

abovetopsecret.com
BOOK OF THREADS

Ok Remote Viewers! Remote View This!
Experiment #3706.

May, 2007

The 75 most important topics as defined by member-flagging, that shaped the month on AboveTopSecret.com

The AboveTopSecret.com Book Of Threads

Published by The Above Network, LLC, owners and operators of:

AboveTopSecret.com
BelowTopSecret.com
AbovePolitics.com
ATSmix.com

All content copyright on the posting dates by AboveTopSecret.com,
The Above Network, LLC, and the respective post authors.

You may use the content herein under the terms of our Creative Commons Dead, linked from each post via the website.
Click on the link to the thread to obtain specific usage guidelines.

All posts from members are presented “as-is” which means that the typical “net speak” and accidental typos of an online environment will be included in this publication.

AboveTopSecret.com is the Internet's largest and most popular discussion board community dedicated to the intelligent exchange of ideas and debate on a wide range of "alternative topics" such as conspiracies, UFO's, paranormal, secret societies, political scandals, new world order, terrorism, and dozens of related topics with an impressive demographic mix of members.

With more than 140,000 members generating over 5 million posts of substance that cover more than 400,000 topics in 157 different discussion forums, you could say "the truth is in here."

The simple yet effective motto of our membership is "deny ignorance", which signifies an effort to apply the principals of critical thought and peer review to the provocative topics covered within.

The Motto: "Deny Ignorance"

More than a slogan and deeper than a mission statement, our members have embraced the motto of "Deny Ignorance" as our reason for being, demanding everyone who posts to aspire to a higher standard of participation. These simple two words have galvanized a broad membership base that spans the spectrum from highly speculative conspiracy writers to staunch skeptics. The result is a unique collaboration of diverse individuals rallying under this simple statement to learn from each other, discover new truths, and imagine new ideas that expand minds.

This motto has life. It has purpose. It demands ATS members to think.

It is a state of mind.

It is a sense of purpose.

It is a statement against the paradigm.

It is a rage against the mindless status-quo.

The idea of "deny ignorance" isn't a goal that ATS hopes to accomplish. Instead, it's a challenge. A call to all those who come here to aspire to a higher state of awareness through informed discussion and debate.

Deny ignorance is what we do.

It's how we think. It's how we talk. It's how we listen.

Ignorance is the social disease of history that has clouded our minds and dulled our brains.

Is the evil that men do, the reason history repeats, and the cause of intolerance.

We deny it. it's not welcome here. Within these boundaries, it has no strength.

Here, ignorance is denied.

Contact publications@theabovenetwork.com for more information about this and other publications from AboveTopSecret.com

PUBLICATION DATE: DECEMBER, 2008

Table of Contents For May, 2007

1. Ok Remote Viewers! Remote View This! Experiment #3706.....	1
2. Bush Anoints Himself as the Insurer of Constitutional Government in Emergency	1
3. Dept. of Homeland Security: "You'll get a National ID and you'll Like it"	1
4. "I Helped The U.S. Army Plan The 9/11 Attacks" (HOAX).....	1
5. Tomorrow the FBI will be able to invade everyone's internet.....	5
6. Scientists cure cancer, but no one takes notice.....	5
7. Cranked up my big Tesla coil.....	5
8. Another Fake Video?.....	5
9. Police State Alert - The Police Attack FOX News crew.....	5
10. Ron paul to be removed.....	5
11. 21 Days to Open the Gates of Hell.....	6
12. Proof of explosive devices (the media coverage they don't want you to see).....	6
13. Insanely Incredible Issues as Proof of a 9/11 Conspiracy	7
14. New Drone, similar to the C2C one.....	9
15. UFO: Cockpit recording - Holland 1997.....	9
16. Drone UFO pics on C2C.....	9
17. Drug War Conspiracy... (Part 1).....	10
18. Will the Real Planet Venus Please Stand Up!.....	10
19. War With Iran Has Begun 5/21/07.....	11
20. National Mall Layout Predicts World Events.....	11
21. Scientists are convinced that man can see the future.....	11
22. What Hijackers? Show me please.....	12
23. Existance of Ufo's/E.T.'s Have Been Proven!!!.....	12
24. Trumbull County Ohio Stunning UFO Sightings Documentary	13
25. Tesla's murder, GHW Bush and Operation Paperclip !.....	13
26. Art, the Shaman and a Quantum Physicist.....	13
27. Chad Drone Omnibus.. Chadsquito.....	15
28. "Lost" photos show ground level WTC7 damage and FEMA disinfo coverup.....	15
29. HUGE HOLE on Mars Surface! Deep Abyss?.....	16
30. The Declining Middle class and the Coming Civil War.....	17
31. The horrors of the War on Terror.....	18
32. Bush Told Of First Attack On 9/11 Before He Left Florida Hotel w/video.....	18
33. new video of Fleet of ufos appearing over santiago Chile 2007	18
34. The Detention Vacuum.....	18
35. I died last night.....	19
36. Bush Flashes 'El Diablo' Hand Signal During Queen's Visit.....	20
37. Google to Psychologically Profile Net Users & Gamers.....	20

38. Top Cleveland Anchorman Reports 'On Air' that he Saw 5 UFO's near TV Station!.....	20
39. China Buys-Up US Debt At A Rate Of $15 Billion Dollars Per Month.....	20
40. (HOAX)My Hypnosis to recover a time lapse(HOAX).....	21
41. UFOS over mountain and military facility - possible humanoids - Amazing new Footage.....	21
42. Beer_Guy Claims 100mpg+ Carburetor.....	22
43. If you think you saw a UFO.....	22
44. America's death toll on the world: 27,000,000++.....	23
45. Clear evidence of ufo sighting in 10th and 12th century manuscripts.....	23
46. This November (2007) will be remembered as the beginning of the Serpent Time.....	24
47. Pentagon "NTSB animation" is wrong!.....	25
48. Digg Riot in Full Effect Over Pulled HD-DVD Key Story	26
49. Child snatched on holiday(new sightings and CCTV).....	26
50. SPECIAL: The global game of control is being played. Are you aware?.....	26
51. How do Psychoactive Chemicals Tie in to Your Beliefs?.....	27
52. Jerry Falwell found unconscious,: Update Falwell Passed Away	28
53. No power - no web?.....	28
54. The hippies were right all along.....	28
55. Congress Not Told of Covert Action as Required by Law.....	29
56. America Deserved 9/11.....	29
57. Freemasonry, Templars, the New World, and Celts.....	29
58. Flight 93 Explained.....	31
59. UFO Congress 2007 New Video Footage.....	32
60. NASA: Only 10 Years Till Irreversible Climatic Danger Point.....	32
61. WTC7 Faked Image.....	33
62. Put Option Trading "Innocuous?"	33
63. The awakening will culminate in 2012 during the Harvest event.....	34
64. supposed "rare" united 93 footage.....	34
65. What to do when you just cant leave. (city Survival).....	34
66. Air-Car Ready For Mass Production - Yes It Runs On Compressed Air!.....	35
67. XDR TB Patient's Father-in-Law Studies TB at the CDC.....	35
68. Mutilated Bull: No Blood, No Clues...18 Miles from Dulce, New Mexico	36
69. 911truth.org redirects to jewsdidwtc.com.....	36
70. Alien type - and size - butt anatomy	36
71. Florida is On Fire!!!.....	36
72. Teachers Stage Fake Gun Attack on Kids.....	37
73. UK Expands Surveillance!.....	37
74. ABC news uncovers "operation northwoods" and why IMO	37
75. c2c Drone alien text deceiver.....	37

Ok Remote Viewers! Remote View This! Experiment #3706.

Created by: greatlakes on May 31, flags: 163, replies: 186

Any remote viewers out there?

This is a REMOTE VIEWING EXPERIMENT, any remote viewers, new or experienced, please participate in the remote viewing of the following:

REMOTE VIEWING EXPERIMENT:

- 1) This Remote Viewing Experiment is assigned the number: #3706
- 2) The number was generated via random number generator.
- 3) The number is written on an index card, along with todays date, 5/31/07
- 4) No further information concerning the experiment is available to keep the experiment as broad based as possible and as to not limit or have preconceived ideas of the Remote Viewing source.

▶ THE RESULTS WILL BE POSTED ON 6/10/07/

Thanks and have fun! Lets see who can get this, or get the closest!

[edit on 31-5-2007 by greatlakes]

Link to thread: ...thread285018/pg1

Bush Anoints Himself as the Insurer of Constitutional Government in Emergency

Created by: grover on May 22, flags: 102, replies: 253

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"Bush Anoints Himself as the Insurer of Constitutional Government in Emergency

By Matthew Rothschild May 18, 2007

In a new National Security Presidential Directive, Bush lays out his plans for dealing with a "catastrophic emergency."

With scarcely a mention in the mainstream media, President Bush has ordered up a plan for responding to a catastrophic attack.

"(visit the link for the full news article)

Related News Links:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

[edit on 22-5-2007 by UM_Gazz]

Link to thread: ...thread283697/pg1

Dept. of Homeland Security: "You'll get a National ID and you'll Like it"

Created by: bestideayet on May 11, flags: 95, replies: 267

In what is one of the biggest stories of 2007, DHS is going to make states implement National ID by 2008.

Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Patrick J. Leahy (D-Vt.), citing concerns about Americans' privacy, signaled yesterday that he will push to repeal a provision of a 2005 law aimed at creating new government standards for driver's licenses.

Leahy, who has co-sponsored bipartisan legislation to repeal the provision, spoke out as the debate intensified over the Real ID Act, which requires states to create new tamper-proof driver's licenses in line with rules recently issued by the Department of Homeland Security. States must begin to comply by May 2008 but can request more time. After 2013, people whose IDs do not meet those standards will not be allowed to board planes or enter federal buildings.

Mod edit: title

[edit on 2007/5/17 by Hellmutt]

Link to thread: ...thread282086/pg1

"I Helped The U.S. Army Plan The 9/11 Attacks" (HOAX)

Created by: Timothy S. McNiven on May 22, flags: 80, replies: 248

Topic Update

ATS Members have discovered previously unpublished information that places the credibility of this story in serious doubt.

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

We have not yet heard from the author.

In 1976 Congress commissioned a plan to determine how terrorists could attack the World Trade Center under the guise of an "airport security" study. The theoretical (at the time) plan specified how the towers might be felled using commercial aircraft hijacked with nothing more than "box cutters." The exercise, run by the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency, made use of specialists in C-Battery 2/81st Field Artillery, U.S. Army stationed in Strassburg, Germany. I was one such specialist, I participated in these events was and then went on to work for Army Intelligence and the Department of Defense.

My story is one of frustration, harassment, stress, and desperation as I try to communicate my ordeal to any who will listen.

Email Newsletter Special Feature

May 22, 2007

By ATS Member, Timothy S. McNiven

C-Battery 2/81st FA, US Army 1975-76 Where are you?

In January 2005, Frank Bass wrote an article for the Chicago Sun -Times about the Nixon - Ford administration's Cabinet Committee to Combat Terrorism that the Strassburg study was an activity of. This Committee ran until Democratic Political Party President Jimmy Carter cut the Funds from his administrations' Budget for the Implementing of the Improvements that were developed from the study, thus ending US Air Travel Security improvements until after September 11,2001.

In 2003, my US Military study information was used in the Ellen Mariani RICO lawsuit that was filed against the Bush administration; it was Count III of the Lawsuit text, pages 25 to 27. In the first paragraph of my Affidavit, I identify myself as the DoD Agent.

I am with three decades in Services to the DoD.

I like to point out to people that US Attorney General John Ashcroft, who was one of the Lawsuit's Defendants, did not have me arrested, or even questioned about my committing the US Federal Felony of impersonating a US Federal Agent when I testified before US Federal Court that, in fact, I am a US Federal Agent for the US Defense Department.

When US Attorney General John Ashcroft did not arrest me for impersonating a US Federal Agent for testifying in US Federal Court that, in fact, I am a US Federal Agent; he 'publicly confirmed' that what I stated was true; that I was, in fact, the DoD agent I testified I was. When he did this, he also 'publicly confirmed' that the rest of my affidavit was also true (unless you can explain and prove why I only told the truth in the first paragraph of my affidavit and did not in the rest of it), which makes my US Defense Department US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information- the only US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information (that which has come from US Government Departments or Agencies), to be "Publicly Confirmed" to be true by the US Government.

I have issued this challenge to everyone who said my information was not true: do you have a higher US Government legal opinion than the US Attorney General's Office, under US Attorney General John Ashcroft, on whether or not I told the Truth when I Testified in US Federal Court, that in fact I am a US Federal Agent and a US Federal Law that gives you this higher US Government legal opinion? Not one Democrat has answered this question or had any further contact with me.

My US military study information has also been considered for use in the International Criminal Court case against Tony Blair for using cluster bombs on civilians. I sent my information to the International Legal Panel who wrote up the ICC charges because they were looking for a way to connect Bush to Blair (my 1976 US Military Study information establishes a "25 Year" time period in which the UK and US Governments could have made plans), so that he can be charged as a co-conspirator in the ICC, which is legal even though Democratic Political Party President Bill Clinton "refused" to allow his Democratic Political Party's world wide activities to be scrutinized by the International Criminal Court and did not allow the US Government to join.

I have also been given the written support of the Canadian Government that what I say about the US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information is true over what John Kerry and the Democrats - John McCain and the Republicans have said about US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge. Here are the links to the letters of support that I was given by: the Honourable John McCallum, Canada's Minister of National Defence and Carolyn Parrish, MP and former Vice Chair to the Internaional NATO Executive as well as being the Elected Official who 'stomped' on the George Bush Doll for the Canadian TV show This Hour has 22 Minutes.

I would like to point out that Mr. McCallum did not get into Political trouble like the 'German woman Government Official' who compared Bush to Hitler and was forced to resign... instead he was named the Canadian Government's Official Announcer for the Rolling Stones' Concert that was broadcast Live from Toronto to the US and Canadian Troops in Afghanistan and then was Promoted to Canadian Minister of Finance. Is the reason that Bush did not go after Mr.McCallum the way he went after the 'German woman Government Official' because he knew he would lose the US Government's closest Military Ally, Canada, on the issue of US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information?

My United States Defense Deartment US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge has been subjected to the most stringent test in America, that of; the US Federal Court and the US Attorney General's Office under US Attorney General John Ashcroft; it also has been given the written support of the Canadian Government through its highest military representative and is being used for an International Criminal Court Case. So, why has the Democratic Political Party censored this information from the people of the world? Is it because it shows that the Democratic Political Party is 'equally' involved in the 9-11-01 attacks and the World War for Money that resulted from them?

In the Spring of 2002, Cynthia McKinney came on US National TV and cried out for US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information. Within days of her crying out for US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information I faxed to her Georgia and Washington, DC offices the information about the 1976 US Military Study to Improve US Air Travel Security and received No reply.

In August 2002 I once again faxed the 1976 US Military Study information to her Georgia and Washington, DC Offices with a note that I would hand-deliver a copy, if that is what it took to get a reply. Her staff sent me a one-line political party reply; McKinney has 'refused' to have any contact with me at all; the US Defense Department Agent who sent her the US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information- she came on American National TV and cried out for; "why?"

In December 2002 I contacted Nine Eleven Families for Peaceful Tomorrows with my 1976 US Military Study information and they referred me to Kyle Hence, who was going to be doing a civilian 9-11-01 investigation. I wrote to Kyle Hence and we exchanged emails and talked on the phone about Kyle wanting me to be part of his first news conference in March 2003, in New York City, and that I was to wait for his next communication to tell me when I needed to travel to NYC.

His next email did not arrive, so I thought it was just taking him longer to set up than he thought. Then I see where he had his news conference and had dropped me for Cynthia McKinney. I contacted him that she was one of the elected officials who was responsible for Improving US Air Travel Security during her 5 Terms as Congressional Representative prior to the 9-11-01 Attacks and 'did not' do it. He wrote back that it 'did not' matter to him since she had done other things for him. (Anyone with an average intelligence knows that when someone from Washington, DC does something for you, it means they gave you money.) This made me so angry that I deleted his email or I would have that one for you today also.

In September 2006 I went to Camp Democracy on the Mall in Washington, DC and on Saturday morning, September 16th, I checked what the schedule would be for that day and Kyle Hence was going to be giving a 9-11 Truth presentation; so, I attended. During the Q and A time I asked Kyle Hence (without identifying myself) about the 1976 US Military Study information that was Count III of the Ellen Mariani RICO Lawsuit and why wasn't the 9-11 Truth Movement promoting this information?

Kyle Hence was surprised by this question and he did not know how to answer it and had a worried look on his face. Then he quickly, like a politician, said that it had been covered in his new movie (I will not give it any promotion by naming it) and that I should watch it. So, I gave Kyle Hence the chance to prove that what he said was true and came back later that night to watch it when it was shown in the main event tent. Not one word was mentioned about the 1976 US Military Study in Kyle Hence's movie. Kyle Hence had 'straight faced lied' about him covering the information in his movie. (If Kyle Hence had to 'lie' about him not covering this information in his movie; then what other information has Kyle Hence 'lied' to everyone about?)

Before the house lights were turned back up, I went forward to Kyle Hence and asked him if I could give him some information I had... since he could not see well enough to read what I handed him he took it to read later. I gave him a copy of his email asking me to be part of his first news conference in March 2003. Kyle Hence did not and has not replied to me about why he did a 180 degree turn around on my 1976 US Military Study information- from wanting it to be part of his first news conference in March 2003 to totally censoring it after having contact with Cynthia McKinney. Take the time to write to Kyle Hence and ask him why he has censored the information that has been recognized by the US Federal Court, the US Attorney General's Office under US Attorney General John Ashcroft, the Canadian Government and the international legal panel who wrote up the ICC Criminal Charges against Tony Blair as being true? Send along his email to me asking me to be part of his March 2003 news conference in New York City.

I received an email from a Mick Stuart, that he received from Glen Ford, co-publisher of the Black Commentator magazine in which he calls me a "Confederate from Georgia who is worshiping his skin and flag; and should be organized AGAINST". Why is Cynthia McKinney's corporation media supporter calling me 'racial slurs' that are as offensive as the 'N-word' comment made by Michael Richards? Here is a link to a photo of me at the San Francisco Anti-War Rally held on October 26, 2002: Do I look like a skin head white supremacist from Georgia?

Another Democrat I contacted with my 1976 US Military Study information was Jimmy Walter, who wrote back that he thought my information was interesting and would read it further for consideration to promote it. After he read it and found out that it showed that his Democratic Political Party was 'equally' involved he refused to promote it and instead censored it for the Democratic Political Party.

Other Democratic Political Party 9-11 (self appointed) Truth Movement Leaders I have contacted are: Jim Marrs, Jim Fetzer, Kevin Barrett, David Ray Griffin, Michael Moore and Bob Bowman, who all have censored my United States Defense Department US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information. At the 9-11-2006 events in New York City Jim Marrs stood on stage and yelled at the top of his lungs, stomped his foot, pounded his fist on the podium and waved it in the air about the US Government finding an airliner hi-jacking scenario on a confiscated laptop in 1995. If this information made Jim Marrs yell at the top of his lungs; then, why, when he was given (two or more times) the information that, not only did the US Government have the hi-jacking scenario of the confiscated laptop, but also had created it in the 1970's, by the US Defense Department, then make him come totally unglued (?) instead of making him censor it? Have you seen Jim Marrs ever promote the 1976 US Military Study information? Why not? Please contact him and ask him why.

You can also contact and ask the other Democrats I have named and ask them why they have censored my 1976 US Military Study information, when it is the only US Government 9-11-01 prior knowledge information that has been 'publicly confirmed' as being true by the US Government?

In March 2005 internet journalist Greg Szymanski wrote (links removed, visit the thread for external references) about the 1976 US Military Study and it was picked up by a few internet news sites overseas... in Germany, France, the Netherlands, Spain and Brazil by June. I found this out one day near the end of June while doing a Google Search and was going to have my webmaster put links to these articles online, following the 4th of July Holiday, but this did not happen; the FBI came to my home instead.

On July 6, 2005, four FBI Agents came to my home in Bellingham, Wa., under the guise of wanting to talk to me about an information request I sent to them over a year ago. At first they were civil and then they became belligerent and demanded my DoD ID Card. When I balked at this one of the agents who said he was from the Seattle FBI Office yelled in my face that; "if I did not give them my DoD ID Card they were going to go to the Bellingham Police for reinforcements come back and tear my apartment apart!"

When they did this, I knew that they were trying to escalate the situation into a physical confrontation with me, since it was a 4 to 1 advantage to the FBI with all of the Agents being in their 20's or 30's, in weightlifter condition, and me in my 50's with heart disease. I knew that if I wrestled them for my ID Card, they would stress out my Heart and cause another heart attack... so, I decided to get a Lawyer to take the FBI to court over this illegal confiscation of my DoD ID Card.

The legal reason the FBI gave for their confiscation was: FBI Special Agent Lance Boyer had never seen a DoD ID card before. Not even the Patriot Act gives the FBI this legal authority and there is a simple reason he had never seen a DoD ID Card before; Lance Boyer does not have a DoD Security clearance. I got a receipt for my ID card.

Following the FBI leaving I contacted the ACLU who refused to provide me with legal services.

I contacted Greg Szymanski, who wrote (links removed, visit the thread for external references), to include him calling the FBI Office, who confirmed they had gone to my home and confiscated my ID Card but would not give details about the legality of their actions.

I continued to look for a Lawyer, and, after 3 months of lawyers telling me "No", I thought; 'what can I do myself'? So, I filed an investigation request with the Seattle Office of the US Marshall, who reviewed my incident report and forwarded it to the US Attorney General's Office for further investigation. To date the US Attorney General has done nothing with my request.

I have continued to look for a lawyer to represent me, but none will. In March 2007 I talked to Ms. Fulton, a lawyer from Seattle, who refused to provide me with legal services after it was explained to her that it was a political case instead of a criminal case. When I asked her if she could tell me of a lawyer who might help me; she said; "No lawyer was going to represent me"! The lawyers do not want to have themselves, their law firms, family or friends to be put on the FBI Domestic Spying list.

Please investigate all information I have given you to find out why the Democratic Political Party has been censoring this information from you for over 5 years, beginning with Cynthia McKinney in April of 2002. I have a website with some of this info posted:

Thank you,
United States Defense Department Intelligence Investigative Office Supervisor to the Office of the Secretary of Defense,
Timothy S. McNiven

Editorial note: Since submitting his story to our email newsletter submission form, Mr. McNiven has agreed to join ATS and answer your questions regarding his amazing story.

[edit on 24-5-2007 by SkepticOverlord]

Link to thread: ...thread283741/pg1

Tomorrow the FBI will be able to invade everyone's internet.

Created by: Revelmonk on May 14, flags: 67, replies: 215
"May 14th is the official deadline for cable modem companies, DSL providers, broadband over powerline, satellite internet companies and some universities to finish wiring up their networks with FBI-friendly surveillance gear, to comply with the FCC's expanded interpretation of the Communications Assistance for Law Enforcement Act."

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
We are going to have to say goodbye to internet privacy, the FBI will be able to watch anyone's traffic coming through their IP.

EDIT: Fixed link
Staff Edit to fix title.
[edit on 14-5-2007 by Revelmonk]
[edit on 5/15/2007 by Djarums]
Link to thread: ...thread282543/pg1

Scientists cure cancer, but no one takes notice

Created by: Anonymous Avatar on May 15, flags: 57, replies: 102
Has anyone else heard of this or read about this anywhere?

Scientists may have cured cancer last week.
Yep.
So, why haven't the media picked up on it?
Here's the deal. Researchers at the University of Alberta in Edmonton, Canada found a cheap and easy to produce drug that kills almost all cancers. The drug is dichloroacetate, and since it is already used to treat metabolic disorders, we know it should be no problem to use it for other purposes.

Doesn't this sound like the kind of news you see on the front page of every paper?
The drug also has no patent, which means it could be produced for bargain basement prices in comparison to what drug companies research and develop.
Scientists tested DCA on human cells cultured outside the body where it killed lung, breast and brain cancer cells, but left healthy cells alone. Rats plump with tumors shrank when they were fed water supplemented with DCA.

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
Mod Edit: Reduced External Quote.
[edit on 15/5/2007 by Mirthful Me]
Link to thread: ...thread282581/pg1

Cranked up my big Tesla coil...

Created by: tesladownder on May 12, flags: 53, replies: 63
I had the Discovery Channel come to do a shoot recently and in preparation I revamped my (links removed, visit the thread for external references). It's a nice pic if you like that sort of thing.

TDU
(visit the thread to view linked images)
Link to thread: ...thread282296/pg1

Another Fake Video?

Created by: NLDelta9 on May 5, flags: 48, replies: 370
Real spaceship:o or another fake vid? And if the words are right , they mention a base burried.

At 3:05
[edit on 5-5-2007 by NLDelta9]
[moderator edit... fixed title]
[edit on 6-5-2007 by Byrd]
Link to thread: ...thread281124/pg1

Police State Alert - The Police Attack FOX News crew

Created by: promomag on May 3, flags: 45, replies: 94
I found this video a bit disturbing, I guess it happened yesterday, does anyone have more information on this?

(isit the thread to view linked videos)
Link to thread: ...thread280828/pg1

Ron paul to be removed..

Created by: Ram on May 17, flags: 45, replies: 209
Disqualified - like being disqualified to the olympics - it's not a game - remember that. I follow your USA news a bit.. I think you country is heading a bit to much towards civil war.

If your capable to see just a minor way out into your future country - Your are heading for civil war Cuz this crap is gonna explode one way or another.

This is Insanity!!!
Please - I would like to see more video clips or Americas insanity - about your two realities. Your country is being divided. Or is already divided. I said this 2 years ago in another thread and noone believed me..Well here you go.. :up:
Link to thread: ...thread283058/pg1

21 Days to Open the Gates of Hell

Created by: UM_Gazz on May 30, flags: 39, replies: 83

On March 19, 2003

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)...

"My fellow citizens, at this hour, American and coalition forces are in the early stages of military operations to disarm Iraq, to free its people and to defend the world from grave danger.

On my orders, coalition forces have begun striking selected targets of military importance to undermine Saddam Hussein's ability to wage war. These are opening stages of what will be a broad and concerted campaign. More than 35 countries are giving crucial support -- from the use of naval and air bases, to help with intelligence and logistics, to the deployment of combat units. Every nation in this coalition has chosen to bear the duty and share the honor of serving in our common defense...."

(Visit the above source link for the full speech text)

11 days later Donald Rumsfeld, in a television interview said..

"We know where they (Weapons of Mass Destruction) are. They're in the area around Tikrit and Baghdad and east, west, south and north somewhat."

On April 9, 2003:

We all seen the images, and video of this event.

Imagry that many were led to believe was the end of the evil dictatorship of Saddam over Iraq. Some have claimed that this event was staged, and one report said this... (links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Optimism was high, patriotism abundant, and international support was solid, though Saddam had not yet been captured or killed, and no signs of the "grave danger" that threatened the world in the form of "weapons of mass destruction"

A truly impressive show of military power, only 21 days to destroy Iraq's defenses, and bring down its government, and Saddam.

Given all that we have seen happen in Iraq since that time, thousands of deaths, and constant attacks against both US and coalition forces, and the Iraqi people, sectarian violence, tribal conflicts, and a mysterious insurgency who seems to almost indiscriminately attack anyone and everyone. Iraq seems to have suffered a fate worse than Saddam, and there is apparently no longer reason to be optimistic about this war.

A kind of hell as taken Iraq, a hell that affects all, and possess far too many, evils that both infect and victimize.

No longer does there seem to be an end game, or exit strategy, only daily relentless violence and bloodshed. Political divisions in the USA have shown the level of alarm, and confusion over what course to take, and how to stabilize this new Iraq.

I submit to you, that in those 21 days to that staged victory and fall of Saddam, we not only removed an evil dictator, we removed the keeper of the gates of hell, the gates opened, and unleashed evil on Iraq, and there may never be a way to close them again.

At some point in the future a new American president and administration will take over where the Bush administration has safely exited from power, they will be tasked with finding ways to to deal with this hell formerly known as Iraq, and find a way to remove our forces from the region, attempt to repair destroyed infrastructure, and find solutions for implementation of government and a form of democracy that actually works for the Iraqi people, I do not envy those who will face these tasks, the hell that awaits them will not relent or go away because they wish them gone. One could argue that war in itself is a form of hell, or evil, and that it is indeed. This war brings us from a place which we may never find a way to return, and could ultimately leave Iraq in far worse condition than anyone could have ever dreamed.

The world is not built on good intentions alone, nor can it be saved always by military force, hell will not be conquered easily. Iraq begs to be left alone, as hell would want to have it now. Can the United States of America ever find a way to escape this hell in Iraq?

The thoughts and opinions expressed here are my own, and may not necessarily reflect the views of the staff and ownership of AboveTopSecret.com

[edit on 30-5-2007 by UM_Gazz]

Link to thread: ...thread284871/pg1

Proof of explosive devices (the media coverage they don't want you to see)

Created by: selfless on May 16, flags: 37, replies: 77

Simply by watching this 10 minutes video, you can't deny the possibility that 911 was an inside job. (My opinion)

This is a compilation of all the evidence and witnesses who heard explosives go off. There are reports of explosions before the towers even collapsed.

They didn't show this news coverage on television back when it happened, perhaps these are videos that didn't make the cut...

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

"

Bombs, explosions, secondary explosions, explosive devices....how many more times do we need to hear these words being said by 9/11 witnesses before we start asking questions about what really happened on that awful day?

This video shows that many actual 9/11 witnesses heard and saw explosions going off inside the towers, long before they actually fell. These witnesses include police, firemen and mainstream media reporters.

And what is even more shocking is the fact that all of this has been ignored by the mainstream media.

We really need to wake up to the facts and ask questions. If we don't, what does that say about us? (more) (less)

"

Now, this is the news coverage that makes sense and relates to what happened to the towers that day.

With this sort of news coverage, there would not have been this many questions about 911, logically...

I ask you to look at this video and make up your opinion for your self. If you want to share your opinion with others please try to do it in a polite manner. Thank you.

[edit on 16-5-2007 by selfless]

Link to thread: ...thread282771/pg1

Insanely Incredible Issues as Proof of a 9/11 Conspiracy

Created by: IgnorancelntBliss on May 27, flags: 35, replies: 71

I'm not a fan of the typical "Loose Change" arguments that attempt to prove a conspiracy. Here I don't want to focus entirely on the actual issues in question. Instead it's about finding the bigger story behind them, or rather the one that's right on the surface of them all as a whole.

It's not that many of the "LC" arguments are without merit, it's that the ambiguity that they're all subject to makes me avoid them. I avoid them because they're all so highly debatable. For too many important issues it's a matter of what you believe, as in too many cases there's no solid concrete outcome possible. These things can be debated for eternity, and that's the big story.

The "big story" is a concept I look for in everything I do these days. It's the thing that the hype overlooks. The "big story" is most often found right on the surface. It's the one detail that is right there beyond the hype of either side. For example, the big story wouldn't be the enormous stories behind each actual side of something, the big story would be that there are only 2 sides to a highly diverse issue. In that reality, the 2 sides binary would be the problem that needs to be addressed.

And now back to the real issue:

The most striking thing is that virtually every single aspect of 911 is virtually impossible to make concrete sense of, meanwhile "they" intentionally add fuel to the fire which spawns more questions and controversy which is keeping scores of researchers diverted from getting to the concrete issues. In this view they're goal would only be to keep their critics diverted and their supporters satisfied.

The idea of this view becoming some sort of proof is in this: How INCREDIBLE can something be in all of its aspects before we're to declare corruption / direct disinfo led coverup? With 9/11 you learn more and more as you go on that almost any issue you could delve into is conveniently impossibly ambiguous to such degrees that it can become hard to believe that everything could be so incredible unless it was meant to be that way.

Therefore, to test this view, we must attempt to see how many impossibles outcomes there are in light of the critical aspects. The more the impossible outcomes, the more likely this collective evidence enters into the realm of self-evident proof.

A critical theme in understanding this view is that all of these things are intentionally used as diversionary devices to keep people wrapped up in subjects that are too debatable to warrant actionable consensus. Therefore, if that is indeed the case with any of the case points, then the intention of using diversion becomes the actionable consensus itself.

In many cases the best clearcut theory would be intentional disinfo on the part of the potential suspects. When this occurs, in my view, the big story is no longer what the truth of actual specific issue is/was, it then becomes the disinfo itself. Knowing the actual truth of the specific matter isn't even necessary from that point on, instead the act of disinfo / coverup dictates the 'score' 'they' get on said issue. Each example of disinfo only adds to the probability of a conspiracy in large. Each case of disinfo is to be used as the item of "actionable consensus", not the possible outcome of the original event in question.

Case Point: WTC7

The infamous WTC7. For most it's a slam dunk, either way. This is not the case. There may be degrees of probability, working for 'either side', but it is still highly debatable.

2 more recent examples in this would be:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Even more important:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

That's not to say that it's absolutely faked, but it's almost safe to say that it's absolutely impossible to determine what's going on there for sure.

It's all blue sky from there. It starts off with the government tenants who were there, and Giuliani's OEM bunker that he mysteriously wasn't inside of and he tried to avoid mentioning the building in question.

(visit the thread to view linked videos)

This only expands on Giuliani's other account that day where he stated that he was warned that WTC2 was going to collapse:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

It expands into the infamous Silverstein statement, which in itself doesn't prove anything, but as the recent film "(links removed, visit the thread for external references)" points out, it's yet another case of ambiguity.

And so on. What can you add????

Case Point: The Pentagon

"They" intentionally add fuel to the fire by doing things like withholding the footage from numerous security cameras at the Pentagon that would show us what hit it, while releasing the worst possible images that only spawn more questions and controversy to add fuel to the fire which is keeping scores of researchers diverted from getting to the concrete issues. What hit it is irrelevant and the real story is that they're toying with us as they have solid camera angles, the images they give us (after waiting years) are crap and offer absolutely no analysis, while the Osama tapes they put out include advanced image analysis. Their goal is to keep their critics diverted and their war supporters satisfied.

Donald Rumsfeld stated "and the missile to damage this building":

ATS thread with 4223 replies:

The fact that one issue could be debated for that long speaks for itself.

Which is important because they could simply show us the real images and end the controversy:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Apparent doctored footage, with no analysis even if it's not:

Yet they give us advanced analysis on Osama tapes:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(Album)

Yet those tapes were somehow released in a docudama many months before the media?????:

But in anycase these 2 new videos/revelations apparently debunk the official flight path, with 'official' sources:

(Pentagon)

(Pandora's Black Box)

And So On...

Case Point: Funding

ISI General Mahmood Ahmed funds Hijackers, AND has breakfast on the morning of 9/11 with Sen. Bob Graham:

Sen. Bob Graham heads the Congressional Joint inquiry into 9/11:

Then Bob Graham openly calls the investigations a coverup:

("BBC: 911 Conspiracy Files" 'hitpiece', final segment)

Case Point: WTC Towers:

Even if fires did knock them down, it's nature of the falls and the pools of metal are incredible, for starters.

Another striking element here is the Israeli moving van guys, as underscored by "Anatomy of the 9/11 Cover-Up".

Those 2 scenarios lay the foundation of both being incredible, and involving potential disinfo for misdirection and confusion.

Case Point: Flight 93:

Regardless of what happened, just look at it:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

It goes from there...

Donald Rumsfeld stated "shot down the plane over Pennsylvania":

With those 2 cases (Pentagon, Flight 93) whatever really happened is irrelevant, the big story is that either those Rumsfeld claims are true, or they're intentionally toying with us on this most serious matter to create diversion. For those who doubt this view, take GWB's actions as supporting evidence:

Case Point: GWB on the day of 9/11:

He claimed that he watched the first plane impact:

And then elaborates on it even further:

On top of all of the confusing controversy already surrounding the school event:

by doing things like withholding the footage from numerous security cameras at the Pentagon that would show us what hit it, while releasing the worst possible images that only What hit it is irrelevant and the real story is that they're toying with us as they have solid camera angles, the images they give us (after waiting years) are crap and offer absolutely no analysis, while the Osama tapes they put out include advanced image analysis.

It comes down to this: Critics suggest we believe those 'official' statements are true, or apologists assert we're to believe that those statements are just "cockup". I declare False Dichotomy:

With the third solution being that these real-scenarios are merely ploys to create total confusion. In any case, in light of the other case points presented here, the apologist viewpoint is itself "insanely incredible".

What can you add to or subtract from this view?

Link to thread: ...thread284382/pg1

New Drone, similar to the C2C one

Created by: RedStar11 on May 21, flags: 34, replies: 619

Remember that weird drone that someone saw earlier this month and submitted the pictures to the Coast to Coast website?

Well someone else in California saw a very similar craft and posted pictures on a flickr account.

"This week I was visting my fiance's parents in Capitola (we were actually there to tell them about our engagement, in fact). We were eating dinner on the back porch when we noticed this "object" sort of hovering in the sky. The camera was still out from earlier so I grabbed it and tried to get some clear shots of it. It took off over the roof shortly after, so I ran into the street in front of the house to follow, trying to get more shots without wobbling around too much (which was harder than it sounds). It then came in lower over a telephone pole, where I was able to get a few more pictures, before it finally took off into the distance pretty fast. I thought it was gone but noticed it was still visible, so I grabbed a few more pictures.

At one point a car stopped to look as well. No one had any idea what this thing was but everyone in the car was visibly freaked out by it. Once it was gone they told me to call the news and drove off. :) I'm not sure who else saw it in the neighborhood since I don't live down there, but I'm sure at least a few others must have noticed it. It was way too werid and way too close to go unnoticed. Once it was gone and I caught my breath I could barely stop my hands from shaking for the next hour or so. Needless to say, this is all we talked about for the rest of the night. None of us can figure out what it was (and that's saying something, because my fiance's dad is a mechanical engineer).

We sent a copy of the photos to their newspaper but haven't heard back yet. I dunno how long that kind of thing takes.

There's also some writing on this thing, which I didn't recognize (and I read both English and Hindi). You can see it in a few of the pictures.

Anyway, I created this Flickr account for the best of these pictures. I have no clue what this thing is so I'm putting it out there to see if anyone else saw it.

6 photos | 489 views

Photos are from 16 May 07."

New Drone

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Now, does everyone STILL think this is a photoshop masterpiece?

If you do, then whomever made these must REALLY be dedicated. If you look at the original Coast to Coast drone images, the crafts are a little bit different in structure from each other.

Original Coast to Coast drone:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

New Drone to compare:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Now, if only we knew WHERE this original UFO was seen. I do not think the guy revealed his location. Plus since these two craft are different it makes me wonder how many more of these things are out there...

I saw the new UFO originally posted on the San Francisco General Craigslist.org

Link to thread: ...thread283514/pg1

UFO: Cockpit recording - Holland 1997

Created by: Lost_Mind on May 1, flags: 33, replies: 103

Not to say that these types of recordings cant be fakes but the banter between the towers and the pilot sounds authentic.

Did a search and didnt see any previous posts about this, so here it is for your listening pleasure!

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

Cockpit recordings are about the only type of incident I will really pay any attention to anymore due to the veracity of the witnesses involved. This guy sounds like he is pretty geeked out about the whole ordeal.

I am trying to get some authentication on it but being an alledged transmission from Europe might make that a bit difficult. Drexon, calling Drexon....

Discuss and comment at your leisure...

[edit on 1-5-2007 by Lost_Mind]

Link to thread: ...thread280529/pg1

Drone UFO pics on C2C

Created by: lw2525 on May 6, flags: 33, replies: 652

I didnt see a thread for this story. Looks interesting. The guy taking the photos was able to get extremely close.

Link:

admin edit Title clarity

[edit on 8-1-2007 by Springer]

Link to thread: ...thread281345/pg1

Drug War Conspiracy.. (Part 1)

Created by: Amaterasu on May 23, flags: 33, replies: 43

I am unsure where to post this, but this does deal with economic/political conspiracy... I wrote an email to Michael Savage, talk radio host, but the only email addy I could find was no longer valid. So I post it here:

Dear Michael,

I was listening to a rebroadcast of one of your shows with my four-year-old -- and as you might guess, with the four-year-old, I missed details through distraction. What I heard you to say was that there was some study (missed who did it) that related marijuana to some mental disorder and that it was a high probability that if I smoke it I will develop the problem. Along with having listened to what you have said in the past about marijuana, I might suspect that you are not as well educated on the subject as you think you are.

No reputable study has linked marijuana to violent behavior (users tend to be less violent than "sober" people). And, in fact, in all the thousands of studies that have been done over the last 50 years, none made note of issues with mental disorders in their marijuana-smoking test subjects (there have been studies specifically looking for mental disorders that show a higher percentage of users with overall signs of depression than in the population at large, but concluding that the drug is necessarily creating the problem, without considering the possibility that people with depression are more likely to treat it, is poor statistical analysis). If marijuana is so likely to cause mental issues, you would think the studies, some fair percentage of them, would note this issue somewhere in their observations.

So I have to think the report you are quoting is from the same faction that gave us Reefer Madness, which told the American public that smoking marijuana turned one criminally insane. This is the faction that saw hemp as a threat to petro-oil investments (containing excellent hydrocarbons, hemp oil can run cars (Henry Ford made a car that ran on hemp oil), make plastics, and all other functions that petro-oil fills), paper-forest investments (W.R. Hearst was heavily invested in paper forests and made up stories of horrors in his effort to rid himself of the threat of hemp), pharmaceutical investments, beer and spirit manufacturers, textile manufacturers (e.g., cotton), pesticide companies (hemp requires little or no pesticide to grow unlike cotton), and more recently, prison-industrial complex investors. Conceivably even diet supplement and health food manufacturers might fall into the faction (since hemp seed provides an optimal balance of Omega-3 and -6 oils, protein and other healthful phytochemicals and could be seen to threaten their investments).

The faction also includes agencies of our government that use the black market created by the prohibitional laws to generate undocumented funds for their Black Ops.

The laws, in their prohibitory nature, also create sanctioned excuses for the government to initiate, at no citizen's request, invasions of privacy, and has suspended our right to hold our property until we have been proven in a court of law to have a debt owed (80% of people who have had property seized, on suspicion of drug involvement alone, are never charged with a crime).

Given the above, I might suspect that a lot of money is going into keeping marijuana illegal, and would include the money to issue a "study" engineered to misinform the public.

Meanwhile, reputable institutions worldwide are finding rather awesome benefits. Recently it has been discovered that, contrary to previous belief, the human brain is capable of building new neurons. Getting smarter, one must presume. Out of the University of Saskatchewan:

Most so-called drugs of abuse -- such as alcohol or cocaine -- inhibit the growth of new neurons, according to Xia Zhang, M.D., Ph.D., of the University of Saskatchewan.

"Only marijuana promotes neurogenesis," Dr. Zhang said. (Reported in the Journal of Clinical Investigation) (...continued next post)

Link to thread: ...thread283872/pg1

Will the Real Planet Venus Please Stand Up!

Created by: johnlear on May 31, flags: 33, replies: 391

NASA describes Venus (based on their spacecraft's findings and the findings of Russian spacecraft) as:

At first glance, if Earth had a twin, it would be Venus. The two planets are similar in size, mass, composition, and distance from the Sun. But there the similarities end. Venus has no ocean. Venus is covered by thick, rapidly spinning clouds that trap surface heat, creating a scorched greenhouse-like world with temperatures hot enough to melt lead and pressure so intense that standing on Venus would feel like the pressure felt 900 meters deep in Earth's oceans. These clouds reflect sunlight in addition to trapping heat. Because Venus reflects so much sunlight, it is usually the brightest planet in the sky.

Sulfur compounds, possibly attributable to volcanic activity, are abundant in Venus' clouds. The corrosive chemistry and dense, moving atmosphere cause significant surface weathering and erosion. Radar images of the surface show wind streaks and sand dunes.

More than 1,000 volcanoes or volcanic centers larger than 20 kilometers (12 miles) in diameter dot the surface of Venus. Volcanic flows have produced long, sinuous channels extending for hundreds of kilometers.

John Lear, however, begs to differ with NASA. Based on information John has accumulated, including data from George Adamski who was afforded a 'bird's eye view' of Venus and several remote viewer friends of John's he believes Venus is more like this:

(The following are quotes from "Inside The Flying Saucers" by George Adamski):

A beautiful planet similar to earth with seven oceans, all connected by waterways both natural and artificial. Magnificent mountains, some white-topped with snow, some barren and rocky, very similar to earth.

There are many Venusian cities, some large, some small following a circular or oval pattern. The structures are beautiful, with no monotonous lines. Many had domes radiating in prismatic colors. At night the colors cease and the domes become luminous with a soft, yellowish light. There is much uninhabited territory.

People on Venus are very similar to those on earth.

Cars and buses used for transportation vary in size as do those on earth. The only difference is that they appear to 'glide' along the surface using an energy system much different from ours.

The beaches on the lakes have sand that is very white and fine like on the finest beaches on earth.

The tropical sections of Venus have vegetation similar to earth but are much lusher because of an atmosphere than is much more moist than earth. The people on Venus rarely see the stars as we do on earth because of the constant cloud cover.

The following is based on information from friends of John's who are remote viewers:

Venus has a constant cloud cover which is a pale yellow color and the reflection makes the oceans and the lakes yellow in color.

Now, based on NASA's record of reporting, what sounds more plausible? The Venus described by NASA or the Venus described by John Lear (using George Adamski's quotes, and descriptions from John's remote viewer friends)?

Link to thread: ...thread284985/pg1

War With Iran Has Begun 5/21/07

Created by: AllSeeingI on May 23, flags: 31, replies: 186

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"The CIA has received secret Presidential approval to mount a covert "black" operation to destabilize the Iranian government.

CIA plan that reportedly includes a coordinated campaign of propaganda, disinformation and manipulation of Iran's currency and international financial transactions.

"(visit the link for the full news article)

[edit on 24-5-2007 by UM_Gazz]

Link to thread: ...thread283828/pg1

National Mall Layout Predicts World Events

Created by: AllSeeingI on May 3, flags: 29, replies: 72

Take google Earth. Measure a line straight from the white house to the Jefferson Memorial. Now at the point where that line crosses the center of the mall THAT is where you begin. 1776 at that point. From there measure in METERS towards the US CAPITAL building. Each 10 meters represents one year in US history. You will see that 9/11, and both World Wars are coincidental marked by roads or other landmarks. More recent terror attacks such as 7/7 are marked by lines in the US Capital building's steps. What is frightening.... we are running out of time. The great fountain is being approached by this "all knowing" line. We will hit the fountain in 2007. Keep your eyes and ears open!

This website explains the theory in more detail.

[edit on 3/5/07 by JAK]

Link to thread: ...thread280829/pg1

Scientists are convinced that man can see the future

Created by: j_kalin on May 6, flags: 29, replies: 98

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"Precognition (seeing the future) has been scientifically verified."(visit the link for the full news article)

~~~~~
Edit for title spelling

[edit on 7/5/07 by masqua]

Link to thread: ...thread281278/pg1

---

What Hijackers? Show me please.

Created by: AnAbsoluteCreation on May 22, flags: 27, replies: 242

I am asking a relatively simple question that has recently surfaced within my thoughts. If nobody has the arabs on the passenger lists, and the pathology department has never proved that an arab was on the plane, how did we prove they were?

And just so you know, I'm not buying the idea that all the passports were recovered from the ashes...

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Here are the supposed pictures of the arabs on flight 77. But how did they get this info?

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

No arabs on the list that UNITED released either...

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

If anyone has seen the tv show BONES, you will see exactly what is possible in this field of expertise.

""...When remains of the Waco dead or 9/11 Pentagon victims or Desert Storm casualties -- or most recently Chandra Levy -- need to be studied, the bone guys at the Smithsonian are called in. The bone guys read skeletons like intricate topological maps. Sometimes they can make identification from a skull fragment the size of a quarter. They can read race in the teeth and gender in the brow. They can tell you who had an asymmetric nose. They can tell you who may have been a factory worker, because bones grow more pronounced to accommodate certain muscles, and who may have been a weaver or a tailor, based on grooves in the teeth where thread was held....""

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

And everyone has heard about 7 of the 19 hijackers being victims of ID fraud.

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

So in conclusion, I want to ask again, if no arabs were found in any of the bodies, and the airline has no proof the arabs were on the plane, and some of the hijackers are proven alive, what does all this mean?

Please help me out understanding how this is not paradoxical.

Thanks, AAC

[edit on 22-5-2007 by AnAbsoluteCreation]

Link to thread: ...thread283779/pg1

---

Existance of Ufo's/E.T.'s Have Been Proven!!!

Created by: antar on May 25, flags: 27, replies: 194

There is no more proof needed, what more could people possibly be expecting to convince them of the reality of UFO/E.T. presence?

Are they waiting for George Bush or his predecessors to make a formal declaration at a White House press conference? Would that legitimize exopolitics?

For me personally it was validated by the brave NASA Astronauts who stepped forward against all criticism, debunking and personal assaults, to inform the general population of the existence of craft that is not from our planet.

Furthermore the World Governments, Politicians and Intelligence agencies that have been opening their private archives and moving forward is astounding and unprecedented.

I have the deepest and greatest respect for the Famous Personalities that are coming forward to bring public awareness to the subject of the existence of UFO/ E.T. presence on our planet. Here are just a couple of examples;

What really amazes me are the military whistle blowers and politicians that are coming forward as well.

<http://www.rense.com/general70/cla.htm>

Scroll down about Jimmy Carter,

And last but possibly most importantly, is the UFO community which consists of Scientists, Doctors, Researchers, Investigators and Writers, who at the cost of their very lives and freedom have made Exopolitics their life's work.

There are too many to even begin giving links to their work, and as this thread continues any and all contributors to this amazing collaboration of networkers who have so much incredible or should I say credible accounts that lend validity and closure to weather or not UFOs/ E.T.'s exist.

This thread was not started for the debunkers at heart, for they will not believe unless they find themselves sitting over coffee across the table from an E.T. that parked their craft on the front lawn. To those debunkers I would say, unless you sit across from world leaders and politicians now, you most likely would not be part of the inner circle connected to the visitors anyway.

For my friends that seek to abolish Ignorance, lets bring it all to the table!

Antar

Link to thread: ...thread284226/pg1

---

Trumbull County Ohio Stunning UFO Sightings Documentary

Created by: The Coward on May 31, flags: 27, replies: 45

Hi it's me again. Like always, just looking for the usual UFO stuff. I came across this most impressive UFO Docu. It is about a Flying Saucer that was seen flying low to the ground in Ohio. I like that it has the police radio recordings. It sounds convincing. Take a look at it and tell me what you think?

Anyway, I'll keep looking for more interesting UFO stuff and if I find any I will post them on ATS like always.

See videos here

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Link to thread: ...thread285139/pg1

---

Tesla's murder, GHW Bush and Operation Paperclip !

Created by: Alpha Grey on May 3, flags: 26, replies: 45

Could George H W Bush be a nazi relocated by Operation Paperclip ?? was Tesla murdered to protect that info ?? Did Hitler live to 107 yrs old in Montana??

Read on and be shocked... (links removed, visit the thread for external references) an excerpt from the article:

"What you are about to read is another step beyond research pioneered in the early 90s by author/historian Webster Tarpley based largely on deathbed "clues" provided by former Hitler bodyguard Otto Skorzeny and his box of photographs. Since Skorzeny's death in 1999, the various leads he provided have been followed up and tend to support what, at first blush, would appear to be the unbelievable rantings of an embittered old man. What remains constant as we pore through publicly available official records, private correspondence, memoirs, newspaper articles, photos and other "clues" is that Bush family records (the ones that exist) are a puzzle palace of inconsistencies and curiosities. Since it is a congressionally established fact that Prescott Bush was in business with the Nazis during WWII, we can safely say that the Bush/Nazi connection existed. Who are the Bushes? How did they get connected with the Nazis? Is the connection still alive through U.S. presidents George H.W. Bush and George W. Bush? The answers are not as literal as we would like them to be. But we have the testimony of Otto Skorzeny and his photos—especially the one at right. So, here we go—the first installment of an investigation that points to a curious conclusion: The "Bush" family was created to destroy America.

"

Thoughts anyone ?? could it be true ?? and if it is...what are the repercussions if revealed to the masses ??

:wow:

Link to thread: ...thread280841/pg1

---

Art, the Shaman and a Quantum Physicist

Created by: masqua on May 25, flags: 26, replies: 40

There is no earlier or more important religious or spiritual concept in our (read human) history than that of the shaman. It has survived the passage of much more than 30,000 years in art; woven, daubed or carved on tools, clothing and rocks.

Of these early representations, the simplest and easiest to recognize are entoptics.

Entoptics are representations of phenomena called phosphenes and form constants, which every human being is able to easily 'see' by the simplest of methods. These images, when perceived, are then transferred into decorations. To understand where such designs come from is to enter into the 'kindergarten' of shamanism.

"Phosphenes are not only seen in darkness but also in the absence of external visual stimuli; they are a hazard to the long-haul truck driver peering for hours into a snowstorm and airplane pilots often experience them, especially when flying alone at high altitudes where the sky is cloudless and empty of the usual depth cues (5). In the Nineteenth century Alessandro Volta (6) seems to have started modern investigation of phosphenes; shortly afterwards Bohemian Johannes Purkinje published a report on various abstract patterns as stripes and arches that were excitable either optically, mechanically or electrically.

-snip-

Form constants have been mapped extensively in the last century, principally by Klüver who defined four main types of constantly occurring visions as grating, filigree, cobwebs, tunnels and spirals (9) and by Max Knoll in the Fifties, who tested more than a thousand persons, provoking visions with electricity and identifying 15 categories of form constants as spirals, concentric circles, wave lines, grids, prisms, a repetition of points, stripes, triangles, organic outlines (10).

"

Tens of thousands of years ago, humans were interested enough in these strange images which only became evident by the removal of external stimulation.

If we entered an area devoid of any light, we would see pinpricks, patches of color or geometric patterns which seemed to be full of motion. When we closed ourselves from any auditory sensation, something else would make itself heard.

Both of these can be termed as hallucinations.

When our distant ancestors began to place these designs on objects, it was the first instance of art and has carried itself completely through the millenia into the contemporary art which is produced today. Think 'OP art', (so entrenched in our minds with the hippie era and hallucinogens such as LSD) Celtic art and Islamic art with it's complicated patterns. If you look at the symbols commonly used by corporations, you are able to easily make connections to the entoptic phenomena. The amazing thing is when you realize that we are just beginning to be aware of those connections. We are not so far separated from those early visionaries, since we see entoptic designs in everything around us. Wallpaper, furniture 'filligree', the Chrysler, BMW or Mercedes logos. When artist are inclined to create something which does not exist in reality, they invariable fall upon those images perceived by the 'mind's eye'.

This is very important if we take the first step towards understanding the methods of the shaman. Here are some snippets gleaned by googling the terms 'entoptic, phosphene, or form constant':

"As for the origins of art, this June, Cowan will participate in a conference on this topic in Montana. Geometric patterns are a common design element in cave paintings and prehistoric rock art. Some experts trace the prehistoric origins of art to hallucinogenic experiences. "A lot of the imagery is clearly related to what people report seeing when they take hallucinogens," Cowan said.

"

"4.5 Synesthetic perceptions are durable and generic, never pictorial or elaborated. "Durable" means that the cross-sensory associations do not change over time. This has been shown many times by test-retest sessions given decades apart without warning. "Generic" means that while you or I might imagine a pastoral landscape while listening to Beethoven, what synesthetes experience is unelaborated: they see blobs, lines, spirals, and lattice shapes; feel smooth or rough textures; taste agreeable or disagreeable tastes such as salty, sweet, or metallic.

<http://psyche.cs.monash.edu.au/v2/psyche-2-10-cytowic.html>"

"To exclude any optical inputs one must enter a totally dark room or wear a light-tight blindfold. However, once this is carried out, visual perception does not end; there is not an impression of total blackness. Once the eye has become adapted to the darkness, and particularly if one relaxes, the visual field lights up: wispy clouds and moving specks of light appear, generally in pastel shades of blue, green, orange and yellow. If one presses the eyes further, figures are evoked. These subjective images resulting from the self-illumination, as it were, of the visual sense are called phosphenes (from the Greek phos, light, and phainein, to show). Oster (1970:83) continues by stating that, because phosphenes originate within the eye and the brain, they are a perceptual phenomenon common to all mankind (past and present, one assumes), and they are extremely interesting from a psychological and aesthetic standpoint. Because their patterns must be intimately related to the geometry of the eye, the visual cortex, they provide a means of studying the exquisite functional organisation of the brain (Oster 1970:83).

<http://www.oubliette.zetnet.co.uk/Three.html>"

Step two in coming to grips with what it means to be a shaman is to understand that all of the above mentioned phenomena have meaning. They are the stepping stones to your unconscious being, and, because of their universality indicate a 'collective unconscious' as well, since we all have the same generic hallucinations. Our brains not only are wired the same way across all of humankind, but that wiring seems to extend backwards into our most remote and distant past. We may have progressed in our understanding of the material world and used this knowledge to invent the technologies which are most exemplified in this computer you are now using, yet, underneath all this advancement is the current confusing and mystifying concept of Quantum Physics. Quantum Physics, with its parallel universes, alternate realities, string theories and the seemingly arcane study of what matter truly is, coincides neatly with the concepts of shamanism. It appears, at least to me, that we are coming full circle.

Note - vid which was in this spot is now unavailable

-----

Edited to replace defunct pic with link and delete vid
[edit on 17/12/07 by masqua]

Link to thread: ...thread284164/pg1

---

Chad Drone Omnibus..

Chadsquito

Created by: CthulhuRising on May 27, flags: 26, replies: 211

Due to the number of threads now covering the various pictures posted showing this new Drone or similiar I thought it time to start a central thread covering the story...

Associated threads:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

A quick timeline:

lw2525 posted the first story from (links removed, visit the thread for external references) on the 6th Of May covering the report from the mysterious and elusive Chad. Apart from a brief up-date a few days later nothing has since been heard from Chad nor has he revealed the location of these first pictures.

The experts opinions..

"Originally posted by jritzmann

"Originally posted by greatlakes

This thread brings into question "What will happen when we are presented an authentic ufo photo, one that is clear and detailed and has numerous non-affiliated witnesses?

In the digital age I believe even image experts won't be able to conclusively call a photo or video fake or real regardless of the evidence.

"

You're absolutely right. I've told David on the phone several times, that's it's getting to the point where the ability to fake photos is getting nearly level to the ability that we have to detect them.

Hence, that's why you have to know more than digital imaging and manipulation- Light, shadow, angles, color, perspective, etc etc.

There will always be though, some tell-tale signs that will be inescapable.

But, look at it this way, IF say this set of photos were found to be real (and they aren't)...what are you going to do with that? All people like me and David could say is, they're real photos of a real event. Past that, there's no more to say. Where from there? We don't know much more than we did before we looked at them, except that they depict a real event.

Where'd it come from? Dunno.

What's it doing? Dunno.

Who's inside? Dunno.

What's it there for? Dunno.

As David has said, everyone wants some sort of disclosure...but what exactly are you going to do with it? And what if it isn't what you want it to be?

Ponderous man...frikkin ponderous. ;)"

Moserious then found two more pictures showing a slightly altered craft reported to be taken from Lake Tahoe on the 13th May.

RedStar11 then picked up the story with the most hotly debated pictures yet posted by Rajman1977 on (links removed, visit the thread for external references).

Rajman1977 has supposedly come forward and is willing to talk on another discussion forum. We are still waiting to see if this will happen..

On the 25th May Linda Moulton Howe posted (links removed, visit the thread for external references) on The Earthfiles. Giving Two new eyewitness accounts of similiar crafts.

Which lead to Cydonian Priest creating the (links removed, visit the thread for external references) thread on the 27th of May.

So anyone interested in this twisted little tale please browse through all the links to get a good background on what is happening up to now.

Cheers

CTH

P.S My Opinion??

:puz:

P.P.S Nods to Flatwoods for the Chadsquito tag :D

[edit on 27/5/07 by CthulhuRising]

Link to thread: ...thread284400/pg1

---

"Lost" photos show ground level WTC7 damage and FEMA disinfo coverup

Created by: IgnorancelntBliss on May 11, flags: 23, replies: 61

The Images

(visit the thread to view linked images)(visit the thread to view linked images)

Washington Street looking towards ground zero on 9/11. WTC7 on left.

I 'found' this by 'chance' during rigorous study of the street car fires at ground zero. I actually had it buried in my own archives. It went overlooked many times because it was "mirror" backwards and I never placed its location. Finally, I was specifically scouring ever source for shots of the collapse debris and status of the cars on the streets (at a later time in the day) in front of WTC7 after finding this amazing shot by chance at answers.com:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

The street directly 'in front' of WTC7. Guess what's probably going to happen to the cars behind the burning car...

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

The top cropped images came from high res images of these:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

As you can see, this elusive side of WTC7 looks far different than the other side which seems to have scores of images out there. Because of the difference I set out to find pre-911 photos of that side to confirm the discrepancy. Google Images then showed me the same picture as above, only this one was tiny in comparison and almost impossible to notice and demonstrate the damage in this scaled down version.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

So it turns out that the image was in the FEMA Report on WTC7.

The full quality photos show damage going down to about the 5th floor, as well as exterior columns from WTC1 sticking both out of the backside of the building as well as into the ground right at the buildings corner.

Previous WTC7 photos:

FEMA merely used the one image to show only that debris had landed between the 2 buildings.

This finding prompted me to contact my source of the high res images. I got them on a 2 CD set of other ground zero images from teh local 9/11 Truth organizer. She got them from a lady named "Janine" who apparently was the same person who sent Dr. Steven Jones his dust samples. Now I wanted to know who took the photos, and the FEMA report tells that. George Miller with the NY Transit Authority took the photos, and they used to be hosted up at subwaywebnews.com. That site is no longer there but Archive.org has them archived and some high res images can still be found:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Here's my images, while probably scaled down by photobucket, the ones I have are larger than that sites:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

They're still mirrored how I found them.

The Dillema

We have 3 dicotomies:

1: Incompetence

FEMA wasn't able to see the damage that goes with the debris, which I spotted immediately.

2: Coverup

FEMA left those images out to hide the fact that the massive hole tapers off as it gets towards the bottom (from that view at least). It still shows WTC1 exterior columns sticking into street at the buildings corner and what appears to be columns sticking out of the backside of the building.

3: Disinfo

FEMA left out those images to allow controversy and doubts that the damage went past what was shown in the top view shots of the hole. WTC7 has become the prime focus issue with 9/11 conspiracy theories, and withholding important damage evidence and analysis has allowed virtually all of the other "Loose Change" arguments to persist. These arguments have all diverted both "Truthers" and "Skeptics" to bitterly argue over debatable issues instead of focusing on the "Actionable Consensus" issues that warrant a serious hardcore investigation / criminal charges / social movement regardless of whether or not "Loose Change Arguments" are true or not.

In my view the disinfo dichotomy is the one. Virtually any aspect of 9/11 involves disinfo and what screams of being intentional skewing of matters to fuel diversionary conspiracy theories. This issue in itself deserves its own thread...

Sorry about the limited image analysis tonight . My PC melted down the other night, my new MB still hasn't arrived, and I cant currently access my programs and extensive files from my other harddrives with this crappy PC I borrowed from work.

[edit on 12-5-2007 by IgnoranceIsntBliss]

Link to thread: ...thread282151/pg1

---

HUGE HOLE on Mars Surface! Deep Abyss?

Created by: bestideayet on May 26, flags: 23, replies: 118

THIS is so freakin cool! I wonder what lies inside?!

Today's set of image releases from the Mars Reconnaissance Orbiter HiRISE team included this one, of a fairly bland-looking lava plain to the northeast of Arsia Mons. Bland, that is, except for a black spot in the center. What's that black spot? It's a window onto an underground world.

---

Check this thread for some additional information and pictures:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

[edit on 8-9-2007 by Jbird]

Link to thread: ...thread284267/pg1

---

The Declining Middle class and the Coming Civil War

Created by: SpeakerofTruth on May 29, flags: 23, replies: 129

There is a lot of talk about a possible coming civil war here in the United States. I think that despite what some may think, it won't be solely racially based; although that may play a significant role, I think it is going to have more to do with the current elimination of the middle class in America.

Since 1973, the middle class has been a dwindling population. It seems that the government is attempting to develop a two class economy, the super rich and the super poor.

"Our economy is marked by a very uneven distribution of wealth and income. For example, it is estimated that 28% of the total net wealth is held by the richest 2% of families in the U.S. The top 10% holds 57% of the net wealth. If homes and other real estate are excluded, the concentration of ownership of financial wealth is even more glaring. In 1983, 54% of the total net financial assets were held by 2% of all families, those whose annual income is over $125,000. Eighty-six percent of these assets were held by the top 10% of all families (US Bishops Economic Justice 183, quoting 1983 Federal Reserve Board figures)." (links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"Real weekly wages in the U.S. rose until 1973, and have been declining since. From 1977 - 1989, the wealthiest 660,000 families gained 75% of "average pretax income" increases, while most middle income families saw only a 4% increase -- and those in the bottom 40% of income cohorts had real declines." (links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Now, if you look at what is currently happening here in the United States, it is no wonder that we have reached a state where there will be no turning back. We are living in a nation where if you don't have a degree from a university of some college, you can forget about being self-sustaining. And even a degree is not a sure way to ensure economic stability.

-- In 1997, it is significantly more expensive to secure the basic household needs than it was in 1970 and before. Some of this relates to the breakdown of previous systems (such as private school tuition and day care). A higher percentage of household income is now required to meet these needs than was true in previous years (59, 62)." (links removed, visit the thread for external references)

For those who don't think this is serious, you had better think again. It will get to the point to where the so-called middle class in this country won't even be living to a third world status.

Of course, with the decline of middle class households, the decline of middle class neighborhoods follow.

"Middle-income neighborhoods as a proportion of all metropolitan neighborhoods declined from 58 percent in 1970 to 41 percent in 2000. This dramatic decline far outpaced the corresponding drop in the proportion of metropolitan families earning middle incomes, from 28 percent in 1970 to 22 percent in 2000.

Only 23 percent of central-city neighborhoods in the 12 large metropolitan areas had a middle-income profile in 2000, down from 45 percent in 1970. A majority of families (52 percent) and neighborhoods (60 percent) in these cities had low or very low incomes relative to their metropolitan area median in 2000.

A much larger proportion—44 percent—of suburban neighborhoods in the 12 metropolitan areas had a middle-income profile in 2000. Yet this proportion fell over the 30-year period, too, from 64 percent in 1970, accompanying a smaller decline in suburban middle-income families. Suburban middle-income neighborhoods were replaced in roughly equal measure by low-income and very high-income neighborhoods." (links removed, visit the thread for external references)

What Is The Impact Of A declining Middle Class

1. A segmented society. The Ultra haves vs. ultra have-nots.
2. Civil disorder. This is a no brainer. When you have a regimented mass of people who cannot survive, there is going to be violence and a bunch of it.
3. The "ghetto-zation" of middle class neighborhoods. Common sense dictates that with the lessening economic affluence come some pretty atrocious living standards.
4. Essentially, this will lead us into a civil war that will cross all racial and ethnic boundaries.

Possible Causes

You say, "Well, Speaker, all you are doing is pointing out the problems and not offering any solutions." Well, in order to offer a solution, you must pin point the cause of the problem. Is that not true?

Firstly, the outsourcing of jobs to India, China, Mexico, and other places is not beneficial to the people of the U.S at all. While some will argue that it's good for the economy, it's only good for the political "fat cats" that have implemented such plans as NAFTA and the cross border job-a-thon with India and China.

Secondly, you can't have a system where companies are unwilling to train people and expect it to work. Some are not fortunate enough to go to some ritzy university or college and obtain a line of alphabets behind their name.

Thirdly, when you have companies consistently making comments like, "We need skilled immigrants to do our work," that doesn't vote well for the economic health of the CITIZEN of that nation.

I think most can tell, just from that list that I gave, what might need to be done in order to correct the situation. Alas, it has become overwhelmingly apparent by the actions of our federal government that it is not going to make the proper moves to secure a bright future for its citizenry. So, I suppose it's CIVIL WAR, HERE WE COME!!

[edit on 29-5-2007 by SpeakerofTruth]

Link to thread: ...thread284740/pg1

---

The horrors of the War on Terror

Created by: AccessDenied on May 21, flags: 22, replies: 106

I must admit that I struggled with posting this. This has to be the most horrific thing I have come across on the internet to date. I can't even begin to explain my distress at this. I was doing a google search for images about the war in Iraq (I was looking for soldier pics for my website) and I came across this website. I searched the immediate boards and didn't find this topic, so pardon me if it has already been discussed. Now to get to the point of this post. The site contains images of victims of the type of weapons being used in Iraq and were used in the Gulf War as well. This is so deeply disturbing to me that these weapons are being used against civilians. I tried to imagine myself in the shoes of a mother in Iraq whose child had been injured and burned or baby born with these deformities. This is Shocking. We go about our daily business getting only the filtered stories about suicide bombers and pockets of insurgents. These people are being slaughtered and not by al Quaida or the Taliban but by the "War on Terror". What did these children do to deserve this? I must warn that these images are extremely graphic and not for the squeamish. And I just read a thread on here this morning about the same weapons being tested in Hawaii. This site has a lot of content and may take some time to browse. Here is the link-

WARNING- EXTREMELY GRAPHIC IMAGES

[edit on 21-5-2007 by sanctum]

Link to thread: ...thread283547/pg1

---

Bush Told Of First Attack On 9/11 Before He Left Florida Hotel w/video

Created by: Black\_Fox on May 4, flags: 21, replies: 57

Just another lie, along with many others, from that day. "(PrisonPlanet.com)-More archive video footage has been unearthed that re-emphasizes the fact that President Bush lied about how he first came to know about the events of September 11, 2001."

"ABC News reporter John Cochran told ABC's Peter Jennings, "He got out of his hotel suite this morning, was about to leave, reporters saw the White House chief of staff Andy Card whisper into his ear, then reporters said to the President 'do you know what's going on in New York'? - he said he did and would have something to say about it later.'"

Video here

Watch the clip from 7 minutes in.

Link

Link to thread: ...thread281033/pg1

---

*new video* of Fleet of ufos appearing over santiago Chile 2007

Created by: ufossydney on May 18, flags: 20, replies: 134

This is an amazing new video of a fleet of ufos or orbs appearing over Santiago Chile, film date says May 2007, it is definitely genuine and quite shocking!

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

[edit on 18-5-2007 by ufossydney]

Mod edit: cap title

[edit on 5/18/2007 by kinglizard]

Link to thread: ...thread283150/pg1

---

The Detention Vacuum

Created by: Agit8dChop on May 16, flags: 19, replies: 45

George says we are in Iraq to remove Terrorism.

George says that Iraqis want us there, and that we are doing the noble, and righteous thing by humanity.

I personally think that's a crock of such and such.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

The below article talks about the detention of Iraqi's

"

The conclusions of each investigation were roughly the same. At the time, they noted roughly 14,000 Iraqis were being held in a "legal vacuum." The detention facilities were chaotic, a large portion of the persons held were taken in on sweeps through their neighborhoods and were suspected and charged with nothing. No trials occur, but the detainees languish often for many months – in some cases for more than a year. “They may not be enemies when they enter these prisons,” one Army officer told me, “but you can count on it that they are insurgent sympathizers by the time they leave.” ”

Take note of the last line

““They may not be enemies when they enter these prisons,” one Army officer told me, “but you can count on it that they are insurgent sympathizers by the time they leave.””

We are effectivley creating terrorists when we send them to the same prison saddam sent them.

To them, we are no better than Saddam's henchmen.

They hear of murders such as haditha, or the abu grahib photos...

They hear about Cheney and co making money...

how are these men supposed to live in this country, when we clearly have no regard for human life, yet they are meant to bow to our emposed democracy?

Al Zawahiri was imprisoned in Egypt after the assasination of the Egyptian leader back in the 70's 80's...

He was tortured, and came out so radicalised.... he begun his vengance on the west.

So how do you honestly think these Iraqi's are going to come out ?

Are they meant to like our democracy once we have wrongfully imprisoned them?

After we've left their family vulnerable?

Imaging coming out of that prison, finding your son has left the family to join a militia, your baby girl was killed in a bombing and your wife kidnapped..

Would you praise the Americans for bringing this lifestyle to your country?

when before,under Saddams day.. you were earning money, living with your family... just under strict rules not to criticise the government?

"There's no accurate count of the missing since the war began. Iraqi human rights groups put the figure at 15,000 or more, while government officials say 40 to 60 people disappeared each day throughout the country for much of last year, a rate equal to at least 14,600 in one year.

"

(visit the thread to view linked images)

What happens when 1 of these 14600 a year... snaps in prisons.

Comes out finding his family murdered... his suburb front line in a secretarian war...

the US and UK expect him to go to work, praise the occupation and move on.

well, thats too hard to do.

When this man seeks revenge... we call him a terrorist, which justifies us killing, bombing and detaining MORE people.

This was never meant to work.

You cant activley invade a country (based on lies)

Setup occupation and a puppet government (that fuels civil war)

Setup a puppet police force (that tortures more than it polices)

And expect the people to get along, and accept you in control of their country.

Admit it, not one person on this board, would do, what the American Gvt is suggesting the Iraqi population do.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

.....

fixed title spelling

[edit on 16/5/07 by masqua]

[edit on 16-5-2007 by Agit8dChop]

Link to thread: ...thread282889/pg1

I died last night

Created by: lombozo on May 2, flags: 19, replies: 78

Last night I had the strangest dream I've ever had. I'd heard many times that if you dream that you die that you may actually die.

Last night I dreamed that I died. Not close to, but actually died. It was not from a third person perspective. It was a first person (from my own eyes) experience.

The details of how I "died" are not important. The reason I'm posting here is because something DID happen. When the "moment" happened, suddenly an all encompassing blackness occurred. Yes we all have a blackness when we sleep, but this was so different. It was like everything shut off. I don't know how else to describe it. Complete and utter blackness and silence. I thought I knew what blackness and silence was when I slept, but trust me, it is nothing like this. I never ever realized it before, but when I sleep, it's similar to being in a dark room after your eyes adjust and you can make out objects in the dark. Dark, but not complete. Same with sound. I never realized it before, but I must be aware of outside sounds when I sleep. Because when this happened, the silence was overwhelming.

Then something happened. It was lightning quick - like a flashbulb going off. A dark object, which was grey - it was dark and had no shape, but it was lighter than the darkness surrounding it shocked my brain. I don't know if I heard it, saw it, felt it - I just don't know - but I distinctly remember that it was so very important that I move my toes. I literally can't describe it. I must move my toes.

Then the greyness of normal sleep enveloped me, then I awoke, and my toes were indeed moving. The whole experience may have lasted less than a second, or an hour. I have no way of telling. I don't really remember many of my dreams, in fact I remember practically none of them, but this is one that has left an indelible mark on my brain. It may indeed be the strangest thing that has ever happened to me. Look, I'm pretty much the class clown, and I'm pretty grounded. I have no complaints in my life, but I feel an inner peace that I haven't felt before. What the heck happened?

Link to thread: ...thread280688/pg1

---

Bush Flashes 'El Diablo' Hand Signal During Queen's Visit

Created by: mecheng on May 10, flags: 19, replies: 207
(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
What the hell is this for? I know I've seen him making this gesture before and it's always been explained away that it's something about the Texas longhorns (I think).
But why would he be standing there holding his hand like that taking a picture with the queen???
This makes no sense. Don't try to explain that he's flashing the longhorn sign either... why would he? (anyone know how to insert an image?)
(visit the thread to view linked images)
Mod Edit: Inserted Image.
Review This Link: (links removed, visit the thread for external references)
[edit on 10-5-2007 by chissler]
Link to thread: ...thread281885/pg1

---

Google to Psychologically Profile Net Users & Gamers

Created by: tyranny22 on May 15, flags: 19, replies: 34
Google plans to profile players
by David Adam and Bobbie Johnson
May 13, 2007
" INTERNET giant Google has drawn up plans to compile psychological profiles of millions of web users by covertly monitoring the way they play online games. The patent says Google could also monitor people playing on any game console that hooks up to the internet, including the Sony PlayStation, Nintendo Wii and Microsoft's Xbox.
"
What is going on with this country? I used to hold Google in high regard when I heard that they wouldn't release search data to the government saying:
"

"the request is unnecessary, overly broad, would be onerous to comply with, would jeopardize its trade secrets and could expose identifying information about its users."
Does Google really want to sell our profiles to advertisers? Or are they just exploiting the Constitutional Ripple of the Patriot Act?
Could Google have possibly teamed up with the U.S. government to create a crude form of Minority Report to help the government find the next Eric Harris or Seung-Hui Cho before such tragedies take place?
[edit on 15-5-2007 by tyranny22]
Link to thread: ...thread282752/pg1

---

Top Cleveland Anchorman Reports 'On Air' that he Saw 5 UFO's near TV Station!

Created by: Palasheea on May 16, flags: 19, replies: 65
(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
View the video that's on that page about Ted's UFO sightings (note: a Staples commercial is on just before the news clip).
I thought this information was interesting considering how TV news anchor-people always make light of such stories about UFO sightings in the local area. But here, in this case, we actually have Ted Henry, who's the top news anchorman in the Cleveland area going on air to talk about his own UFO sightings!
This is to me is remarkable progress! Hopefully other TV news personalities will follow suit and treat the UFO topic with the seriousness it deserves.
[edit on 16-5-2007 by Palasheea]
Link to thread: ...thread282822/pg1

---

China Buys-Up US Debt At A Rate Of $15 Billion Dollars Per Month

Created by: AllSeeingI on May 14, flags: 19, replies: 97
(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
"
China Holdings Of US Debt - FEB $416.2 billion, JAN $400.9 billion.
"(visit the link for the full news article)
Related News Links:
(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
[edit on (5/14/07) by AllSeeingI]
Link to thread: ...thread282556/pg1

---

(HOAX)My Hypnosis to recover a time lapse(HOAX)

Created by: SuspicionXT on May 28, flags: 18, replies: 74

I'm not very eloquent with my words, so i'll just give fair warning to that.

A couple of years ago, I was sent to a low security California prison for a 2 year sentence. After a year of good behavior, they let me see the outside of the walls doing community work (under supervision of a warden) such as cleaning litter and digging holes, mostly for new plumbing routes and water pipes.

I was released from prison after a year and a half for my good behavior and my life hasn't been very good, as it isn't for anyone with a prison/criminal record. So I "plummeted" and was admitted to a psychiatric hospital where I keep returning every few months because of my depression. I continue to take the medications, although they don't seem to have any effect on my outlook on life.

My state-issued doctor attempted something drastic to spin my depression by putting me under hypnosis, which he says is actually very common, as a way to force the deep parts of the mind to accept change.

After the hypnosis and i started to return to consciousness, my doctor looked very nervous so i asked him what had happened.

He said that he asked me a series of questions regarding why I felt i was depressed and how prison had effected.

Now, i do NOT remember this for the life of me, but my doctor says that I was recounting this during the questions in hypnosis and I kept a copy of the notes he made. I'll say it as if i was recounting it:

Me and other inmates were sent out to dig a hole one day and as we were digging one of us hit something with his shovel that made a large deep sound that repeated several times before fading away. As the noise was repeating, the inside of my body change with temperature from normal to deep cold.

The first thing we all assume is that it's probably just a wierd sounding water mane that someone forgot to document, so the officer goes on to radio the water company and ask about any water manes. They respond saying that, no, it's a desolate area, should be nothing. the officer radios some other resource companies but they all call back saying that they have no pipes in the area.

we are curious as to what it is, so, being the dumb uneducated blokes (along with officer) we are, (and the empty afternoon we had since we were scheduled for several hours at that digging site) we start trying to digg it up.

Everytime our shovels clang with the metal thing, it makes that deep repeating sound, almost like there is a huge auditorium inside. I'm not a scientists, but the way the the sound was booming back and forth, i think it must've been #ing huge for the time it took the sound to bounce back and forth before fading. and every time the noise returns to us, our bodies go cold, literally, not fear. the temperature in our bodies felt much lower, even in the hot sun we were working under. (we found it more of adrug-like experience, not one that we were scared of, we quite enjoyed it)

So after about 2 hours of lazy digging, we surveyed the plot and whatever was down there was big, black, and metallic.

however, as we were looking at the plot, one of us noticed a slightly red haze of light through the dust in the air (i guess). We went pack into the ditch and put our hands over it and it looked like almost a laser pointer was either being pointed to the thing in the ground or vice versa.

Thats when our officer recieved a call on his radio that we were going to be forced to go back to the prison and for him to put up a "yellow" tape around the surrounding area, as to block it off for anyone that just happened to be jogging for no good reason in the middle of a forest.

We were essentially harmless prisoners, so we helped him put up the tape and as our bus started making its way back to the prison, we could hear a helicopter in the distance and some black cars heading in our opposite direction toward the dig. But one of the black cars had turned around and was following us, so we pulled over. (4000 character maximum)...

[edit on 6-2-2007 by Springer]

Link to thread: ...thread284550/pg1

---

UFOS over mountain and military facility - possible humanoids - Amazing new Footage

Created by: Gridkeeper on May 7, flags: 17, replies: 109

Ufos Hanging Around The Military Facility

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

Ufos on the Mountain Changing Shape and Brighter

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

Ufos are Moving and Changing Shape on the Mountain bright colours

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

Check This Mother Out!

[edit on 5/7/2007 by kinglizard]

Link to thread: ...thread281486/pg1

---

Beer_Guy Claims 100mpg+ Carburetor

Created by: Realtruth on May 8, flags: 17, replies: 28

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

FLAG THIS THREAD, if you would like me to go and actually see the carb or maybe someone is even closer than I am. I am sure if it is the real deal many of us would buy one.

I am not doubting him, but I sure would like to see, test and even buy one from him. I live within a 100 Miles of his location in Ohio and would make the trip if he would give me permission. I would report back to all of you here at ATS on the results.

Beer_Guy I just need an invitation and I will come and see you invention.

I wonder what the drawbacks are or limitations like damage or wear to the engine, emission systems, injectors, rings, cylinders, etc???

"

Beer_Guy

I have and currently continue to build these carburetors. In fact 100mpg is at the low end. I invite you to come to my house and watch one being built and put on a car. They work and they're very simple to build. I'll even let you drive the car for a bit.

"

edit on 8-5-2007 by [Realtruth]

Link to thread: ...thread281607/pg1

---

If you think you saw a UFO...

Created by: damajikninja on May 12, flags: 17, replies: 164

"Originally posted by TheExaminer

May we design a "if you think you just saw a UFO" read this? Providing some proper training materials to the common readers couldn't hurt.

Things like common FAA lights, known flare colors, a few charts showing examples and so on. A sideshow if you will.

Pardon my ignorance if I missed existing training materials here on ATS.

"

Good idea Examiner! :cool::up: Your wish is my command.

Did You See A UFO?

Commonly Mistaken Objects

AIRCRAFT

Many people often mistake common aircraft as UFO's due to the way planes sometimes appear in the sky.

Here is a chart that describes the light placement on typical passenger jets.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

As seen from the ground, these lights can sometimes appear strange in the sky. There are also some strangely shaped aircraft that the military sometimes flies.

Here are some pictures and clips of objects genuinely known to be aircraft.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

METEOROLOGICAL EVENTS

Sometimes clouds and other weather systems can look like or give the impression of a UFO. (links removed, visit the thread for external references) can sometimes look like alien handiwork, but they are just clouds.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS

Meteors and stars often get mistaken for UFOs. Meteors race across the sky at high speed, and can look quite anomalous if you happen so see one at close range. Meteors almost always take a straight or slightly curved line, and rarely change direction and speed.

The following are pictures of meteors and stars mistaken for UFOs.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

CAMERA ANOMALIES

Maybe you've taken a picture with your digital camera and later found a possible UFO in the shot. There are many things that digital cameras sometimes do that get mistaken for UFOs. We call these anomalies "digital artifacts" and take many forms. These artifacts are often caused by overexposing the CCD with too much light, the camera lens can catch a glare, lens flare can occur if the angles and light intensity are just right, etc. etc.

The following are pictures with digital artifacts.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

So there are a few things for you to compare your UFO sighting to. There are many other things that are mistaken for UFO's as well, and I encourage other members to post examples. When I have more time, I'll post some images and videos of things that are pretty good examples of what really could be a UFO.

Link to thread: ...thread282249/pg1

---

America's death toll on the world: 27,000,000++

Created by: IgnorancelstBliss on May 12, flags: 17, replies: 204

U.S. government attributable genocides & mass killings

Native Americans: approx 10 million

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Philippines: approx 1 million

Vietnam: 3+ million

US Bombs Laos: 350,000+

US role in Cambodia: 600,000 dead and 1,000,000+ wounded

Cambodia under Pol Pot: 2 million massacred

Indonesia: 500,000+

US backed Indonesia against defenseless East Timor: over 600,000, 1/3 of the population

US coerced Indonesia to annex West Papua in 1969:

The Indoensian genocides continue to this day:

CIA essentially puts Saddam hussein into power

US arms Hussein

Hussein goes to war with Iran in 1980: 875,000+ dead

Hussein slaughters Iraqi Kurd's / other Iraqi's: 182,000 - 400,000

US gives Iraq green light to invade Kuwait:

US attacks iraq: 80,000

Iraqi's dead from US sanctions: 500,000 children dead

Iraqi's dead from US-Iraq War / occupation: over 600,000

Nicaragua: 50,000

El Salvador: 50,000-75,000

Guatemala: 200,000

Argentina's Dirty War: 30,000

Operation CONDOR (Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Bolivia, Paraguay & Uruaguay): 80,000+ Dead/Disappeared

US trained assaulting forces in the 2nd Congo War: 3,800,000

CIA baited USSR in Afghanistan: 1,500,000+

More numbers:

TOTAL:

27,000,000

Doesn't count indiscriminate killings related to the 'Empire Wars': in any of the World Wars, Korea and so on.

End American Imperialism to end the killings.

[edit on 13-5-2007 by IgnorancelstBliss]

Link to thread: ...thread282279/pg1

---

Clear evidence of ufo sighting in 10th and 12th century manuscripts

Created by: Spartannic on May 18, flags: 17, replies: 96

While digging for ufo evidence in old manuscripts paintings and alot of other stuff i found some pics that clearly show unexplainable stuff so here i share it with u guys to debate about.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(visit the thread to view linked images)

These images of two crusaders date from a 12th century manuscript " Annales Laurissenses" (volumes/books about historical and religion events)and refer to a UFO sighting in the year 776, during the siege on Sigiburg castle, France. The Saxons besieged and surrounded the French people. They both were fighting when suddenly a group of discs (flaming shields) appeared hovering over the top of the church. It appeared to the Saxons that the French were protected by these objects and the Saxons fled. and then some more....

The above image comes from the 10th Century Tibetan translation of the Sanskrit text "Prajnaparamita Sutra", held at a Japanese museum. In the enlargement you can see two objects that look like hats, but why are they floating in mid air ? also one of them appears to have port holes on it. Indian Vedic texts are full of descriptions of Vimanas. The Ramayana describes Vimanas as a double decked, circular or cylindrical aircraft with portholes and a dome. It flew with "the speed of the wind" and gave forth a "melodious sound".

I always believed that the most unexplainable was the ufo sightings of the past. All of those (hardcore) debunkers who blame everything to be photoshopped and stuff cant claim it on those old manuscripts an alike.

So with this thread i hope to get some more info on anything old that holds ufo tales or images .

Link to thread: ...thread283214/pg1

---

This November (2007) will be remembered as the beginning of the Serpent Time.

Created by: bridias on May 25, flags: 17, replies: 62

This message which piqued my interest was posted on Coast to Coast fairly recently.

"This November (2007) will be remembered as the beginning of the Serpent Time, but not because of Satan, or the Devil. It has nothing to do with the Judeo-Christian struggles with the Muslim world, or the dark works of communism vs. democracy. A new unknown order will reveal itself and it shall tear asunder the New World Order. The light work begins anew. The timeline is about to unravel for the shift is coming. There is no book to sell. No guest host to interview. No other actions to take. Just remember this November and be vigilant for a powerful shift towards the light."

I decided to send an email to Wolfinflames who wrote the message and got this today.

***

Dear Responders:

First, before anything else is said, let me please beg you to not over react to what was posted.

Second, there is no newsletter, no website, no one to interview, no one to meet, and for those of you with more violent messages---no one to accost.

Third, it doesn't matter who I am, what I am, where the message came from, or anything else about the messenger. The message stands by itself. The messenger is irrelevant.

Fourth, this is not prophesy, heresy, astrology, numerology or any kind of divination. It's just a message.

Now, I have sent this message to you on this list who were at least sane enough not to:

1. Threaten my life (I had two of those)
2. Claim I am part of a cult, that I am a terrorist, I am the anti-Christ (oh, please!), I am part of a Jewish conspiracy, that I am a secret savior you were looking for, a Templar spy, that I am part of government misinformation, that I am an alien, etc., etc.

I'm also aware that some of you are probing for more information as part of your job in the government. I am glad. Governments are slow beasts. I doubt seriously they will take any of this as real. The message is not meant as a threat to anyone or any government...except those who have evil intents in their hearts and souls, especially those who want to enslave the human spirit. Their time is coming for the Serpent Time will see a judgment by beings with omniscience...no one will be able to hide what they truly are from those scales of justice--no one. The game will be over for the elite forces of darkness. Many of you want to talk to me directly or write to me directly. I have decided not to do that. Again, you are personalizing the message. It's not about me. If you send me messages wanting more information I will just destroy them. I have your e-mail now. When it is time for the second of the three messages, I will post it to you. This isn't Fatima...it's just 3 messages.

I never wanted this task. In my trepidation I begged for some guidance for proof, because what has been revealed is mighty, and beyond belief. Here is what I was informed of regarding the messages:

You will know that the first message is true when three things have occurred before November:

1. A major mining accident in Russia where many miners would be killed

2. A major earthquake in Southern California (but without huge loss of life)

3. A death in the English Royal family

Unfortunately, today I noted that there was a mine accident in Russia. Many miners died. I don't know why these verifications had to be tied to deaths. I really didn't want to know that...but the first indicator has appeared.

As for the next two messages I can say little at this time. However, let me make it clear to all of you who asked about the 11 11 numbers that they have nothing to do with numerical value. They are representative of a time-space relationship of two parallel universes. That will become clearer in the final messages. 11 11 is just a shorthand archetype that reflects the wave from the future events drifting back on us now.

sincerely, and wishing you clarity and peace wolfinflame

"

[edit on 26-5-2007 by UM_Gazz]

Link to thread: ...thread284136/pg1

---

Pentagon "NTSB animation" is wrong!

Created by: Caustic Logic on May 27, flags: 17, replies: 388

Pentagon no plane hoaxers take heed! The north of the Citgo flight path has yet another problem!

For those who don't know, the new rage in no-757-strike-at-the-Pentagon is a double-corroborated "proof" that the plane posing as Flight 77 flew at such an angle - north of the Navy Annex and the Citgo gas station - that it COULD NOT have clipped the five light poles or cause the angled building damage attributed to Flight 77. This theory is bracketed on two ends by Citizen Investigative Team (featuring our very own ATS Conspiracy Master "Jack Tripper") and their video The PentaCon (which covers the eyewitness end), and their "brother organization" Pilots for 9/11 Truth (P49T, of which I believe fellow ATS master John Lear is a member), whose video Pandora's Black Box Chapter 2 calls on an "NTSB" flight reconstruction derived directly, we are told, from the Flight Data Recorder (FDR) of flight 77. While the eyewitness end and the FDR (as seen in the animation) disagree wildly on the plane's altitude, they seem to agree on the damning flight path, and thus seemed well-poised to take down the official story.

The final minutes of this animated NTSB file can be seen here:

(visit the thread to view linked videos)

For the moment I'll ignore the CIT witness testimony (I've already said my bit over that, and don't have anything to add - yet) and look just at this animation; it contradicts the official story on several points, but what I'm looking at here is the flight path, the direction it was pointed in its final seconds.

The animation has other problems, which I feel a need to address again, including its NTSB authenticity ((links removed, visit the thread for external references))

It was supposedly sent to British researcher Calum Douglas (aka "Snowygrouch") after an FOIA request, in July 2006. Some info on this receipt and the difficulties of getting verifying data are recounted in this (links removed, visit the thread for external references). Great viewing, some real WTF X-Files moments, like the (CSV file?) data being clandestinely translated for them by a corporate bigwig on a laptop in a hotel room!

Anyway, as Douglas and the P49T guys will tell, you, it's complicated stuff, and they put a lot of work into understanding how the data and animation fit together. Well, as "Snowygrouch" puts it, it's not animation, since "animation implies some sort of fictitious content." So he calls it a reconstruction. I'll continue to call it an animation.

He'd been analyzing it for over six months before that speech in Ipswich, where he gave no clue that he ever stumbled upon the real problem with his animation I found in twenty minutes once I'd thought of it.

The American Society of Civil Engineers cite from the NTSB a magnetic heading for the plane at impact – 70 degrees from north - which they found consistent enough with the building damage to use it as an explanation of how the building was damaged the way it was. I Checked my jumbled "CSV" file ((links removed, visit the thread for external references)), and found a termination magnetic heading of precisely 70.0 degrees in the last frame of data. Then I looked closer at the animation, and see in the final moments a dial there reading 70, which I take to be the magnetic heading. Thus all FDR sources I can see match, even the animation. Yet one such mapping of that heading matches the official story while the same trajectory, once animated as in this case, is on a path to miss the light poles and rule out the angled building damage.

On further analysis I duly cheesed out. What was 70 degrees from what? How on Earth could I solve this problem? But after cutting my teeth on shadow reading, I decided to try common sense to get to the bottom of this discrepancy and with it the animation's corroboration of the too-north-path. It wasn't too hard, really. I just checked that my map was oriented north, took that as 0/360 degrees, dropped a compass on it, drew a line at 70 deg and it matched the official flight path, the light pole clippage, and building damage. This is from FDR data downloaded from Pilots for 9/11 Truth, generally said to refute this path. This means we're in business.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

So I looked at how 70 degrees translated into that animation. I capped a frame of the plane passing over the Navy Annex area, nearly centered on what I determined to be Southgate Road (at a mag heading of 70 it says) and mapped that. Lo and behold, the path from there to the Pentagon, the path taken in the video, is NOT a 70 degree heading! It's 80 degrees, a full ten degrees off!

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Thus claim that the FDR data shows a northern flight path contradictory with the official story is plain wrong. Actually looking at the data, all we see is 70, 70, 70, even right there on screen in the animation's heading dial. But they don't zoom in on the number, but on the picture, which, if you map it out, is 80 degrees, not 70. Again, their too-north FDR data case is based on one thing and one thing only – the animation picture – and that is FLAT WRONG.

Can anyone here honestly see another explanation?

It's still unclear whether the NTSB slapped this together themselves with such poor quality control and high mystery potential, if Calum had it made "based on the data," or if it was slipped to him in some other way so he'd truly believe it. But it's wrong, and as for his apparently not catching this simple-to-find discrepancy, well, that doesn't bode well for his credibility, nor that of the others who've cavorted with this "smoking gun."
[edit on 27-5-2007 by Caustic Logic]
Mod Edit: cap title
[edit on 6/8/2007 by kinglizard]
Link to thread: ...thread284390/pg1

---

Digg Riot in Full Effect Over Pulled HD-DVD Key Story

Created by: Togetic on May 2, flags: 16, replies: 35
(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
"The power of Web 2.0 is in full effect over at Digg, where users are revolting over Digg's decision to pull a story (that netted over 15,000 diggs) and reportedly boot a user for posting the HD-DVD AACS Processing Key number, which would allow someone to crack the copy protection on an HD-DVD. The front page (along with two and three) of Digg consists entirely of stories flaunting the number or criticizing Digg for its actions."(visit the link for the full news article)
[edit on 2-5-2007 by UM_Gazz]
Link to thread: ...thread28066/pg1

---

Child snatched on holiday ( new sightings and CCTV)

Created by: asala on May 4, flags: 15, replies: 304
Just thought i would make this thread in the small case that it may help,
A little British girl was last night thought to have been snatched while on holiday in Portugal, her Mother and father where in the restaurant opposite the apartment when its believed the child may have been taken while sleeping in bed,
Her name is : Madeleine McCann
(visit the thread to view linked images)
(visit the thread to view linked images)
"Madeleine McCann, who has a twin brother and sister, disappeared while her parents were eating in the hotel dining room 40 yards away.
Her parents, Gerry and Katie McCann, have released an official statement saying their main focus is now on "securing Madeleine's safe return".
I just hope they find this little girl, :(
Link to thread: ...thread281016/pg1

---

SPECIAL: The global game of control is being played. Are you aware?

Created by: dbates on May 7, flags: 15, replies: 36
Email Newsletter Special Feature
May 7, 2007
By ATS Member "dbates"

I, like most of the members here find myself easily drawn into petty arguments. Did the towers fall on their own? Is the war in Iraq justified? There's nothing wrong with looking into these questions. They all make for great conversation, but I honestly think we're spending too much time debating and arguing symptoms of the problem instead of the real issues. What's behind all of these events? Who is shaping the future? Inquiring minds want to know and you should be asking these questions. I believe that this is an issue that is common to almost all conspiracy discussions. UFOs are hidden, wars are started, elections are won and lost. While we sit around a discuss each angle individually the bigger picture is being looked over.

I often wonder if we are like (links removed, visit the thread for external references) Is an elephant like a spear, a snake, or a rope? While none of us are exactly wrong, none of us are correct. For a moment I would like you to consider the bigger picture. Think global instead of locally. The election in 2008 will just be another notch in the chain of events that's powered by a much greater force. What is this great force and where is it taking us? Without dragging this out for too long I'd like to jump straight to the point that prompted me to bring this up. The following transcript is from an event that was put together by the (links removed, visit the thread for external references) The project is titled "Managing Global Security". While this discussion took place last week, the project is ongoing.

This project is to develop concepts and ideas on how to revitalize that national security system and shape the world in a way that can provide for peace and security over the next 50 years.

- Page 4

This morning or this afternoon, I am delighted that I am so to say also present a declaration of something, maybe this new initiative on global governance. ...It seems to be that the aim of this project is ambitious and is also urgent. To launch a reform effort for the global security system in 2009 is imperative.

- Page 9 (Javier Solana)

Let me start by saying that the global governance is an awful term, but it is vital

- Page 10 (Javier Solana)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Yes, we can all see where this is headed to. You do have to wonder if the War in Iraq, or 9/11 were just staged pretexts to usher in this great age of security. According to the Brookings Institute we all desperately need this global security to assure our safety and sanity. First we saw the creation of a need, now we're seeing the solution. We must all surrender some of our sovereignty to a greater global cause. Read the entire transcript and you'll see that the general idea is that there must be a global government in order for us to succeed. They do a masterful job of tying together the economy, environment, and security and heaping it all under this global umbrella of security. Of course this security has to be controlled by someone and you can bet that the ones who will be in charge have something to do with this ongoing discussion.

This creeping threat of a takeover on the global scale hasn't happened overnight. It has been steadily growing for years, but I would like to keep the focus on more recent times. It became somewhat obvious what direction we were headed towards when President Clinton surrendered to NATO control over the conflict in Bosnia. During that period we were beginning to see the wheels of the global machine starting to turn. Not to be overlooked is the fact that Javier Solana was the NATO commander at the time. Yes, the same Javier Solana that is the driving force behind the "Managing Global Security" initiative. Look at (links removed, visit the thread for external references) and you will find that it reads like a screenplay for taking over the world. Still, don't focus too much on this one individual. This is more about the concept of handing the reins of control over to a global power than who is sitting in the seat of power.

While things were beginning to look good for the global-minded, something happened that they were not exactly prepared for. President George Bush is acting too unilaterally for their liking. The events of 9/11 were meant to bring the world together in action, but instead it temporally succeeded in splitting off one of the most powerful pieces in the global chess game. I don't believe that this was the intended outcome. Most likely they (The organizers) wanted to see more of a unilateral action like we saw in Bosnia. Instead of a team player president we saw more of a cowboy president. Solana touches on this fact directly in the speech and describes how the United States is holding back the development of the United Nations and therefore the global security system has been deterred. Of course this is only a temporary set back. Notice how he postpones the launching of this reform effort until 2009. By that time the new U.S. president will have had an opportunity to get settled in and will be able to assist in the creation of this global security umbrella. The addition of a more global friendly U.S. president along with a population who is tired of war, is the perfect chemistry for the handover of world government to another source. The people of the U.S. will now cheer when a newly elected leader states that he is going to hand over the business of policing the world to another organization.

Will this global leadership be good? It's hard to say but we all know that absolute power corrupts absolutely. Let's not fall into the trap of staying locked into permanent debate on symptoms. Look outside your community to the world around you and see the full game that's being played.

Related Links:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Related AboveTopSecret.com Discussion Threads:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

Link to thread: ...thread281501/pg1

---

How do Psychoactive Chemicals Tie in to Your Beliefs?

Created by: Mushroom Fields Forever on May 8, flags: 15, replies: 71

Like them or not, the fact is that psychoactive chemicals exist in our world and have been explored by humans since the beginning of our history. The importance of the naturally occurring substances such as marijuana, mushrooms, dmt, ibogaine, and many others is obvious in early cultures, but is virtually overlooked in modern society. The dramatic effects are something that should not be overlooked by anyone, because it is our consciousness that sets us apart on our planet.

My questions is how do these very important parts of our world tie into your beliefs?

Example questions:

Do the elite know about their effects and use them to their advantage?

Do extraterrestrials know about them, use some of their own, or are some of these substances themselves extraterrestrial?

If you are religious, how do they tie into your beliefs since they are naturally occurring?

If you believe we are consciously creating our universe, as some quantum physicists suggest, then how do these altered states of consciousness tie in?

Discussion includes, but is not limited to Marijuana - naturally occurring plant
Salvia - naturally occurring plant
Opiates - naturally occurring plant
Ibogaine - naturally occurring plant
Mushrooms - naturally occurring fungus
LSD - extracted from naturally occurring fungus
DMT - naturally occurring in all living things
Peyote (mescaline) - naturally occurring plant
Please try and keep this discussion serious (don't need to hear about funny things that happened to you while stoned/tripping etc.) and free of sarcasm/put downs. I really want to know everyone's views and have a good discussion, because this is a highly overlooked aspect of society.
[edit on 8-5-2007 by Mushroom Fields Forever]
Link to thread: ...thread281582/pg1

---

Jerry Falwell found unconscious.: Update Falwell Passed Away

Created by: Shar on May 15, flags: 15, replies: 221
(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
"LYNCHBURG, Va. - The Rev. Jerry Falwell was found unconscious in his office Tuesday and taken to the hospital, a Liberty University executive told a newspaper. Ron Godwin, the executive vice president of the school, told The News & Advance of Lynchburg that Falwell was found unconscious after missing an appointment Tuesday morning. Falwell was taken to Lynchburg General Hospital around noon, the newspaper reported on its Web site.
"(visit the link for the full news article)
[edit on 15-5-2007 by Shar]
[edit on 15-5-2007 by Shar]
Link to thread: ...thread282645/pg1

---

No power - no web?

Created by: slowmovingwalrus on May 7, flags: 14, replies: 40
I plan on getting a couple solar panels so as to retain some creature comforts pending an unforeseen disaster, but if the power is out everywhere then how many servers will go down with the grid and will our provider's infrastructure still function?
Does anyone know if there's a way to get online sans provider (even if it's just at 56k) or if there's any survival site out there ready for such a scenario and able to serve as a hub for those with internet access to communicate and organize?

Maybe I'm better off getting one of those big ass radios and a shotgun.
Link to thread: ...thread281437/pg1

---

The hippies were right all along

Created by: khunmoon on May 11, flags: 14, replies: 116
Here's a good read for a lot of the younger members. It is often my impression when the term 'hippie' is touched in posts it is with a derogatory flavour or for the ridiculeing of a drug induced utopia.
Well, hippies was a lot more than that. They were a lifestyle of visionaries.

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)
Go ahead, name your movement. Name something good and positive and pro-environment and eco-friendly that's happening in the newly "greening" of America and don't say more guns in Texas or fewer reproductive choices for women because that would defeat the whole point of this perky little column and destroy its naive tone of happy rose-colored optimism. OK?

I'm talking about, say, energy-efficient lightbulbs. I'm looking at organic foods going mainstream. I mean chemical-free cleaning products widely available at Target and I'm talking saving the whales and protecting the dolphins. I mean yoga studios flourishing in every small town, giant boxes of organic cereal at Costco and the Toyota Prius becoming the nation's oddest status symbol. You know, good things. [...]

Just remember the reference is to the REAL hippies, not the various pseudo kinds created by the garment and record industry or fashion and lifestyle gurus.

Considering one myself fighting the doubts of failure, this is warmhearting to me.

I always say it was a time special and privileged occurring maybe less than once in a millenium and I fell privileged to have been part of it.

Compared, whata drag it must be to be young today. Not much visions.

Link to thread: ...thread282030/pg1

---

Congress Not Told of Covert Action as Required by Law

Created by: loam on May 10, flags: 14, replies: 43

"

(visit the thread to view linked images)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

U.S. intelligence recently undertook a "significant" covert action without notifying Congress, as required by law, the House Intelligence Committee disclosed in a new report on the 2008 intelligence authorization bill.

"The Committee was dismayed at a recent incident wherein the Intelligence Community failed to inform the Congress of a significant covert action activity. This failure to notify Congress constitutes a violation of the National Security Act of 1947."

"Despite agency explanations that the failure was inadvertent, the Committee is deeply troubled over the fact that such an oversight could occur, whether intentionally or inadvertently."

More...

"

Let's face it.

Our great nation is no longer a nation built on a system of laws and accountability. The "great experiment" is dying, and too many of us are oblivious to it's final death throws.

How sad for us and our children's future... :dn:

[edit on 10-5-2007 by loam]

Link to thread: ...thread281894/pg1

---

America Deserved 9/11...

Created by: nick7261 on May 12, flags: 14, replies: 142

...at least that's what some people posting here think. Some people actually posts comments like, "I feel like the American society deserved 911."

I was going to just ignore this comment, but it's been bugging me since I read it and I want to address it.

I've lived in the U.S. all my life, and I've also traveled to many different countries in the world. IMO, there is no society, especially America, that deserves what happened on 9/11. What specifically is there about the American society that makes people think America deserved to have 3,000 citizens murdered on 9/11? The success and wealth of America? Is this how socialists think?

Contrary to the what some people seem to believe, American society is one of the most tolerant societies on the planet. 99% of the people here are good-hearted, hard-working, honest people who welcome people from all over the world into their neighborhoods, homes, schools, and businesses.

Like everywhere else there are some bad people here, but overall, this is one of the most open-minded and accepting societies in the history of the planet. The people of America have fought to end slavery and oppression of minorities, and continue to fight for human rights not just in our own country, but all over the world.

Is there another country on this planet that has GIVEN more money to foreign countries than America? Are there any other countries who have sacrificed more of their own people fighting on foreign soil to help ordinary people live in freedom?

So to say that American society deserved 9/11 is more than just pathetically misguided -it's a dangerous misrepresentation of what America is all about. I know there are many people who are on this forum who have never been to America and who might believe this type of nonsense that people like to spout off. My guess is that these people have never spent much time in America or would never say something so ridiculous.

Just a reminder, people are risking their lives everyday to get INTO America, not out of it.

Just because a small group of corrupt and influential people may have temporarily hijacked the system does not mean that the American society, or the 3,000 people killed on 9/11, deserved it.

So maybe the ultimate conspiracy of 9/11 was to start a global propaganda campaign against the U.S., and to undermine the U.S.'s position of leadership in geopolitical affairs. Wouldn't this fit in with the globalists' agenda?

Link to thread: ...thread282212/pg1

---

Freemasonry, Templars, the New World, and Celts.

Created by: Rockpuck on May 16, flags: 14, replies: 57

MODS: I put this essay in General Conspiracy because it is not directly linked to Secret Societies, and once completed, will be about very many different topics..

PART ONE:

If there is one mystery involving Masonry, it in its self cannot be figured out. This is because no one has yet proven the knowledge of that one mystery.. but that every single mystery is but a single mystery put together and once done so, I do believe we can figure out the single, greatest mystery of Masonry..

All the secrets and half truths of Masonry lead to some people, that Masonry is a conspiracy, and to an extent that could be correct. Masonry began, sometime after the fall of the Templar of Europe.. but no one knows “exactly when” so to speak, and no one knows.. exactly why.

At the exact same time some people believe the very founding of Masonry where being laid out, Templar where still seemingly active, even though they where persecuted and attacked by the Church and the Kingdom of France.

And at the exact same time of the Templar rise to power, it seems archaeologist are now finding evidence of an “advanced” civilization or colonization of the United States Eastern Sea bored.. as well as northern areas of Canada, especially and most significantly around Novia Scotia, and the Great Lakes..

And during the Templar’s life span, they where no doubt incredibly rich, and their military knew no competition until the development of “Damascus Steel” .. a new forging method for much stronger, lighter steel.....

Interesting, how so much fits in within the same time frame..

And I believe it could be the connections of these, and many more individual mysteries, that may become the whole truth of the single mystery of Freemasonry.

Let me begin with the Celtic peoples...

Not many people connect Celtic civilization and Freemasonry, and the Templar..

I start with the Celts for a variety of reasons.. first off, they may have been the very first people to ever step foot on the New World, that is, from Europe. It is hypothesized by some scholars that the Phoenicians and the Egyptians also made it to the New World.. and the evidence is rather staggering to support these claims.

We know for an obvious fact that Ice Land was colonized by the Viking nation around 870AD .. it is a far longer sail to Iceland, from Scandinavia, then it is from Ice Land, to Canada and Green Land...

Green Land was then colonized, at Brattahlid in the year 985AD

Would it be safe, safe at all.. to assume no ship ever sailed past Brattahlid on the Green Land coast, deep in arctic water for the next 1,100 years?

I would honestly hope not.

While Viking and Celtic civilizations share many characteristics, they are not the same, and are not of the same family, be in culturally or ethnically, however being so close to the British Isles their cultures wore off a little on each other, but not to the point that Norse Men dropped their religion and picked up the ways of their Celtic neighbors.. which is extremely important and I will finish my point a little later, but it contains the proof that someone besides Vikings made to the New World long before Columbus was even born.. and then I will connect it to Freemasonry. ;)

While the Viking people did in fact found Green Land, and Iceland within the same time period, many believe that Erik the Red actually continued on to America after establishing his outpost in Greenland, however historic evidence through writings and legend, show that in a time frame of about 30 some odd years, the Viking people extensively navigated the chilly, dangerous arctic waters.. eventually in the year 985 the same year Erik the Red founded the last outpost, Bjarni Herjolfsson navigated the outer coast of Canada, as an expedition, and returned with the news of a further land..

In the year 1000AD Lief Eriksson landed on the American / Canadian coast, explored, possibly settled, and most likely raided.. It is believed that Newfoundland is the Vinland that Eriksson wrote about..

Ironically it appears from historical articles, that the Norse Men went to America for the same reason the English and the Spanish went.. first and for most riches and gold and all the typically good stuff.. but they all wanted one thing above all else..

Timber.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

This is significant in two ways..

First, the New World was not so New when Columbus got there..

To think that the Vikings explored this area with extreme interest, extreme expenses and resources went into each expedition... and not make a single map? .. Not keep some kind of record of its existence? Vikings obviously kept the knowledge, but kept it from everyone else... I believe the voyage was so far and harsh that they simply decided not to colonize it at that time.. while they where brutal warrior peoples, their technology was not so far ahead of Native American’s that they could easily conquer.. they had no guns, just ax and sword. I do not believe, and many historians as well, that the Viking people had the ability to conquer a land so vast and far away.

But, they still landed in the New World, no small feat. And since the Norse Men got there, what’s to say no one else did?

Well, actually there is more evidence of at least one other known adventurer (by name anyways) .. a Celt. A Welshman to be exact.

Madog ab Owain Gwynedd..

This is primarily a Welsh legend, but behind all legends, there is a truth.. it is possible that this man made it to the New World, and at the end of the legend, he came back from the New World, told of its wonder, took a few settlers with them and went back, never to be heard from again.

According to this legend, Owain’s description has historians believe he landed somewhere around

Mobile Alabama.. and after attaining a group of settlers for his second voyage, in the year 1169 Owain established a settlement in the Mississippi.

Sadly enough, historians hypothesize that it is rather likely that the Welsh settlers continued north into the Dakota regions, and where found by American's during the Revolutionary War, and where entirely wiped out as a race..... by small pox.

Soldiers accounts said the Mandan Indians as they where called, where light skinned, light haired, and had long beards. Sounds almost European huh?

Historic insight into the language used, their writing skills which is few among Indian peoples, and their engineering abilities closely relate to Celtic in nature, possibly Welsh..

During the Revolutionary War, a Welsh soldier had reported once that while serving in the Ohio region, that he conversed in broken Welsh with one Indian Tribe, though it cannot be solidly verified.

If anyone reading this is Welsh and knows their history.. it should be evident that this is not at all new news to the Welsh.. in fact, in the late 1790's Welsh peoples celebrated "Prince Madog" as the sovereign king of the New World and claimed the lands for Wales. Of course, this was mostly nationalistic pride speaking, but it shows evidence that people firmly believed in the Welsh settlers.

Just a little bit of trivia for you, it is believed Lewis of the Lewis and Clark expedition was a Welsh decendant, and that their guide, Sacajawia was a Mandan Indian. ;)

From Britannia on the naming of America after a Welshman..

"

According to research conducted by an English College professor, America did not take its name from Amerigo Vespucci, but from a senior collector of Customs at Bristol, the main port from which English voyages of discovery sailed in the late 15th century. Dr. Basil Cottle, who is himself of Welsh birth, tells us that the official was Richard Amerik, one of the chief investors in the second transatlantic voyage of John Cabot, which led to the famous navigator receiving the King's Pension for his discoveries.

John Cabot landed in the New World in May 1497, becoming the first recorded European to set foot on American soil. As far as Amerik's Welsh connection is concerned, the word "Amerik" itself seems to be derived from ap Meuric, Welsh for the son of Maurice. (The later was anglicized further to Morris). There was a large Welsh population in Bristol in the late 15th century.

Because Cabot's voyages were made before the year 1500, they pre-date Amerigo Vespucci's interest in the New World. Professor Cottle reminds us that new countries or continents are never named after a person's first name, always after his or her second name. Thus, America would have become "Vespucci Land" if the Italian explorer really gave his name to the newly discovered continent (i.e. Tasmania, Van Dieman's Land, Cook Islands, etc.). It seems that countries or territories are named after first names only when the name is that of a royal personage such as Prince Edward Island, Victoria, etc.).

"

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

I am going to stop here, and see if there is any interest so far. Before I get into the aspects of Freemasonry, the Knights Templar and their possible secret voyages and settlements, I want to see if anyone is interested in the historical significance and the conspiracy behind ..... how our history is written. ;)

Or if people only want to here the bit about Masons. :(

Link to thread: ...thread282874/pg1

Flight 93 Explained

Created by: nick7261 on May 19, flags: 14, replies: 74

The official story is Flight 93 crashed in the field in Pennsylvania. A conspiracy theory is that Flight 93 was shot down. I don't think the evidence matches either theory.

So what's that leave?

To begin with, witnesses said they saw the plane coming in from the NW along Route 30. However, witness to the EAST of the crash site, near Indian Lake, also claimed they heard a plane fly overhead. This can't be true if the plane crashed at the location of the crater.

So how could witnesses to the EAST of the crash site have heard the plane? Maybe because they live right beside a hidden, 4000 foot airstrip that's about a mile EAST of the crater, but on the same flight path as was reported by witnesses WEST of the crater.

Here's the map of the area:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Close-Up of Airstrip

(visit the thread to view linked images)

So if you examine this map you will see that the "hidden" airstrip is almost in a direct line of the reported flight path of Flight 93, and in a location where people near Indian Lake would have heard the plane coming in to land. This would explain the eye-witnesses WEST of the crater, and the ear-witnesses EAST of the crater.

But is there any other evidence of some type of operation that could have faked a plane crash at Shanksville?

I think so.

First, there is the C-130 Air National Guard plane that was at the crash site within 2 minutes of the alleged crash of Flight 93. This plane could have easily spread the staged debris, which was reported to have been found up to 8 miles away in New Baltimore.

Here's a map showing New Baltimore in relation to the C-130's flight path and the crash site, along with a photo of a C-130:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

So as you can see, the C-130 was approaching from the SE on the direct line of the debris field which was found between the crater and New Baltimore. And you can also see the C-130 would have been a perfect choice to spread the debris based on its ability to discharge its payload from its rear door while in the air. So far we can explain the witnesses that both saw and heard the plane, and the debris field. But what about the crater? Something had to make the crater!

I believe witness Sue Mcelwain might explain this. This is her account of a plane she saw on 9/11 at Shanksville:

"It came right over me, I reckon just 40 or 50ft above my mini-van. It was so low I ducked instinctively. It was traveling real fast, but hardly made any sound.

Then it disappeared behind some trees. A few seconds later I heard this great explosion and saw this fireball rise up over the trees, so I figured the jet had crashed. The ground really shook. So I dialed 911 and told them what happened. I'd heard nothing about the other attacks and it was only when I got home and saw the TV that I realized it wasn't the white jet, but Flight 93.

There's no way I imagined this plane - it was so low it was virtually on top of me.

It was white with no markings but it was definitely military, it just had that look. It had two rear engines, a big fin on the back like a spoiler on the back of a car and with two upright fins at the side.

I haven't found one like it on the internet. It definitely wasn't one of those executive jets. The FBI came and talked to me and said there was no plane around.

Then they changed their story and tried to say it was a plane taking pictures of the crash 3,000ft up. "But I saw it and it was there before the crash and it was 40ft above my head. They did not want my story - nobody here did."

Does this picture match Mcelwain's description? I think so.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

What Mcelwain describes fits the description of an A-10 Warthog military plane with ordinances that could have made the crater.

Here is a summary of the evidence:

* Operation Northwoods shows the government had the means to stage a hijacking and fake plane crash by landing the "crashed" plane at a secret airport while spreading fake debris.

* There is a "hidden" airport on the direct flight path of Flight 93 just over 1 mile where Flight 93 is said to have crashed.

* There are witnesses who saw and heard the plane EAST and WEST of the crater that was supposedly made by Flight 93.

* The C-130 capable of spreading the fake debris which was found as far as New Baltimore flew almost directly along the debris path.

* There was a plane fitting the description of an A-10 Warthog seen by Sue Mcelwain that was capable of firing a missile that made the crater.

* The "crash site" is inconsistent with any commercial airline crash in history. There was no evidence of ANY charred ground near the crater -only a hole in the ground with small pieces of debris.

So the question is, does the evidence show that the crash of Flight 93 was staged?

Link to thread: ...thread283311/pg1

---

UFO Congress 2007 New Video Footage

Created by: Terrapop on May 28, flags: 14, replies: 53

Here are some new videos released by Jaime Maussan on the UFO conference 2007:

The orb cross at the end of the second video is really stunning. What do you think?

Link to thread: ...thread284526/pg1

---

NASA: Only 10 Years Till Irreversible Climatic Danger Point

Created by: thelibra on May 30, flags: 14, replies: 197

"Even "moderate additional" greenhouse emissions are likely to push Earth past "critical tipping points" with "dangerous consequences for the planet," according to research conducted by NASA and the Columbia University Earth Institute.

With just 10 more years of "business as usual" emissions from the burning of coal, oil and gas, says the NASA/Columbia paper, "it becomes impractical" to avoid "disastrous effects."

The study appears in the journal Atmospheric Chemistry and Physics. "(visit the link for the full news article)

Related News Links:

Link to thread: ...thread284878/pg1

---

WTC7 Faked Image

Created by: Insolubrious on May 10, flags: 13, replies: 251
Which one is the real and which is false?

(visit the thread to view linked images)

the above image was used here in this one below:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

And also, the damage resembles this photo, yet flipped upside down:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

I read the one on the right in the first picture is genuine and origin authentic therefore the left one was faked to suggest wtc7 fell due to damage at the base of the building when in fact there wasn't any.

Link to thread: ...thread281965/pg1

---

Put Option Trading "Innocuous?"

Created by: Caustic Logic on May 19, flags: 13, replies: 41

The mystery of the Put Options is one of the old stories of "missed warnings of 9/11" that first surfaced shortly after the attacks. I'm a bit hazy on all the details, but for those unfamiliar, a "put" option is basically a bet that a company's stock will go down, and only pays off if the company takes a hit. In the days before 9/11, the Chicago exchange board recorded a major spike in put option purchases for United and American Airlines and for various companies based in the WTC.

Mike Ruppert and others have talked about this a lot, and how such anomalous trading is supposed to tip off intelligence and law agencies that someone is abusing insider knowledge, and in light of air terror threats in 2001, might trigger other alarms as well. Apparently they did not raise an eyebrow until after the attacks. Mainstream reports suspected terrorists with foreknowledge placed the orders to profit from the attacks, though as far as I heard, the puts were never cashed in (for understandable reasons).

Thanks to Cameron Fox for posting the 9/11 Commission's explanation for all this, which I had previously missed (bold mine):

"Highly publicized allegations of insider trading in advance of 9/11 generally rest on reports of unusual pre-9/11 trading activity in companies whose stock plummeted after the attacks. Some unusual trading did in fact occur, but each such trade proved to have an innocuous explanation. For example, the volume of put options—investments that pay off only when a stock drops in price—surged in the parent companies of United Airlines on September 6 and American Airlines on September 10—highly suspicious trading on its face. Yet, further investigation has revealed that the trading had no connection with 9/11. A single U.S.-based institutional investor with no conceivable ties to al Qaeda purchased 95 percent of the UAL puts on September 6 as part of a trading strategy that also included buying 115,000 shares of American on September 10. Similarly, much of the seemingly suspicious trading in American on September 10 was traced to a specific U.S.-based options trading newsletter, faxed to its subscribers on Sunday, September 9, which recommended these trades. These examples typify the evidence examined by the investigation. The SEC and the FBI, aided by other agencies and the securities industry, devoted enormous resources to investigating this issue, including securing the cooperation of many foreign governments. These investigators have found that the apparently suspicious consistently proved innocuous. "So what they seem to be saying here is because it couldn't be tied to al Qaeda this profitable and apparently psychic "strategy" is not suspicious. I'm presuming now the money was claimed, since it was all innocent, and so some people did somehow benefit financially from 9/11 in a pattern normally called insider trading. But it was just one good guess after another this time, huh?

Now by this same pattern, if we found a purposeful order to have all fighter jets off line for repair on Sept. 7-13, and got no fighter response on 9/11 (as opposed to the effective absence we got), this would look suspicious, no? But if al Qaeda was not found responsible, and in fact the President's stamp was on it, would that be innocuous? Is this the kind of pattern they consistently saw? Granted it's a strained analogy, as one has to do with direct defense, the other just serving as a possible clue to get defenses up.

I'm too lazy at the moment to gather data, and I know others of you have it. What company and one newsletter decided to get all this "seemingly suspicious" activity going on right before 9/11? And why? Were the prizes claimed? Who runs these companies and who do they know?

[edit on 19-5-2007 by Caustic Logic]

[edit on 19-5-2007 by Caustic Logic]

Link to thread: ...thread283287/pg1

---

The awakening will culminate in 2012 during the Harvest event.

Created by: bridas on May 23, flags: 13, replies: 164

The menu page can be accessed here.

The ascension page from here.

2011 A great travail will become a dark cloud over the Earth until "The great Harvest" occurs. I look forward to that event as the rest of my journal will come from observing it.

This event is connected to what you have called "planet X". The only thing I can tell you now is that it is not a planet and it will be the source of your survival as a species and not the beginning of the end as they controllers would have you believe. I will soon leave this juncture and go to 2011 to await the event I call "The Harvest".

2012 I will soon leave this juncture and go to 2011 to await the event I call "The Harvest". I am limited as to the details of this coming event but can assure you that it's occurrence in 2012 is written in stone. It is the climax of this millennia. The awakening will culminate in 2012 during the Harvest event I mentioned earlier. Jesus mentions this event in what you call the New Testament.

I am prohibited from going into the few details I know about the Harvest event. The controllers of your present era know and shake in their boots! They are gearing up for the war that they know they will lose. After the Harvest will be a golden era of plenty and liberty but not before there is havoc upon the Earth.

My understanding is that the worst events are up to and including the Harvest. Afterwards there will be a long period of rejuvenation and replenishment. Perhaps I used the wrong words "Dark Age" when I should have used perhaps something else to emphasize a slow recovering period.

The sad thing here is the crystal is about to be pruned so that the "Harvest" on the "multiverse screen" can proceed. I remember Emit saying that Jesus referred to the event vaguely in the parable of the wheat and tares.

Wheat and the Weeds/Tares Explained by Jesus
KJV Matthew 13:37-43

(37) He answered and said unto them, He that soweth the good seed is the Son of man;

(38) The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are the children of the wicked one;

(39) The enemy that sowed them is the devil; the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels.

(40) As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world.

(41) The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity;

(42) And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

(43) Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

Link to thread: ...thread283869/pg1

---

supposed "rare" united 93 footage.

Created by: tribaltrip on May 27, flags: 13, replies: 100

Well i was doing my daily research in the whole 911 thing as always, and picked up on a very odd video on youtube.

I know, i know, youtube may not be the best for qauality but i must say the video shows some good evidence that there was never any plane there, just a big hole and what looks like paper all over.

Make your own judgements.

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

edit on 27-5-2007 by [tribaltrip]

Link to thread: ...thread284389/pg1

---

What to do when you just cant leave. (city Survival)

Created by: angryamerican on May 30, flags: 13, replies: 86

The title should actually be what to do if you just cant leave. I was reading threw (links removed, visit the thread for external references) And it got me thinking. What happens when you cant leave. Never mind the reason why there could be a bunch of things causing you to stay.

Water, Food, and shelter. Are three main ingredient's for survival. Baleave it or not an almost abandoned city can supply all three. One on a short term basis and two on a long term basis. So lets break them down.

WATER

For quite a while you will be able to get water in the big city even when the mains are down. The trick is gravity. Find the tallest building you can. Go to the ground floor or basement level. All the water sitting in the pipes on the upper floors will want to come down. so just find a sink on a lower level and turn it on. if the pipes have one way valves in them like a lot of newer building do well then this becomes a little harder but still doable. you just have to go floor by floor breaking in walls looking for the pipes. Your target is the big supply pipe with the one way valve on it. Your tool of choice is a sludge hammer. in the older buildings for smashing black pipe. if the pipe is copper you will need a (links removed, visit the thread for external references). Pipe cutter are simple cheap tools.

If the pipes are more modern PVC a hack saw will do. The objective is to cut or break the pipe after the one way valve so any water trapped behind that valve will be released. Another good source is toilet tanks and (links removed, visit the thread for external references) If your really luck your city has a artisans fountain. fountains inside malls are another good source just don't forget to treat it before drinking it.

FOOD

Abandoned or almost abandoned city's off vast amounts of food. It may not be attractive food but any food is good when your starving. The back rooms of stores are a good place to start looking. the shelves will probably be bare in the shopping area but panicked people aren't always rational so my bet is you will still be able to find food in the back or ware house area. When all those areas are barren well then you have to fall back on your hunting instinct. being a pet owner I find this distasteful but in survival its us or them. people abandoned cats and dogs when the attempt to flee. many will be starving so they will be slow and easy to catch.. if it helps think of it as doing a mercy killing. Your showing them mercy by ending there suffering and showing yourself mercy by feeding your self. When that food source gets scarce there is and always will be rodents. yes thats right rats and mice. hay there meat people. Another thing I should mention is vitamins. nobody who is raiding a store for food to survive is going to stop at the vitamin isle. bad for them good for you. the food stocks of city's is going to be primarily meat, leaving a big hole in your nutrition. thats what the vitamins are for. don't forget insects, they are a wonderful source. Some of them can be down right tasty. A source of cooking and heating is peoples abandoned gas grills, so don't forget to cook that meat.

SHELTER

This ones kinda a no brainer. there is so many places to hide in a city. take your pick. I personally would pick a small dumpy looking house in the resident area of the city. any survivors like you that are left behind will most likely look to the big rich houses and leave the dumpy little places alone. little places are better because they can be heated easily and they are unattractive to human vulture. if you use the abandoned grill idea for the heating don't forget to have plenty of circulation. it would suck to survive a cataclysm only to die of asphyxiation. there should not be a shortage of tanks for quite some time. almost every gas station in America has refills. just use a hack saw and you have gas for months out of just one caged refill station. most stations Ive seen have two of these cages minimum. Most hold 9 tanks. that will keep your belly happy and family warm for quite some time.

Remember those who THINK Survive.

Link to thread: ...thread284856/pg1

---

Air-Car Ready For Mass Production - Yes It Runs On Compressed Air!

Created by: lombozo on May 31, flags: 13, replies: 74

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"The world's first commercial compressed air-powered vehicle is rolling towards the production line. The Air Car, developed by ex-Formula One engineer Guy Nègre, will be built by India's largest automaker, Tata Motors.

The Air Car uses compressed air to push its engine's pistons. It is anticipated that approximately 6000 Air Cars will be cruising the streets of India by 2008. If the manufacturers have no surprises up their exhaust pipes the car will be practical and reasonably priced..."(visit the link for the full news article)

[edit on 31-5-2007 by UM_Gazz]

Link to thread: ...thread285017/pg1

---

XDR TB Patient's Father-in-Law Studies TB at the CDC

Created by: djohnsto77 on May 31, flags: 13, replies: 34

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"Interestingly, Speaker's father-in-law is Dr. Robert Cooksey, who works in a lab at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and specializes in TB. Asked by Fox News whether Speaker may have caught TB from him, Cooksey replied, "Absolutely Not. I work in the lab and I'm not authorized to talk about that.""(visit the link for the full news article)

Related AboveTopSecret.com Discussion Threads:

(links removed, visit the thread for external references) "

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

[edit on 5/31/2007 by djohnsto77]

Link to thread: ...thread285049/pg1

---

Mutilated Bull: No Blood, No Clues...18 Miles from Dulce, New Mexico

Created by: Norio Hayakawa on May 6, flags: 12, replies: 41

Mutilated Bull: No Blood, No Clues...18 Miles from Dulce, New Mexico

Resurgence of cattle mutilations in northern New Mexico? Cattle mutilations in northern New Mexico, particularly near Dulce were prevalent especially during the late 70's and early 80's. This latest one, however, apparently took place just last October in Canjilon, 18 miles from Dulce, a town well-known with rumors of alleged underground bio-lab:

MUTILATED BULL: NO BLOOD, NO CLUES

Link to thread: ...thread281312/pg1

---

911truth.org redirects to jewsdidwtc.com

Created by: piacenza on May 6, flags: 12, replies: 56

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

I think the site was Hacked it has a script that redirects to jewsdidwtc.com.

Is this a campaign to discredit the movement?

There is a script on the site >window.location="http://jewsdidwtc.com/";

Link to thread: ...thread281257/pg1

---

Alien type - and size - butt anatomy

Created by: Ram on May 13, flags: 12, replies: 117

I have been thinking of a video clip I once saw on Google video some time ago.

From 1984. I want to see what size the creatures are in this video and see if it could be children in costumes or the real thing.

First of - We are dealing with the real version of this video - not the fake one...

Later I want to show another picture from a Zulu chief David Icke interviewed in Africa - He had a small figur standing behind him - That looked like these figures from the 1984 video. A small toy thing.

And I wanna see if you can see something similar to the anatomy.

(visit the thread to view linked videos)

First is the actual video - And It would be real cool if we could find a better version than this one - and not the fake version.

First i took some screens from the two - And later 3 creatures standing in front of the Holy-Shiet spaceship.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Tried to get their figure to stand out - but impossible - not enough colors..

(visit the thread to view linked images)

So I tried to flash them - To make it bit more clear.. Notice the arms are to long for human proportions.. I dunno what to say.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

let's keep this open till we get an idea how tall they look compared to humans.

here is the sequence from the kitchen i call it.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

And here I drawn a green line around the figure so we get an idea of the height of these beings. And clipped the video so human and being shows up on same frame. Their heads goes about chest height.. And their hands goes lower than human hands.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

interesting.

I try cut them out a bit better and see if I can find a screenshot that shows where their butt goes compared to the human. Im serious. :D

[edit on 13-5-2007 by Ram]

Link to thread: ...thread282411/pg1

---

Florida is On Fire!!!

Created by: worldwatcher on May 9, flags: 12, replies: 58

I'm sure you have all heard about the wildfires in Georgia and Florida, both of which are causing smoke filled skies from Jacksonville to Miami, but this image from the department of forestry shows exactly how much fire activity is going on in Florida and why we need the rain, to not only end our drought but to also put out these fires.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

[edit on 5-9-2007 by worldwatcher]

Link to thread: ...thread281783/pg1

---

Teachers Stage Fake Gun Attack on Kids

Created by: shots on May 13, flags: 12, replies: 42

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

"Staff members of an elementary school staged a fictitious gun attack on students during a class trip, telling them it was not a drill as the children cried and hid under tables.

The mock attack Thursday night was intended as a learning experience and lasted five minutes during the weeklong trip to a state park, said Scales Elementary School Assistant Principal Don Bartch, who led the trip.

"We got together and discussed what we would have done in a real situation," he said

"(visit the link for the full news article)

[edit on 13-5-2007 by UM_Gazz]

Link to thread: <...thread282400/pg1>

---

UK Expands Surveillance!

Created by: kozmo on May 18, flags: 12, replies: 160

Can anyone in the UK tell me what the heck is going on!? You've got cameras everywhere - now they have microphones on them to catch your audio as well. Now this - (links removed, visit the thread for external references)

I don't know about you but in the U.S. one cannot be charged civilly for a criminal offence. In other words, here in the U.S. an actual HUMAN BEING employed as a police officer MUST witness your crime AND cite you personally in order for the charge to stick. The use of speeding cameras are being challenged in the courts and the FREE people are winning.

I am curious as to why UK citizens are allowing this to happen in their society? Who governs who? Where is the uprising from the citizenry demanding an end to this? Or is this is a welcomed event in your society? I'm not mocking; I genuinely want to understand why you have become the modern Orwellian 1984 Big Brother society and yet it appears to the outside world that there is a tacit acceptance of this? Please share your opinions as I am floored over these recent governmental transgressions against your freedoms. Thanks in advance.

Link to thread: <...thread283194/pg1>

---

ABC news uncovers "operation northwoods" and why IMO

Created by: cpdaman on May 29, flags: 12, replies: 37 for all of you not familiar with what Operation Northwoods means please read the story above. from what i can gather, there is a reason ABC news is starting to post story's that paint the American gov't and military in a Untrustworthy light.

this kind of information is being given to the sheeple now (it has been declassified for years) so they will feel less national pride and less resistance after the ecomic collapse to become part of the NAU (North American Union) . the media is Owned by

GLOBALISTS and ABC news is putting this out so people will quetion the US gov't and not mind an OVERHAUL of its Structure. IMO you can fool some of the people all the time, but you can't fool all the people all of the time i am eager to see if there is more anti- american gov't sentiment from the major news channels in order to reduce people's sentiment toward there own country and pave the way for the NAU. stay tuned

[edit on 29-5-2007 by cpdaman]

Link to thread: <...thread284686/pg1>

---

c2c Drone alien text deceiper

Created by: hiii\_98 on May 29, flags: 12, replies: 173

I setup this thread in an attempt to get other ATSers and font experts to attempt to try to deceiper or match up the "alien text" with known human text. I think the best way to prove or disprove the craft is to see if it comes from a human origion, and who knows once the font is discovered (that chad used?) then other answers may come from that as to what this hoax or real object is all about. So far I've concluded that the text is a mixture of chinese and korean fonts, but i have not devoted enough time to prove this theory yet. If anyone can start matching some of the font characters lets try to solve this mystery.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

[edit on 29-5-2007 by hiii_98]

Link to thread: <...thread284710/pg1>

What happens when you combine the brains behind
Oliver Stone's JFK movie and the Internet's largest and most popular conspiracy theory web site?

As author and reviewer Andy Lloyd says, you get the “Encyclopedia Conspiratoria!”

$19.95 in fine bookstores everywhere.

Visit the link below for more information, and to purchase online:

<http://www.abovetopsecret.com/abovetopsecret.html>