHAR! - The correct answer was AGENT X! "They" gave me cancer

Created by: William One Sac on March 12, flags: 66, replies: 188

At age 36 I was diagnosed with rectal cancer. If you watch the commercials, you are not even supposed to start getting colonoscopies until you hit 50. I believe my cancer was "given" to me as a direct result of my investigations into Camp Hero. And I am totally pissed about it. The only thing I can think of, is that I found a couple of unusual anomalies about the base. If you don't know about Camp Hero, do a google search and click on your first hit. That is my site.

Anyhow, while I was there I made a few observations. Every hill contained a bunker. Every single one. There was a large hill under the radar tower (SAGE). There was also a plain looking house in front of it, in which I discovered a tunnel leading out of directly under the radar tower. I also found that there were brand new electrical towers in the base.

I didn't draw any conclusions, I didn't speculate that there might be activity going on there. I merely went to montauk, and made observations. As a result, I am convinced the spooks gave me cancer. I am very fortunate to be alive today, as you well know if you know me. If you don't, let me just say that when I found I had cancer, in August of 2003, I was BLESSED enough to have one of the top colo-rectal cancer surgeons on the planet agree to take my case. There is something going on at Camp Hero, of that I am certain. In my searches I may have hit something too close to the truth. I am so angry, I want to go back to Montauk and use a welding torch to get into that tunnel. What the hell else do I have to lose? I still have inoperable cancer.

If anyone is interested, I will post links to some of the stuff that was going on in those days when I was sneaking onto the base while it was still closed. Do a search for "A really strange phone call", if you want.

There is nothing I can do now about what has happened to me. I am grateful though that I found this website to tell my story. I will post relevant pictures later. I also noticed that they are still using a weird antenna array out there. (at Motauk). I will post pictures and ask anyone if they have any ideas what these antenna might be for. One comment I will make, they are definitely trying to hide the antenna array.

Thanks for listening.

Video starts out and its real hard to see it but than as it the vid continues the father gets better at keeping track of it, partly cause he turned off auto focus.

WEll here is the vid link i really suggest you take a look and btw the first lilpart is the mom videoing the father and daughters do jump rope.

Empowering questions as affirmations.

Created by: TheBandit795 on March 18, flags: 35, replies: 44

Hey members, try this one out.

Have you ever used affirmations before? Repeating the same sentence again and again, hundreds of times a day, only to have doubts creep into your mind and your subconscious rejecting your affirmation every time you say it?

Conscious mind: "I am very confident in public situations"

Subconscious mind: "No you idiot, remember that last time when everyone was making fun of you and you couldn't defend yourself? Of course you're not confident"

Conscious mind: "Every day I'm becoming more intelligent"

Subconscious mind: "Of course not you stupid loser. You're just of average intelligence, and that's where you'll stay"

Affirmations that conflict with your subconscious belief don't work because of this. Only affirmations that do not conflict will be sent to your subconscious. And with the mindset of the majority of people in this society we all know what kind of affirmations those are.

"I'll never get that job I like"

"I will always be stuck here"

"People around me are sheep and they will always be asleep"

"I can only get more income by getting promotions"

"I will never lose those 10 pounds"

"I always have to work really hard to get what I want"

"If it sounds to good to be true, it probably is"

"The financial elite are crooks; only the rich get richer"

"If he's trying to sell something, then he's not credible" etc... etc...

Every time you think such thoughts, your subconscious will enforce it because there is no conflict. Those negative affirmations often work, and we experience those things as a result of that. That's the way most of us were brought up.

Now that we've seen that regular affirmations don't work, I'll show you another way of phrasing them that should work.

Change the affirmation into a question form. It's that easy.

Instead of: "Every day I'm becoming more intelligent" you can say, "why am I becoming more intelligent every day?"

You can also do it with negative affirmations, which you would have to rephrase two times. First to make them positive, then to turn them into a question.

Instead of: "My life sucks!" you will come up with "my life is great!" and then with "Why is my life so great?" or "Why is my life getting better and better?" or "What is the reason that my life is getting better and better?" or "How am I improving my life?" Any question form is good.

As you repeat these question form affirmations you will see how much better you will feel while you're asking those questions. That's a sign that it works and that your subconscious is accepting it already.

The reason why your subconscious accepts it is because it automatically tries to find the answer for any question you ask yourself. That's one of the functions of the subconscious. Which means that in order to look for that answer, it has to assume what you're asking about is already a fact (even if it really isn't).

So going through that example of negative affirmations I mentioned before, they would look like this.

"Why do I always get jobs that I like?"

"Why is my life dynamic and exciting?"

"How can I open other people's minds?" "Or why are all people starting to think more for themselves?"

"Why do I always have multiple sources of income?"

"Why do I always have my ideal weight?"

"Why am I always getting what I want by working smart?"

"Why do extremely good stuff happen all the time to me?" Or "Why am I always so lucky?"

"Why am I profiting from all of my actions, and helping others profit as well?"

"Why do we deserve to get paid if we create something of value?"

etc.. etc...

Which leaves me to a closing statement:

It's better to stop asking negative questions immediately. Your subconscious will accept it as fact and bring more of it to you. This is one of the main ways of how reality creation/ the law of attraction works.

France releases UFO files

Created by: IsaacKoi on March 22, flags: 34, replies: 128

Plans by the French National Centre of Space Studies (CNES) to release France's UFO files have been discussed in another thread : (links removed, visit the thread for external references) .

I thought it worth starting a separate thread to discuss the actual files themselves. The first batch of files was made available by CNES today (Thursday 22 March 2007) at the link below:

[At the time of writing the link is not working (nor for the main CNES homepage) possibly because of the number of people attempting to view the files].

One of the first of the news items about this release can be found (links removed, visit the thread for external references).

In relation to the claim by French officials that this release is a world first, it should be noted that numerous other countries have already released a considerable number of UFO documents (including the USA, the UK, Spain and Australia).

The sun is pregnant!

Created by: sleeper on March 9, flags: 32, replies: 266

And may produce another planet or two in the not so distant future

Like a hairball that has formed in the interior of the sun, planets get spit out every now and then.

As the planets age they move ever so slowly to the outskirts of the solar system and become debris, some of this debris collides with other debris and ricochets back into the interior of the solar system as comets, asteroids and moons.

All the planets were birthed by the sun, the youngest being Mercury, the oldest Neptune, Pluto and the other bodies in the Kuiper Belt and Oort Cloud are where remnants of the early solar system and dead planets reside.

The planets are gradually pushed away from the sun over the span of millions and billions of years and as their orbits enlarge and the sun's gravitational pull on them decreases they bloat up like gas giants---and then deflate and congeal as they enter the frigid zone at the periphery of the solar system.

Mercury, will move into Venus' orbit, Venus into earth's orbit, earth into Mars' orbit, and so on

The planets are held in orbit by the pull of the sun's gravitation and the push of the Solar wind. It's a delicate balance that slowly moves the planets from the interior to the outskirts as if riding on a large invisible conveyor belt.

Galaxies work in a similar way, producing stars at the center and kicking them out to the outskirts like popcorn in a kettle, where they cool off in clusters or individually and then slowly make their way back to the center of the galaxy

My two cents on how planetary systems evolve---:D

Right now there are riots and fires in different spots in Copenhagen, Denmark. This morning, an antiterror unit stormed a disputed house, "Ungdomshuset". They have removed those who lived there. Now the house's former residents and their many supporters are taking revenge. They are fighting in the streets with the police. There are now also many troublemakers/warriors on their way to Copenhagen to support their fight...

Why Time Does NOT Exist!

Created by: Mysteri on March 20, flags: 25, replies: 480

One of these days hopefully physics will actually catch up to what is really going on around us, maybe in that future day physicist will actually be trying to solve the mysteries of nature (and not just trying to sound smart) time, i repeat, time does not exist. time is the equivalent of using god to explain how the universe came to be. He just created it and it was there (where the heck did HE come from), physicists, the preachers of the scientific world whose every word we swallow up like the solid truth including their irrational flaws in physics, created time to explain...actually i dont know what they were trying to explain, perhaps something along the lines of the linear definition and movement of the past present and future. but in my defence as Antiphon the Sophist once said... "time is not a reality but a concept or measure", and Ralph Waldo Emerson follows up with "past and future are only present projections of memory and hope" couldn't have said it better myself.

There is...

-rate

-speed

-the measurement of acceleration via the illusion cast by the definition of seconds, hours, years etc...

-memory, prediction and hope (emotions and perceptions cast by mental awareness)

There is not...

-a linear, circular or otherwise movement of "flow" affecting physical matter, space and energy of the universe or universes thereof reciprocating the sentiments of John McTaggart Ellis McTaggart, time demands change and everything does not change, allow me to digress into an exemplary instance to demonstrate...

Lets say that one day an astronaut in the year 2000 dropped a small red ball into deep space (interplanetary to avoid all those gravity dilemmas) this ball floats about in space for millions of years perhaps hit by the occasional dust particle or small rock but it will survive, now our little astronaut buddy has been in cryo-storage all this time and hasn't aged a tad, imagine his surprise when upon his next venture into space he finds the same ball totally unchanged.

yeah, i know im good. so lets see what yall have to say now eh?

15 UK sailors being held at gunpoint by IRAN...

UK sailors captured at gunpoint... This could potentially turn into a blood bath. We are one misunderstanding away from WAR now...

Retribution would be swift and extreme in measures...

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"Fifteen British Navy personnel have been captured at gunpoint by Iranian forces, the Ministry of Defence says.

The men were seized at 1030 local time when they boarded a boat in the Gulf, off the coast of Iraq, which they suspected was smuggling cars.

The Ministry of Defence said: "The group boarding party had completed a successful inspection of a merchant ship when they and their two boats were surrounded and escorted by Iranian vessels into Iranian territorial waters.

"We are urgently pursuing this matter with the Iranian authorities at the highest level.

"The British government is demanding the immediate and safe return of our people and equipment."

It is understood the men being held are safe and well. Foreign Secretary Margaret Beckett has summoned the Iranian ambassador to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, in an attempt to get the sailors and marines released as quickly as possible. " I wouldn't pick a fight with the HMS Cornwall a Type 22 Frigate..

Are we hours away from war with Iran??

Rosie O'Donnell says in her video blog

"It's only the third time in history that fire has brought down a steel building, the other two times it happened was on the same day, World Trade Center One and World Trade Center Two - they both crumbled into dust and it was steel - very odd."

and

"I wanna have some physics professors on the show to explain if that is actually possible, that World Trade Center 7 could have imploded the way it did without being a controlled demolition - and if it was a controlled demolition why didn't they just tell people that in the 9/11 Commission Report?"

I want you all to feel welcome to ask whatever questions you deem appropriate, however, you must understand, that being polite is of the utmost importance.

I want there to be no attacks, from either side, in this thread.

This is for gentleman (and women) only.

Members of the craft are expected to conduct themselves in a respectful and exemplary manner.

Those seeking education are expected to be polite in their inquiries.

Now, what questions have you?

The Next Step In Domestic Disarmament

Created by: Justin Oldham on March 27, flags: 24, replies: 81

Federal bureaucrats and elected officials have been searching for new and aggressive ways to disarm the American people since the days of the [first]Clinton administration. During the winter month of February (2007) U.S. Representative (links removed, visit the thread for external references) introduced HR 1022 titled, (links removed, visit the thread for external references). As a renewed effort to push the gun control and disarmament agenda, this bill presents the average citizen with new food for thought.

In today's highly charged political environment, Federal officials at all levels stress compliance and conformity in the face of trans-national terrorism. Americans are no longer encouraged to be observant and brave. We're told to be non-confrontational while we wait for official help from sanctioned government agencies.

In an effort to make you aware of (links removed, visit the thread for external references), I'd like to show you a little history, and the actual text of the new and...improved...assault weapons ban. I'll be using publicly available sources for the brief history lesson, which will give you a chance to do your own back tracking. Don't take my work for what you see here. Do you own homework, and make up your own mind.

ORIGINS OF THE DOMESTIC DISARMAMENT POLICY

Essay by Justin Oldham

Sept. 10, 2005

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

You don't have to be a conspiracy theorist to know that we've just had one more peek at our future. The following slice from the New York Times could have been part of the window dressing for my novel, but it wasn't. This was real.

New Orleans Begins Confiscating Firearms as Water Recedes
New York Times, September 8, by ALEX BERENSON and TIMOTHY WILLIAMS

"Waters were receding across this flood-beaten city today as police officers began confiscating weapons, including legally registered firearms, from civilians in preparation for a mass forced evacuation of the residents still living here."

"No civilians in New Orleans will be allowed to carry pistols, shotguns, or other firearms, said P. Edwin Compass, the superintendent of police. "Only law enforcement are allowed to have weapons," he said."

"But that order apparently does not apply to the hundreds of security guards whom businesses and some wealthy individuals have hired to protect their property. The guards, who are civilians working for private security firms like Blackwater, are openly carrying M-16's and other assault rifles. Mr. Compass said he was aware of the private guards, but that the police had no plans to make them give up their weapons."

Federal disaster management policy should cover a lot of things. Evacuation, rescue, and re- settlement are all good things. These are Humanitarian responsibilities that any honest government should live up to. As Federal, State, and Local governments struggle to bear these honorable burdens, they should not try to lighten their loads by putting down their Constitutional obligations.

[My published work] makes the case that the Federal government will deliberately capitalize on moments of great national pain and chaos to circumvent or suspend the Constitution. The situation described in the above New York Times article appears to be harmless. 50 years ago, it might have been. In today's highly charged political environment, this isn't just a "situation " It's a legal precedent waiting to happen.

As the article says, legally registered firearms are being confiscated from private citizens while heavily armed private security forces are on patrol. These "rented cops" have certificates, licenses, and permits issued by Federal, State, and local authorities. The career politicians who made it possible for local police whom you know and trust to disarm you...have already decided what the outcome of this issue will be at the Federal level. With or without legal challenge, they've just established an official policy of domestic disarmament.

THE NEXT STEP IN DOMESTIC DISARMAMENT

Essay by Justin Oldham

Nov. 9, 2005

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

You don't have to be a conspiracy theorist to know that there really is a movement under way to disarm the American public. Pro-Federalist forces have been looking for a way to break the second amendment since the 1970's. After three and a half decades of struggle at the highest levels, they are now switching tactics.

Realizing that political action at the Federal level garners too much attention from the incident- hungry national media, party bosses and career politicians in the lower levels of government are doing what their D.C. superiors couldn't. They're creating a trend that will see you volunteering to give up your guns by the end of this decade.

These are precisely the tactics I wrote about. [My published work] makes the case that the 'trend' toward big government is actually a series of carefully exploited moments in time that are intended to make YOU give up what THEY couldn't take lawful action. Since the mid-1990's, career politicians at the Federal level have begun to realize that their relatively small numbers make them easy to observe and catch when they do something wrong.

There are less than 1,000 elected officials at the Federal level. That number swells to well over 70,000 at the State and Local levels. That's a lot of people to keep track of. So much so, that State and Local media outlets don't even try. This makes back-channel deals in your home town more than possible. It makes them a sure thing.

November 8 [2005] saw the voters in San Francisco approve anti-gun legislation that bans the making, selling, and owning of most guns illegal inside city limits.

Ask any lawyer, and they'll tell you that case law matters. Legal precedent makes almost anything possible. Local laws becomes the basis for State laws, if they withstand court challenges. State laws become the basis for...Federal laws...if they stand up to challenge in court. Any judge who chooses to "legislate from the bench" can strike down a legal challenge. They often do this, knowing that the 'approved' precedent will find its way in to the legal code. In many cases, this is how Federal law has overruled State law.

The bottom-up approach to disarmament is only made possible when career politicians take advantage of uninformed citizens and low voter turnout. In my home town, 25% of the people vote. When the special interest groups mobilize, they can vote down any measure they don't like. This is how our social and political elites now plan to take your guns. They'll out-vote you. The test case in San Francisco, if it survives legal challenge, will give them all the courtroom cover they need. Use your voice while you still have it. Vote wisely.

I bring these essays to your attention to provide a modern context for this very old issue.

"The Gun Control Timeline" is taken from the following source.

I present it here for your convenience. This resource contains many hyperlinks, which you can use as you see fit by going to the usgovinfo.about.com web site.

"Gun Control Timeline

Last Updated: 09/26/99

When did this whole gun control debate start?

It could have started shortly after November 22, 1963 when evidence in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy increased public awareness to the relative lack of control over the sale and possession of firearms in America. Indeed, until 1968, handguns, rifles, shotguns, and ammunition were commonly sold over-the-counter and through mail-order catalogs and magazines to just about any adult anywhere in the nation.

However, America's history of regulating private ownership of firearms goes back much farther. In fact, all the way back to...

The Bill of Rights, including the Second Amendment -- "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." gains final ratification.

1837

Georgia passes a law banning handguns. The law is ruled unconstitutional and thrown out.

1865

In a reaction to emancipation, several southern states adopt "black codes" which, among other things, forbid black persons from possessing firearms.

1871

The National Rifle Association (NRA) is organized around its primary goal of improving American civilians' marksmanship in preparation for war.

With this historical overview at your disposal for easy research, I'd like to show you what the new gun control legislation looks like. Please scroll down to the next post in this thread.

What follows is a video apparently taken on new years day 2007 in Santiago, Chile. The video shows an object hovering in the sky and occasionally lighting up somehow. After a little while the object begins to move back and forth quite rapidly.

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

My initial thoughts are that this appears to be genuine. I wish I knew what they were saying, but I dont see any obvious indicators of a fake. Take note of the inconsistency in the timing of the light flashes. Also it appears as if the lighting is a result of the object glowing, not a traditional light like those seen on airplanes.

Sorry if this video has been posted before, this is my first post on ATS.

-The short story must be linked to and based upon ANY single thread within ATS, no matter how new or old.

-There must be at least 3 main characters involved, with one or more who are antagonistic to the other(s). I'd like to see how we handle conflict situations by building solid personalities and setting them against one another.

Since we are raising the prize packages, I'm hoping to see well-formed stories with dialogue and action sequences building to a climactic ending.

Remember that the ATS Terms and Conditions apply completely. Stories which do not reflect those rules will be edited before they are included as submissions.

Attention: Project Blue Beam Is Disinformation. The Truth about everything is in here. UPDATED.

Created by: markjaxson on March 29, flags: 20, replies: 134
Project Blue Beam is Disinfo.

The fact is when this happens it is not NASA or anyone else who is "Projecting a world wide show". Its the human collective unconscious.

In addition to our immediate consciousness, which is of a thoroughly personal nature and which we believe to be the only empirical psyche there exists a second psychic system of a collective, universal, and impersonal nature which is identical in all individuals. This collective unconscious does not develop individually but is inherited. It consists of pre-existent forms, the archetypes, which can only become conscious secondarily and which give definite form to certain psychic contents.

Our Planet Earths vibrations are increasingly becoming higher, and so are our MINDS.

Project Bluebeam is yet another one of those NWO Plans to put fear into everyone to direct their attention from THE TRUTH.

In the upcoming years the collective unconscious will quickly start to become conscious to every living person on this earth.

It is part of the ascension process which will come to its finale at the end of 2012.

Therefore in the next 5 years there will be more ufo reportings,sightings of mythical creatures,jesus christ,buddah etc.

UFO sightings will become normal in the next 5 years to many people,this will include the "Worm UFO's" "Spacecraft" etc.

Its just humankinds collective unconscious becoming a reality and the "Evil" of this world are trying to distract you from THE TRUTH!

The world is an Illusion, The current events of this earth that include wars,violence,hate etc are a distraction from what is going to happen.

You can argue about the existence of ufo's, you can argue if 911 was planned, you can waste your time on these things as they are a distraction from THE TRUTH.

And the truth is, UFOS EXIST,MYTHS ARE NOT MYTHS THEY ACTUALLY HAPPENED,JESUS CHRIST WAS REAL AND 911 WAS CLEARLY PLANNED, And all the other "acts of terrorism" where ALL PLANNED.

It is all part of the Divine Plan.

The ONLY reason why we cannot 100% prove all of this YET is because it is not yet the time. Once the time is right everything will be known.

Good things come to those who wait.

Strange things and sightings are already becoming increasingly reported and will get more and more common as these final years pass by.

DO NOT FEAR ANYTHING.

FEAR is the only hold the "EVIL" of this world have on us humans, it is the only power they have to control us.

Our emotions have been used to control us for so so many years and now is the time it ends.

WAKE UP PEOPLE.

IMMORTALITY IS WAITING FOR US JUST AROUND THE CORNER.

UPDATE:

Basically it boils down to this.

Are you a horny toad (low vibration:Cannot grasp the idea of UFO's or anything remotely strange) or are you a spiritual human (high vibration:Understands that anything and everything is possible)

Let me explain.

Now, the higher you go up the ladder, the less of a physical body you have. For those of you that don't understand, look at the difference in the skin of a horny toad compared to the skin of a human. The human's electromagnetic field vibrates at a much higher frequency so it is less dense. This does not mean that the horny toad does not have consciousness, but that its consciousness is within a different dimension. That is why a horny toad and a human cannot communicate. You will not teach a horny toad to respond to YOUR intellectual stimulus, but YOU can OBSERVE the frequency of the consciousness of the horny toad' existence. See how I say "observe"? Observe is all you can do, you cannot interact on an intellectual level. For interacting would be frustrating for you and yet go completely unnoticed by the horny toad. That is about as simple explanation as I can give to describe the difference in dimensions and distinct, separate universes. That is also the reason why many people cannot see eye to eye. They reside in different dimensions. When people reside at different dimensions, they exist at different levels of consciousness. That is why it is like talking to a telephone pole when you talk to some people. And why some people think you are a know it all. The person at a lower vibration does not experience what the person of the higher vibration experiences, but the person at the higher vibration knows what the person of lower vibration experiences. "Been there and done that, lol". In essence, one knows what the other does not and the one that does not, does not know it.

If your a horny toad you will eventually start to realise that you are spiritual being and anything can happen and everything does exist, dont worry your time WILL come.

If you already know your not a horny toad you already understand what im saying.

Bob Lazar and Element 115

Created by: Diplomat on March 13, flags: 19, replies: 340

I believe it was during the 1980's that Bob Lazar described how Element 115 (later named Ununpentium) was used as part of an "anti-gravity engine." Then in 2004 or so some scientists officially "discovered" Element 115. So my point is, if Bob Lazar knew all about Element 115 many years before it was publicly discovered, doesn't that basically prove that he is telling the truth and knows what he is talking about?

I have been doing a little research tonight about Element 115 and I cannot find any articles that mention Element 115 being discussed, researched, or anything like that any time before 2003.

I want to know if Element 115 was something that scientists already "knew about" when Bob Lazar first started talking about it, or if Bob Lazar was the first person to explain the element and how it works...

The man has keratin-like matter growing out of the skin on hands and feet, which started when he was young, and very slowly continues to spread and grow. The areas begin as skin lesions, and the matter sprouts from those spots. The growths are very difficult to remove, and the man has so far just had to learn to live with it. There are a few medical precedents to this man's case, but nothing is certain until more tests are done. In the meantime, the missionary is helping to make life easier for the man."

as you can see not one of the books are older than 1000bce

here you can see the development of just two of those stories that most people think are only biblical stories which in both cases have their origins in another culture and an earlier religion

Here is the King James Version of a certain passage from:-

Job 26:5-6

5 Dead things are formed from under the waters, and the inhabitants thereof

6 Hell is naked before him, and destruction hath no covering.

And here is the original version from the Hebrew bible

5 The shades tremble beneath the waters and the inhabitants thereof.

6 The nether world is naked before Him, and Destruction hath no covering.

There was a translation of this passage in 1922 by Dr James Moffat who was an advocate of the "Atlantis is real" theory like so many other scholars of his time

"The Titans tremble beneath the waters and the inhabitants thereof. Hell is naked before him, and destruction hath no covering."

which in view of the Babylonian version which came to light later is completely untenable when you compare it to the Babylonian version which contains this passage which is so obviously the original

5. He sent a storm wind to the horizon;

To the breast of the earth it bore a blast

Into the depth of his ocean the disembodied spirit vanished

Unnumbered spirits he sent back to the under-world.

The.....of the hag-demons he sent straight to the mountain.

So the book of Job is clearly based on the Babylonian version which dates from 1700bce which is 200 years before the claim of the writing lesson on mt sinai and the existence of Moses, which now seems to be a plot piece to avoid claims of plagiarism as in

"we didn't steal it God did"

and this extract compares the story of Noah with an extract taken from the epic of Gilgamesh which predates the biblical version by 1500 years and the claimed existence of Moses by 1000 years

Gilgamesh: -

When a seventh day arrived
I sent forth a dove and released it.
The dove went off, but came back to me;
no perch was visible so it circled back to me.

Genesis 7

8 And he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters were abated from off the face of the ground. 9 But the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned unto him to the ark, for the waters were on the face of the whole earth

Gilgamesh

I sent forth a raven and released it.
The raven went off, and saw the waters slither back.
It eats, it scratches, it bobs, but does not circle back to me.

Genesis 7

7 And he sent forth a raven, and it went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from off the earth Even the wording is unchanged, he sent forth a bird, then sent forth another bird, the only thing that is markedly different between these two stories is the ending where YHWH proclaims to Noah:-

"I will not again curse the ground any more for man's sake; for the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth; neither will I again smite any more every thing living, as I have done"

The reason for this difference comes down to the timing of the individual stories creation. The first was written after Enlil had fallen from favour as the head of the mesopotamian pantheon. The world was now under the protection of Enki who had never sent a flood and had actively participated in lessening the effects of the first one whereas the Noah story was written at a time when early Judaism desperately needed something to believe in and wanted to keep that belief as a way forward.

In other words YHWH was a keeper and Enlil had already been discarded.

Funnily enough neither story mentions ducks. If there had really been an actual global deluge then by now ducks would be the dominant species on this planet. They're just about the only creature that isn't affected by rainfall and really isn't bothered by how high the water rises. You couldn't plan a global devastation intending to blot out man from the face of the earth and beast, and creeping thing, and fowl of the air without planning for ducks could you. Does this mean that God loves ducks more than mankind? Or are they creatures of Satan over which he has no control. Just why do ducks get such favourable treatment when it comes to global floods probably because when someone puts together a tool of mass control they can't always allow for people who know the truth coming forward and saying "hey wait a minute" you forgot something. they used to allow for that by calling those sorts of people Heretics and burning them alive. apparently there were 150,000,000 Heretics living in south america when the spanish bought Gods word to them. a few years later this ceased to be the case there is no possibility of an oral history being the reasoning behind these similarities as the Hebrews did not exist at the time that either of these two texts were originally written who compiled it in their own book changing the names to suit their purpose, which at that time was simply to make it more valid to the audience reading it. this happens with all stories from religious texts to Cinderella its not quite chinese whispers its a deliberate changing os small details to make it more culturally relevant to make it a more interesting story.

even hollywood does this. how many of you saw pearl harbour and watched a lone american pilot win first the battle of britain and then the air war in the pacific that didn't actually happen that way you know.

but it didn't spoil the action did it

:lol:

there are two strong possibilities for the dissemination of this knowledge to the Hebrews

the first is Ashurbanipal a king of Assyria

"During his rule, Assyrian splendour was not only visible in its military power, but also its culture and art. Ashurbanipal created "the first systematically collected library" at Nineveh, where he attempted to gather all cuneiform literature available by that time"

Ashurbanipal had slaves who he used as Librarians. they were semitic hebrews. it was their job to translate ancient texts into Babylonian and Assyrian so that anyone could read them

the second is the Babylonian captivity

"The Babylonian captivity, or Babylonian exile, is the name generally given to the deportation and exile of the Jews of the ancient Kingdom of Judah to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar" at this point it is believed by most biblical scholars that the bible was actually compiled. It was put together by a race who had been totally enslaved by another as a means to give them hope.

it worked well didn't it theres a new book out which covers this in much more detail if anyones interested see this really gets to the heart of the subject of this forum

the origins of the bible which is a book written in the ancient world has really been a mystery because its been covered and hidden by the religions keeping its origins a secret so that they can retain power but its origins lie in the ancient civilisations that are now mysteries to anyone who doesnt study them so you can if you like follow what you were taught in church and continue to believe that God did it all or you could look into it yourself a little with an open mind and find the truth, which is that our species is responsible for everything you see around you and everything that has ever been written we are the gods

the truth does as they say set you free and who knows maybe you might find the truth about a few other mysteries along the way

Harsh Reality of Iraq. ** warning image may disturb

"One quick read of

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
article on the estimated two million refugees from Iraq* and the other two million left homeless inside Iraq and one sees the story of the war and the Iraq that George built.

Bush and Cheney have more than decimated Iraq. That is, in a country of 26 million people, Bush and Cheney have killed directly, caused the deaths indirectly, or caused the evacuation, of over four million people. That is, over 15% of the population has been cut up, root and branch, from the nation. Focusing on two people, a doctor and spouse, CNN tells the story of far too many Iraqis. Abtan, a doctor, fled to Jordan to avoid certain decapitation. He has lost ten relatives and four friends to violent death, "including two doctors murdered at work. His wife has lost three relatives. They have no plans to return to Iraq anytime soon, but they want better lives now."

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
(visit the thread to view linked images)

What a shame, what a crying shame.

Imagine having to abandon your house, leave your belongings behind.. forget your life and move to another country... sitting in your seat while you hear daily of friends being killed, other family being kidnapped or old workmates joining the insurgency because they have no other chance at life?

I mean it doesn't really matter that ALL This is happening, because of lies does it... especially when the UN Comes out and says something like this

"The United Nations Secretary-General Kofi Annan has told the BBC the US-led invasion of Iraq was an illegal act that contravened the UN charter. He said the decision to take action in Iraq should have been made by the Security Council, not unilaterally. "

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
But ya know what, it doesn't really matter.. because we all know that this war was planned and prepared for LONG before the US even went to the UN... Whats the use of having a UN, when you choose to ignore it ?

But, alas... even though we made so many drastic errors, which ended up costing thousands of our OWN soliders lives, along with hundreds of thousands of lives of foreign citizens in their own home.. our great, and honourable leaders have told us the answer to this unfortunante mistake, is 21,000 more troops.. because we have seen that violence beats violence.

So why are we seeing reports such as this?

"Wasn't that "surge" and security crackdown supposed to be reducing the violence?

Certainly that was the argument Bush made when he announced his latest new "strategy" of adding 21,500 troops to the occupying force in Iraq. He said that the so-called "surge" was needed to "reduce the cycle of violence," but so far, the violence has only increased, with more bombings, more killings, more Iraqis—both Shias and Sunnis—dying--albeit spread around in the areas outside of the central city--and more American troops being killed.

This is progress?

I guess maybe it is in the Through the Looking Glass world inhabited by the president and by the vice president, who recently declared that the decision by Britain to cut and run from Basra was a sign of "progress" in the Iraq War. "

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

youve really got to ask yourself,

We made so many mistakes, went against so many international laws.. and 'pissed' off so many of our allies... what in the world are we going to do now?

Seriously?

If 21,500 more troops didnt help, elections didnt help, threats and violence didnt help... what is left for the USA Administration to do?

I mean they have made an absolute FORTUNE from this war... and only have 1 and half more years to have to stand the heat until they retire...

What about the poor Iraqi's?

The millions now homeless, friendless, familyless?

What about the soliders who are coming home with slashed benefits?

Haunting memories and dreams?

The internal pain of having seen a friend murdered in front of you, or having to pull the trigger against another human being?

What for them?

Iraq has been devastated. It will never, EVER again see peace on the level it was under Saddam's day. The people will never forget the crimes inflicted on them from the USA..

I dont believe certain people inside the United states understands the sheer velocity of this situation? the reach it is going to have around the world for decades to come...

You think these people:

Give a damn that 'our' reasons for going to war turned out to be BS?

Your think they are going to forgive us ? allow us to leave then just turn to the WESTERN enforced way of life? while we suck them dry from behind while taking their natural resources?

Dont you look at this :

(visit the thread to view linked images)

3,200 times and ask yourself....

" For everything we have gained..... was Saddam really worth all our men, all their people, their buildings, their land and our security? "

Especially when saddam was AGAINST Osama and Alqaeda, and he posed NO THREAT, and NEVER THREATENED US in over A DECADE?

Tell me, what exactly is it about this war, that people still find justified?

So this is how it will work. You will announce if you believe or disbelieve in the official story on the title of your post.

"I believe the official story."

"I disbelieve the official story."

Then you will write 2 of the strongest reasons you can think of, as to why you believe or not. ONLY 2.

This will help me, and others figure out who stands where, and who is a dis-info agent and who isn't. Who is gullible, and who isn't. Also, who has a mind of their own, and who doesn't.

I will start if off on the next post.

Whistleblower Exposes FAA Conspiracy - Commission Covers It Up!

Created by: nick7261 on March 1, flags: 17, replies: 29

Again, this is not a smoking gun, but it's another piece of the puzzle showing the conspiracy to cover-up what happened on 9/11. Based on how instrumental the FAA was in keeping NORAD from preventing the 9/11 attacks, this may even expose the complicity of the FAA in allowing the attacks to happen.

This post will show what FAA security employee Bogdan Dzakovic told the 9/11 Commission about how the FAA intentionally created a system that was "designed for failure," and how the FAA "very conscientiously and deliberately orchestrated a dangerous façade of security."

In spite of Dzakovic's testimony, the 9/11 Commission completely ignored Bogdan's testimony in their final report.

If you're interested in understanding the dirty secrets of why 9/11 happened, then take time to read this.

1. Red Team Breaches Security 90% of the Time, FAA Orders Them Not to Write Up Their Findings

Bogdan Dzakovic's job with the FAA was to try to breach FAA security. His unit was called Red Team. In effect, the Red Team was supposed to test the FAA security just as if a terrorist was trying to get through security. Red Team was able to breach security 90% of the time, but the FAA's response was to order the Red Team *not* to write up their findings.

2. FAA Deliberately Ignores Red Team Warnings; System is "Designed" to Fail

Dzakovic tells the 9/11 Commissioners that the highest members of the FAA intentionally ignore the Red Team's warnings about the total lack of security at the airports. Dzakovic goes on to tell the 9/11 Commission that the system was designed for failure to stop terrorists.

3. Dzakovic tells the 9/11 Commissioners that the FAA Deliberately Deceived the Public About What Happened on 9/11

Apparently there were reports that the hijackers had a gun and explosives. Somewhere along the way the FAA just simply decided to change this report for no apparent reason other than to intentionally deceive the public.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

4. Highest Ranking Members of FAA Knew of Total Lack of Security and Did Nothing

5. Red Team Gets 31 Out of 31 Simulated Bombs Through Security, FAA Orders Red Team to Stop Testing

These are the major points that Dzakovic reported in his successful "Whistleblower" action against the FAA. The pattern is clear. The more the Red Team was successful in defeating FAA airport security, the more the FAA tried to stop the Red Team from doing their job.

6. The "Where's the Evidence?" Strategy Is Used To Stop All Investigations of Issues Raised by the Red Team

Amazingly, the Inspector Generals office pulled almost the exact same strategy with Dzakovic that the DoD pulled with the Able Danger unit. In both cases the evidence in question was either seized or destroyed. After the evidence was eliminated, the government then said, "So where's your *proof* of all these allegations?" Obviously, the proof was already destroyed.

7. Patriot Act Calls for Imprisonment for Whistleblowers

Just to make sure people like Dzakovic aren't able to cause trouble in the future, the Congress passed the Patriot Act which allows government employees to be fired and imprisoned for disclosing unclassified evidence. In effect, this new law eliminated the need for the government to worry about "whistleblowers" spilling the beans. And people wonder why nobody involved in a conspiracy might come forward??

(visit the thread to view linked images)

So after all these revelations about the FAA complicity in allowing the the 9/11 attacks to happen, here's what the 9/11 Commissioners had to say on the subject:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

That's right. Nothing.

The 9/11 Commissioners totally and completely discarded Dzakovic's testimony as if he never even testified. Likewise, the 9/11 Commissioners decided unanimously that the information that the Able Danger officers tried to provide about Mohammad Atta was irrelevant.

In my opinion, there is more than enough evidence re the 9/11 Commissioners to prove there was at minimum a conspiracy to hide the FAA's responsibility for the 9/11 attacks.

I would suggest that if you're truly interested in exposing the truth about 9/11, it would be helpful to focus on information like what Dzakovic testified to and why the 9/11 Commission ignored it than to keep focusing on unwinnable arguments like CD's in the WTC, etc.

Suspected 2012 DNA Change?

Created by: JackCash on March 9, flags: 15, replies: 143

As some of you might have heard, some people believe that as 2012 looms nearer, us as humans will undergo a DNA change.

The myans predicted that on Dec 21, 2012 our current world would be destroyed and we will enter the new world. We also know that on Dec 21, 2012, we will allign with our galactic center. Although scientists don't know wht will happen, there are a few things that we know about the center of our galaxy.

We know that there is a supermassive blackhole at the center of our galaxy. We also know that in some instances of these blackholes, they shoot out and emit particles and radiation back into the universe.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

We have also recently found a nebulae near the center of our universe that is quite intriguingly in the shape of a double helix DNA strand. Could this be a hint?

Here is an article that I ran across on this DNA mutation.

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Here is another article describing the symptoms, that we will experience as we go through these changes.

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

I have personally experienced quite a few of these symptoms, as well as my wife. I had previously written them off as bad health or just plain exhaustion. Has anyone else experienced a few or more of these symptoms? I'm not saying that I am going through any dramatic changes at the moment, but I wanted to entertain the thought of this.

I would like to hear everyone's thoughts on the DNA change/Galactic alignment.

It's been driving me nuts now for as long as I can remember - and its defiantly getting worse. Tinnitus is the 'umbrella' term for this, but as far as I can find out that just refers to the symptoms - not the cause.

I short what I experience is 24/7 noise in my head (doesn't feel like its in my ears) the various noises constantly 'shift' there levels and intensity making it very difficult to ignore. At any one time it feels like at least half a dozen tones are present.

Quite often I will get what I call 'spikes' from no where loud high pitched short very annoying bursts, they wake me up all the time, can be very off-putting if I'm concentrating. :flame::flame:

Reading this, some may think I'm going prematurely deaf - I can assure that is very much not the case, my hearing is very good indeed - in fact my last hearing test was perfect, zeros across the top of the chart, I heard every single tone. The audiologist said that was rare among children let alone me (aged 26) - and that technically he could not test my hearing as it may be possible for me to hear even more than his tests permit!

So I'm just sorta throwing this one out there hoping a few of you may come back your personal experiences. p.s. Lighthearted remarks concerning my mental state also welcome, as that seems to be a matter of option among people who know me personally! :lol:

UFO Photos Extremely Close Up, 2006

Created by: Ambergambler on March 24, flags: 14, replies: 209

We were in Wiltshire in the summer of 2006. On the night of July 30th my partner and I arranged for my mum to look after our kids for a few hours so we could go out.

We left late and arrived at the pub around 10.30.

We sat down, a woman came over and started talking to us, she was nice, but very boring, and so we decided to leave. We got back in the car and drove towards a place called PewsDowns, on our way toward Avebury. It was 10.55

As we turned a corner, we could see the long road ahead that past Adams Grave. Up in the sky just above us we saw 3 lights, we talked about what they could be. They flew really close together; from this distance they just looked white.

We continued up the hill, losing sight of them to our left, as we reached the top of the hill, we both decided to go back and have another look, it was just to odd to ignore. So we turned the car around and drove back down, looking for a place to park, we saw a little gap in the hedge, next to a field, so we parked there.

It was dark, and we could see the outline of the hill silhouetted against the skyline, and there the lights were, still flying round. By this time we were quite excited, I threw open my car door, dropping everything on my lap onto the ground. We started to pace towards the lights, up the hill. This took about 9mins, I took a few photos into the dark in the hope I might catch the lights on the camera. It was a long climb, a lot of the time I was looking down, trying not to fall over in the dark. By the time we got up the hill, all the lights had vanished. We both knelt down on the path to catch out breath, it was silent and very still up there, the moon was bright.

I still had my camera in my hand. Just as I was about to stand up, I looked to my left and suddenly there in the dark this thing appeared. I couldn't believe it; it was so amazing, hard to explain.

It was beautiful, not very big, about 5 feet across, completely silent, blue lights on the end of its wing, yellow and red in between. The yellow lights were on the front/nose 4 of them, one above the other, tubes, like perspex, joined the lights. The tubes pulsed with light in them, and it just hang there in the sky, about 15 feet away from us.

I could see the air had an effect on it, the right wing lowered slightly and then raised again, and it turned to its left on the spot and flew away from us up the hill.

I suddenly remembered my camera in my hand, and tried to get it back on, looking up I saw the ufo (I will call it this) had turned and was now at the top of the hill facing down towards us.

Now, I don't know why I did this, but I did, I spoke, "hello, come here" as soon as I said this, it started to come towards us, my partner whispered something, "what about the kids?" I said " don't worry, don't be scared, its ok", I turn and looked up and it was still coming towards us, it was very low to the hill, traversing the ground, every bump, for a second I felt a slight fear, was it going to hit us, or zap us, like mars attacks, then I felt no fear. Raising my camera I pointed it at the ufo/craft thing, it stopped, almost above our heads, I had to lean back and hold the camera above me to take the shot, it was only about 15 feet above us, I remember the click as I took the photo, the feeling, I prayed it would show up. As soon as I took the photo of it went again, in a huge arc back round. I continued to take photos of it; it circled once more, again stopping over our heads.

I've run out of space here, so have a look at the photos, ask anything you want. I'm happy to send you the full resolution photos.

The whole thing went on for 40mins, and turns out there were other people who saw it.

BitTorrent 475GB version:

BitTorrent:

This was constructed (by me) almost entirely using government / military animations, videos, images and photos. The narrative is sourced from government quotes from start to finish. It is the "official version", if you will, but in an unprecedented format.

It mostly centers around DARPA materials, as they're the fountainhead of all of this, but this is all a broad multi-agency effort. Some of the video content, like the "OS interface" of the video, was screen captured from the DARPA sites old iXo interactive flash presentation, from almost a year ago, but is now no longer available. It unveils the governments numerous and ongoing programs related to A.I., "NBIC", the "Global Information Grid", nanotechnology, biotechnology, autonomous drones, "naval sea-bases", space weapons, weather modification... or more directly: domestic and global totalitarian technological domination. American Imperialism meets Artificial Intelligence.

Resource page:

I've been trying to spark some serious discussion on it over here:

In my view, this issue is the most serious threat we face right now, and not only to UA Americans who are paying for it, but all of humanity. They're AI and imperialist goals are overarching and unprecedented, and nowhere in their literature can I find any mention of how they assume they might prevent the AI "Doomsday" scenario.

Circuit City to fire 3,400 and rehire cheaper workers

"Circuit City Stores Inc., the second-largest U.S. electronics retailer, will fire 3,400 of its highest-paid sales people and hire replacements willing to work for less.

The company, which reported its first loss in six quarters in December, is eliminating jobs that paid "well above" market rates. Those who were fired can apply for the lower-paying jobs, company spokesman Bill Cimino said today.

Article: NUTRICIDE: The Killing Camps of Codex Alimentarius

Created by: SkipShipman on March 4, flags: 13, replies: 31

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"Nutricide (noo trih side):

1. Intentionally bringing about our causing the death of a body of knowledge and information concerning the health promoting and curative attributes of herbs, food and food components

2. Intentionally bringing about our causing the death of large numbers of people through nutritional manipulation

Codex Alimentarius (the international food standard organization) and multinational corporation collusion together impair and gravely threaten world health. If Codex has its way, its deadly standards and guidelines will be implemented in the United States by 2010 significantly impairing the health and health prospects of all Americans, killing those with chronic illnesses who depend on therapeutic dose nutritional supplements for survival.

From the PDF:

Codex Alimentarius will contaminate every bite of food you eat and make your favorite vitamins, minerals and herbs illegal substances. It will become impossible in the United States to find clean food to feed your family or yourself or to use natural health options to get well and stay that way, at least legally. Codex rules governing organic food so degrade it that pollution with veterinary drugs, pesticides, genetically modified foods, toxins and growth hormones will make the designation totally meaningless. Implicit in estimates by the two organizations which run Codex Alimentarius for the UN[1] are that implementation of just the restrictive Vitamin and Mineral Guideline alone[2] will result in the deaths of at least 3 billion people world wide. Those estimates anticipate the deaths of at least 1 billion people from simple starvation and 2 billion more from what WHO and FAO identify as the "preventable chronic diseases of under nutrition": cancers, cardiovascular disease, stroke, diabetes and obesity. "

The outrage of the Codex Alimentarius is far greater than anyone could have foreseen, especially when you envision from the World Health Organization that 3 billion people will die after its implementation. This is going to be mandatory after 2009, think about it, you will have no recourse to adequate nutrition, pesticides already illegal in many countries made compulsory. The list goes on and on.

The Incandescent Light-bulb gets an upgrade

GE has just announced that new advancements that is set to improve the 125 year old technology and is setting up a major "format war" in the lighting sector. GE claims:

"(links removed, visit the thread for external references)"
The target for these bulbs at initial production is to be nearly twice as efficient, at 30 lumens-per-Watt, as current incandescent bulbs. Ultimately the high efficiency lamp (HEI) technology is expected to be about four times as efficient as current incandescent bulbs and comparable to CFL bulbs. Adoption of new technology could lead to greenhouse gas emission reductions of up to 40 million tons of CO2 in the U.S. and up to 50 million tons in the EU if the entire installed base of traditional incandescent bulbs was replaced with HEI lamps."

Here are the benefits of these lights as I see it:

Instant On

Color is more "traditional"

Lower manufacturing costs

Manufactured Domestically

Mercury Eliminated

Less heat, more light

This looks to be a good stepping stone towards OLEDs.

62 kids witness UFO landing at school

Created by: Kr0n0s on March 23, flags: 13, replies: 73
Does anyone else remember this encounter? It happened in Zimbabwe back in 1994 at the children's school yard.

"Summary: On 14th September, 1994, a UFO streaked across the sky over Southern Africa. Two days later, something landed in a schoolyard in Ruwa, Zimbabwe, with three or four things beside it, according to journalist Cynthia Hind. This was witnessed by 62 schoolchildren, who had little or no exposure to TV or popular press accounts of UFOs. Cynthia Hind interviewed them the day after the encounter and made them draw pictures of what they had seen."

"(links removed, visit the thread for external references)"

I've also found a youtube video of the TV show sightings discussing this encounter.

They had the children draw images of their encounter, pictures of these images can be found on the link i provided above.

All of these kids reported to have seen the same thing during interviews. I just came across this tonight and it jogged my memory from hearing about it in 1994

Mass UFO Sighting San Diego County

Created by: zeeon on March 2, flags: 12, replies: 77

Hey All,

Just got home from work at about 9:45pm and was watching the news (Fox 6 News in San Diego) and they reported that multiple witnesses across the county reported a UFO at around 8:00pm tonight. All the way from Coronado (near the bay) to Ramona (up in the mountains some 50 miles east). Pretty Cool stuff! I can't find anything on any of the local news websites as of yet, but I'm sure they'll be up soon.

It was speculated it might have been a meteor, however some people were so spooked that they called the police to file a report. As I find out more and more news sources post / run the story I'll keep updating here.

Cheers !

"My February 8, 2007 column resulted in quite a few radio show invitations. During my appearance on Michael Baisden's show, several doctors called in to say the HPV vaccine was safe, it has been tested, and yes, they would get their daughters shot up. One mother who phoned into the show said her daughter has received the first of the three shot series and is now worried and doesn't know what to do. I could give her no advice because I'm not a physician, but she should be worried. On March 15, 2007, the bomb dropped on a cable network show which quickly made the Internet media; see full important column here. Diane M. Harper, a researcher who worked on this vaccine has revealed that it has NOT been tested on young girls and "worst case" scenario: increased cervical cancer rates. As I covered in my February 8th column, Merck needs cash badly. The lawsuits over another "safe" product of theirs, VIOXX, could bankrupt them and they know it; one verdict here. At between $320 - $400 per shot per girl in the U.S., then the world, you can see why Merck has spent millions buying the favors of members of the state legislatures. Now comes the truth from an individual who actually worked on this HPV vaccine and pray to God, enough parents get the truth in time. Stockholders of Merck need to bring down the boom on their CEO and others in that company for such irresponsible corporate shennanigans.

Cardinal Biffi - Antichrist walks among us

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Cardinal Biffi is a well respected cardinal and I'm sure he is on the 'short list' for the next pope. He was the priest who was chosen to lead this years Papal retreat which is a very prestigious position and signals 'where the Vatican's head is'.

Cardinal Biffi says - and i quote - 'The Antichrist walks among us.'

He also quoted Russian theologian Vladimir Soloviev. They both said "the Antichrist presents himself as pacifist, ecologist and ecumenist."

'Presents'. As in ... is doing it now.

I know that Pope John Paul II made reference to the fact that the Anti-Christ is alive now and is a philanthropist. I'll dig around and see if I can come up with that.

Anyways, i thought some of ya'll would be interested in this. The choice of this cardinal for the papal retreat tells us what the Vatican is thinking and it seems that Ratzingers ... I mean Benedicts ... thoughts are on the Anti-Christ.

Edited to add previous Cardinal Biffi statements about the Anti-Christ (a vegetarian)

A fascinating personality -

"MOSCOW, March 27 (RIA Novosti) - Russian military intelligence services are reporting a flurry of activity by U.S. Armed Forces near Iran's borders, a high-ranking security source said Tuesday.

"The latest military intelligence data point to heightened U.S. military preparations for both an air and ground operation against Iran," the official said, adding that the Pentagon has probably not yet made a final decision as to when an attack will be launched.

He said the Pentagon is looking for a way to deliver a strike against Iran "that would enable the Americans to bring the country to its knees at minimal cost."

Introduction to alternate history and Annunaki

Created by: David2012 on March 31, flags: 11, replies: 89

I found a sweet blog post in dutch, which very briefly and clearly summarizes what this annunaki, stargate alternate history talk is all about. The post was written because of one of those typical out of hand rejections without thinking once. let alone twice.

I translated the post since I thought it's a real good introduction and since i'm no writer a translation would be better then me trying to do write myself :)

Ow. and erm. please be nice.. It's my first thread.

Sadly not everyone knows what this is about and it's time to put some stuff into perspective. The sense and nonsense of the Anunnaki.

Erich von Däniken

In 1968 Not obstructed by any scientific knowledge Erich von Däniken wrote the book "Chariots of the Gods?". This was the first time anyone tried to explain strange artifacts from the past, mysterious texts from diverse religions and the mysterious megalithic structures by intervention of extraterrestials.

Däniken's work is highly speculative and has almost no meaningful scientific value at all. Despite this we have to thank him that after reading his book many people started to look at history differently. Since von Däniken the subject has become discussable for ordinary people as well as scholars and scientists.

Zecharia Sitchin.

The Russian changed American earned his spurs with translating ancient Sumerian claytablets. His work, published in countless books, talks about how the Sumerians viewed the history of their creation.

In short it boils down to this; Inhabitants (the Anunnaki) from the planet Niburu came to earth, they had to do hard labor mining gold. The extraterrestrial/god people rebelled and demanded aid. One of the Anunnaki succeeded in creating a human or lulu (lulu = worker) with 'genetic engineering'. The Anunnaki left and the humans remained behind on Earth.

Sitchin by the way does not claim this exactly how it all happened. He views himself more like a translator who sees important connections in modern science and religion.

Because Sitchin is one of the few people who can read the Sumerian writing checking his work is not cut out for just anyone. But his story largely coincides with the later Enuma Elisj, the Babylonian creation story. Which could be considered indirect verification Sitchin's work gives answeres but also raises a lot of questions. In any case it provides a lot of reasonably "founded" material to think about. I recommend reading the reasonably accessible "Genesis Revisited: Is modern science catching up with ancient knowledge" for those who want to start delving deeper into the topic.

Sitchin's work is viewed with criticism but sometimes even seriously by the established scientific community. That he has a point appears obvious by, amongst other things, the fact he discussed his theories with a delegate of the vatican.

Planet X, Niburu

Sitchin understands from Sumerian tablets that the Anunnaki came from the planet Niburu. This planet is supposed to be in an elliptical orbit because of which it's not often visible in our solar system. Niburu means literally "that which goes to and fro" in Sumerian and thus could also be translated as a ferry. Despite this many people speculate about the existence of a mysterious planet which is only visible to us sometimes.

So what now?

Slowly but surely science is starting to accept that mythical stories are more than universal archetypical views. The scientists Santillana and von Dechend proved conclusively in their work "Hamlet's Mill, An essay investigating the origins of human knowledge and its transmission through myth" that in antiquity people possessed more or less the same universal knowledge as we do now. Knowledge about the origins of the universe, knowledge of astronomy and more. Although myths can differ from each other the core information stays the same.

To be continued below.
