IMPORTANT: The content in this publication contains "opening posts" for discussion topics that often involve highly provocative theories on a wide range of subjects, and in most cases, have inspired hundreds of replies. Readers are urged to visit the entire discussion thread (via the provided links) for the "complete picture" on highly controversial or speculative topics, as follow-up discussion often refines, refutes, or improves the original opening post.

AboveTopSecret.com is the Internet's largest and most popular discussion board community dedicated to the intelligent exchange of ideas and debate on a wide range of "alternative topics" such as conspiracies, UFO's, paranormal, secret societies, political scandals, new world order, terrorism, and dozens of related topics with an impressive demographic mix of members.

With more than 140,000 members generating over 5 million posts of substance that cover more than 400,000 topics in 157 different discussion forums, you could say "the truth is in here."

The Motto: "Deny Ignorance"

More than a slogan and deeper than a mission statement, our members have embraced the motto of "Deny Ignorance" as our reason for being, demanding everyone who posts to aspire to a higher standard of participation. These simple two words have galvanized a broad membership base that spans the spectrum from highly speculative conspiracy writers to staunch skeptics. The result is a unique collaboration of diverse individuals rallying under this simple statement to learn from each other, discover new truths, and imagine new ideas that expand minds.

This motto has life. It has purpose. It demands ATS members to think.

It is a state of mind.

It is a sense of purpose.

It is a statement against the paradigm.

It is a rage against the mindless status-quo.

The idea of "deny ignorance" isn't a goal that ATS hopes to accomplish.
Instead, it's a challenge. A call to all those who come here to aspire to a higher state of awareness through informed discussion and debate.

Deny ignorance is what we do.

It's how we think. It's how we talk. It's how we listen.

Ignorance is the social disease of history that has clouded our minds and dulled our brains.

Is the evil that men do, the reason history repeats, and the cause of intolerance.

We deny it. it's not welcome here. Within these boundaries, it has no strength.

Here, ignorance is denied.

U.S. scientists unveil NASA's secrets about cities on the Moon and microbes on Mars

"The former manager of the Data and Photo Control Department at NASA's Lunar Receiving Laboratory during the manned Apollo Lunar Program, Ken Johnston, has released quite a number of sensational statements recently in the USA. The specialist said that U.S. astronauts found ancient ruins of artificial origin and a previously unknown technology to control gravitation when then landed on the Moon. Astronauts took pictures of the objects that they found, but NASA ordered Johnston to destroy the images. Johnston did not follow the order. He said that the U.S. government had been keeping this information a secret for 40 years.

Johnston's startling Apollo allegations have recently appeared in a new book, "Dark Mission: the Secret History of NASA," co-authored by former NASA consultant and CBS Science Advisor, Richard C. Hoagland and Mike Bara, an aerospace engineering consultant. According to Kay Ferrari, JPL Director of the SSA Program (in a phone call to Johnston last week), it was Johnston "being quoted [as] criticizing NASA in Hoagland's new book, 'Dark Mission,'" that prompted her to ask for Johnston's resignation from the SSA Program. When Johnston refused, citing First Amendment protections of free speech afforded all NASA employees, even those at JPL, Ferrari apparently decided to remove him arbitrarily from the SSA Program this week without cause. NASA Dismisses Former Apollo Photo and Data Manager from JPL Educational Program Missing Apollo Data to be Shown at National Press Conference

"Dr. Ken Johnston, former Manager of the Data and Photo Control Department at NASA's Lunar Receiving Laboratory during NASA's manned Apollo Lunar Program, was abruptly terminated Tuesday morning, October 23rd, from JPL's prestigious "Solar System Ambassador" (SSA) Program. All evidence of Dr. Johnston's exemplary 4-year participation in the NASA outreach effort to "communicate the importance of NASA aerospace programs to the public around the world" has been scrubbed from the official JPL SSA website, without formal notification of Dr. Johnston as to cause."

Dr. Johnston will present documentation of his claims, credentials and key role at NASA October 30th.

Enterprise Mission to Hold Press Briefing on Possible Connection Between Next Space Shuttle Discovery Mission and Classified NASA Findings, at the National Press Club on Tuesday, Oct. 30

"The subject: Why is NASA Determined to Launch Space Shuttle "Discovery" October 23rd, Despite NASA Engineering and Safety Center Warnings NOT to Launch? Has NASA Learned NOTHING from the Previous Schedule-Driven Disasters of Challenger and Columbia? Are Classified NASA Lunar Findings Secretly Pressuring the Aging Shuttle Program to Completion by 2010, to Make Way for "Constellation" -- and the New "Space Race" to the Moon?

Why this abrupt international focus on a 21st Century Moon Program -- after over 30 years of the Moon being totally ignored? Did Apollo find "something" of major importance on the Moon, which NASA just forgot to tell the rest of us? And is this somehow connected with NASA's inexplicable urgency to launch Discovery "on schedule," despite the safety issues? The October 30th NPC briefing will present startling answers to these major public policy questions - which could significantly affect the future of the VSE and NASA."

"TEAM ATS" Is in Roswell, New Mexico TODAY, 11/29/2007

Created by: Springer on November 29, flags: 135, replies: 658

I noticed the thread on the Rockefeller/ Carter attempt at "disclosure" and felt this was a good time to let interested Members know that "Team ATS" is in Roswell right now on a mission.

The fact Rockefeller and Carter couldn't get it done is not surprising since Jimmy Carter is reported to have told several people that when he tried to dig into the situation as PRESIDENT he was flatly denied and told that the President doesn't have the all powerful "need to know".

This is precisely why "Crakeur" and I are in Roswell (I am typing this post in a Roswell hotel room) to spend the day with Clifford Stone.

I don't believe any single person will ever effect disclosure, I believe it will take a huge groundswell of public opinion and demand. The only way to get that public demand is to get the MSM involved. The only way to get the MSM involved is to play the game by their rules.

Dr. Greer tried several years ago but went over the top, IMHO, with all the "aliens are among us now and we're all gonna die" stuff. That's all the MSM people heard, the very serious testimony and documentation was utterly ignored.

You see, it is my personal opinion that it's not the public who isn't ready, it's the MSM, the people who have careers and reputations on the line. No serious news person is going to risk their job and credibility on anything that can't be vetted. If you come off the blocks shouting the aliens are among us and the President is a reptile nobody is going to talk to you.

BUT...

If you come off the blocks with a series of documents, REAL, legit, papers from the very government we suspect is covering something up you have a solid shot at getting the attention of some VERY serious and very powerful MSM types.

If there is a genuine cover up and you can convince the average person that there is, you can initiate disclosure by civil pressure. Assuming you can avoid the concepts and topics that make the average person roll their eyes and switch the channel. Avoiding those but presenting the hard evidence. That being said, the hard evidence is very difficult to prove unless you really know what you are doing. Remember, if it's supposed to be covered up it starts on day two.

Taking Roswell as an example, suspending disbelief and assuming it was an alien craft that crashed there, the first day the "truth" got out, the second day the cover up started. That leaves you with a huge paper trail BUT those writing the papers, especially the classified stuff, were not going to use obvious language in the documents, i.e "The alien craft was shipped to Ohio". No, they would write something like "the debris was crated and shipped to Ohio" which is very vague and very easy to deny was anything more than a weather balloon.

The trick for the expert researcher is to keep digging, there should be a description of the debris in a separate report, or maybe a series of other documents that add providence to the first indicating just what the "debris" was.

The problem in the past has been the "over the top" bits are all anyone paid attention to and that feeds into the conspirators hands, again, assuming there are conspirators, in such an obvious way it's silly.

The concept we are going to employ will be to focus solely on the ascertainable facts that can be vetted. The facts that the average person could and would believe is possible. If the facts show there is a cover up and we stick exclusively to that and avoid the speculation of what else could be going on I think we stand a fair chance of at least getting some very big time media attention which will hopefully spread like wildfire.

If there are disinfo agents out there they won't be able to blow holes in documented facts and the MSM will be climbing over each other to get the story.

I guess the point is, we plan to present a sober, rational and very well documented case that completely avoids the wild eyed "there's an alien behind every bush" (pun intended :P) stuff that sends the MSM and the average person packing if Clifford has the documents we have been told he has.

That's another possible "issue" as well, what someone who has spent many years in the military, and many more years researching FOIA sees in a document set could be very different than what we would see, but that's why we're here in Roswell... to find that out. :)

I'll update this thread after our meetings with Clifford.

I just skimmed the front page and didn't see any threads about this, but if there is one already then go ahead and delete this.

Here's the video:

Definitely looks like they caught something very interesting here. I'd say from the looks of it that it is probably either a new military craft or an ET craft.

The Coming Revolution

Created by: flashstorminc on November 2, flags: 90, replies: 591

The time has come to reveal the events that will shape the near future so that all concerned are prepared for what is to come and so that the populations on planet Earth are sufficiently warned about changes that will affect their reality.

Back in the 1940s the governing forces on this planet were warned by certain parties not from this planet, to change the course of the direction they were headed in, so that the peoples of Earth could unanimously have a better and positive future. Not only did the governing forces of this planet ignore the issues that they were warned about, they irrationally reacted by interpreting this warning as a declaration of war. They then diverted all their attention to developing interstellar weapons and systems to prepare for an interstellar war. They also systematically developed highly advanced technology that would control the populations of the world in every area of life. The governing forces were helped by certain extra-terrestrial intelligences that supplied them with the specifics of technology that this civilization was in no way prepared for.

This technology was used with the specific intent of controlling the minds of every individual on the planet. As of now exotic technologies govern and monitor the civilizations on the planet. For example nanotechnology hundreds of years in advance of what is commonly recognized by scientists, is used to monitor every area of life in these civilizations. A massive electromagnetic net covers the entire globe which has many purposes but is used mainly to manipulate the consciousness en-mass of humans on the planet, specifically to prevent them from evolving psychically and spiritually to the degree that their DNA naturally would allow. Most of the electronic devices in every day use serve this purpose to some degree, and their basic origin is extra-terrestrial. You may have heard that the NSA monitors all emails and communications on the planet and flags certain phrases. What you may not know is that there are supercomputers that monitor every sub vocalized thought made by every human in your civilization, flags phrases and words and relays subliminal suggestions in response. Highly sophisticated holographic projectors and computer simulations hundreds of years in advance of what is used publicly, are used to project false images of the solar system and surrounding activity around the planet.

The governing forces created a group that has explored every planet in this solar system finding either living civilizations or the remnants of ancient ones. They have long since created fleets of star ships capable of travelling interstellar distances almost instantaneously and have visited and mapped many star systems using information and technology supplied to them by extra-terrestrials to which they allied themselves for a time. Many space stations and thousands of space craft equipped with exotic weapons are currently in orbit around the planet as a so called "Planetary defence shield". This infantile system has no other purpose except to inflate the egos of the "privileged" few who set it up. Those they wish to "defend" the planet from, simply go through it as if it wasn't there, and their own teleportation technology makes it utterly obsolete.(cont...)

An Occult Translation of the Roswell Event: Count Down to 2012

Created by: rapturas on November 23, flags: 87, replies: 137

I wasn't entirely sure where to put this as it covers a couple of topics but I thought it best suited this forum. I found this today on a Myspace page by an artist called Sick Since (so you would need a Myspace account to view this) and so thought I would share it here for discussion & opinions. There were images to go with this so I will add those up later as my connection is terribly slow. Either way, the below is an interesting read. Short version see post 7 below

"Mysteries are due to secrecy." Francis Bacon

No UFO conversation goes very long without mention of the Roswell event. It is the pre-eminent story of extraterrestrial folklore. Paradoxically, some say that what occurred near Roswell NM in July 1947 will never be entirely known. Others, like our own government, claim it was a simple case of misidentification... no mystery. But there is a mystery...and there is good reason to believe the truth was covered up.

On July 8th 1947 the headlines of Roswell Daily Record reported:

RAAF Captures Flying Saucer On Ranch in Roswell Region. The intelligence office of the 509th Bombardment group at Roswell Army Field announced at noon today, that the field has come into possession of a flying saucer.

The next day the Roswell headlines featured a retraction by the RAAF:

An examination by the army revealed last night that mysterious objects found on a lonely New Mexico ranch was a harmless high-altitude weather balloon - not a grounded flying disk.

Alien City On Mars? Check This Out!

Created by: mikesingh on November 8, flags: 85, replies: 663

Take a look at these images of the Hale Crater on Mars taken by Mars Express and sourced from ESA.

If you look carefully, you would probably notice the clear geometric shapes. Squares, rectangles, circles and diamond shaped structures. Can these be the result of natural geological formations, manifestations of volcanic activity, adverse pixilation effects on the images or are they artificial constructs? The resolution of these images is quite poor, and thus difficult to identify. But I think it looks suspiciously like the image of a Martian city!

Anyway, what do you suppose these geometric shapes could be?

Ron Paul wins 2nd YouTube/ CNN debate ..MSM pretends it never happened

Created by: muzzleflash on November 29, flags: 83, replies: 88

At the time i am posting this link, the current results show Ron Paul winning with 48% in this weeks huge cnn/youtube debate.

Read the #'s yourself.

Now, if you look all over CNN politics, you will notice they completely ignore this plain Fact. That ron paul won by a LANDSLIDE! lol

Its rediculous, they think "if we ignore him, he will go away". Im assuming thats their stance.

Now before anyone claims this is bullocks, ill refute you pre-emptively.

1) hackers.

Thats a load of bull and you know it, if anyone hacked the website, there would be EVIDENCE, not to mention the hacker would have placed a higher percentage for whomever he choose. Example : 90% + victory.

Anyways, we all know everyones IP got logged, otherwise why cant i vote twice from the same IP?

2) Internet crazies.

Internet ppl actually read and at least make a slight attempt to investigate things, the True crazy ppl are the ones that get ALL their "news" from TV.

3) Ron Paul has organized his supporters to go in force and "screw" these polls.

Look at it this way, even if this was an organized vote, it doesnt matter. None of the other canidates can organize like this. Wheres their votes? Exactly, barely anyone votes for them because they are "teh sux", to put it crudely . :up:

Just try and come up with an excuse to downplay this, because it can easily be refuted.

Ron Pauls the LANDSLIDE winner, easily.

SO why isnt CNN posting a story front page "ZOMG Ron Paul Wins!!!!11!!1"

He is suppost to be the "underdog nobody " canidate, but apparently even CNN viewers are overwhelmingly in favor of this man and his agenda.

Just look at the SAME style debate from several months ago. Check out these #'s. Read em and weep naysayers.

Dr Paul keeps on winning time after time. And the media keeps downplaying it, outright lying to pretend it doesnt count, and even just ignoring it alltogether.

The proof is in the #'s. Hes by far the Top choice according to the Polls. like i said "Landslide"

Also, another interesting tidbit. Did you notice how almost all of the "Youtube questions" posed to canidates appeared scripted?

Why? Because ALL OF THE questioners somehow were present at the debate!! How does that make sense???

If it was a REAL fair and balanced you tube debate, 90%+ of the questions asked , would have been by ppl who couldnt have possibly be PRESENT at the actual debate, if that makes any sense.

Yes theres a massive conspiracy. Its all too obvious. If Guiliani or Romney won these 2 debates in such LANDSLIDE #'s , it would be plastered all over the front page cuz its a BIG BIG DEAL!

But Ron Paul, the corporatists greatest enemy, Wins hands down. And they ignore it completely. Its disgusting.

Just thought you guys should see the #'s.

If any of those "other canidates" were worth a damn, they would have had far greater success in the Internet Polls. Im sorry but thats just the way things work. The other canidates suck horribly, and their poll numbers show that most everyone else agrees.

Ron Paul has almost 50% , you have heard the will of the random ppl who visit CNN (or went purely just to get coverage of the debate itself).

Even if you dislike Dr Paul, i highly suggest you post your vote on their right now. Vote for who YOU like. And lets see the #'s. Because these polls are always treated as "proof" by the MSM, except of course when the ppl's choice is their worst nightmare. Then they pretend the Poll was just a useless bias'd gauge that doesnt mean anything.

Well im SORry, this is a HUGE DEAL! and Dr Paul is kickin tail! We are talking 2nd round TKO here.

ATS Premium: The Real 9/11 Conspiracy, The Invention of Islamic Terrorism

Created by: NGC2736 on November 13, flags: 74, replies: 140

Introduction.

Let's forget all the silliness that has grown up around 9/11. Those wild eyed fairy tales of holograms and mini-nukes are not taken seriously by those of us with common sense. Some of us even wonder if these ridiculous ideas are being actively promoted as a smoke screen to keep everyone from taking a hard look at the reasons behind the attack. The powers that be love for the world to see these stories of ghost planes and Nostradamus and shapeshifting reptilians That way, anyone who speaks of 9/11 without piously standing shoulder to shoulder with this administration's policies and declarations on the matter can be wrote off as another nutcase.

It's downright unpopular to ask certain questions. Just to wonder if 9/11 was the result of US policies in the '80s and '90s can be a problem. Ron Paul said that it was "blow back", and he was immediately attacked as being unpatriotic. It is political suicide to ponder, out loud anyway, if the years of meddling in Islamic governments business resulted in them bring the fight home to American shores. But the question won't just go away, because a lot of people ask themselves if America played a role in the radicalization that portion of Islam that became Al Qaeda. Did America play Russian roulette with Islamic fundamentalists?

The Mudjahadeen Connection and the USSR's "Vietnam"

On July 3, 1979, President Jimmy Carters administration took a step towards ending the stalemate of the Cold War. A then secret directive was issued to funnel support to some anti-soviet "freedom fighters" in Afghanistan. It was all part of the game between the western powers and the old USSR. Just another move where pawns bled and died in proxy wars, as each side sought some advantage or the other. This time the idea was that America could use the growing civil unrest in Afghanistan to draw the Soviets into their own version of Vietnam. A war they couldn't win.

Western leaders felt safe in pushing a war half a world away. These "freedom fighters" could bait the Russian bear into open fighting, thereby draining the USSR of resources and the will to struggle. It would cost the Americans very little, and if it worked, the payoff would be a greatly weakened Soviet Union. It's doubtful that the planners of this venture were sure it would even work at all. But these were the days of the likes of Oliver North, and any plan was worth a shot.

Surprisingly, it worked like a charm. Before the year was out, the Russians came to Afghanistan to spread their form of Christmas cheer. The government in Kabul had been on the verge of losing control, and as a good client state, had invited the USSR to come and restore order. We may never know just how the CIA, America's chosen "front man" for this covert action, spent their money, but it's a pretty safe bet most of it went into destabilization of the Afghan government and causing civil unrest.

The US War Machine Playing Both Sides Against the Other

This was the start of an almost decade long war, and the CIA was hip deep in making sure it was a bloody one. Within weeks, then Secretary of Defense Harold Brown was dealing with China for weapons to be sent to Pakistan, and on to Afghanistan, to be used on Russian "peace keepers". To be sure that there was no shortage of arms, an additional $15 million was soon spent with Egypt for arms and ammunition, and ferried on US planes to the conflict.

We should take a moment to look at just who all these arms were being sent to. The group we were arming to the teeth in an effort to extract some "payback" for our own humiliation in Vietnam was a group calling themselves the mujahadeen. Taken as a whole, these "freedom fighters" were far from being upstanding citizens, by any stretch of the imagination. They were scarcely more than gangs, led by self-styled war lords. Gangs which for years had been fighting among themselves for control of the lucrative opium trade.

Mujahadeen translates into "holy warriors", a misnomer if ever there was one. While religion was a part of their overall life concept, it seems that money and power was as great a motivating force. Calling them holy warriors is like saying the L.A. gangs are Catholic Conservatives just because some of them wear crosses. A good example is is one well known leader of the time, Gulbuddin Hekmatyar. He was most widely known for throwing acid in the faces of women who refused to wear the veil, according to a report by Tim Weiner.

Historically, Afghanistan has been an isolated crossroads. Despite some modernization in the cities, it remains on a feudal level even today. In such an atmosphere religion too often is a tool of oppression and control. War lords use these kinds of tools to control their domain. The more brutal the slant taken by the clergy, the better the tool for the leaders. In such a setting, it is small wonder that Islam would be bent to use of these barbarians.

Radicalizing Islam for Strategic Benefit

But radical religion fit well with the goals of the US. Russia could be seen as a decadent society, and battling them could be seen as a holy work. Compared to the lifestyles of most people in Afghanistan, the Russians were too modern, too open, too evil. And with the money and guns that America supplied through the CIA, the power base of the war lords was growing. And as they grew, their ideas on what was right in a religious context grew. It was a vicious circle that America was feeding.

In a 1998 interview, Zhigniew Bresenski, one of the players of those days, spoke in an interview. He said, "What was more important in the world view of history?... A few stirred up Muslims or the liberation of Central Europe and an end to the Cold War?" Only a few short years later the WTC would fall at the hands of those same "stirred up Muslims". One has to wonder how he felt about it by that time.

The Plot Intensifies in The Reagan Years

During the Reagan years money and arms flowed like water. According to Ronald Spiers, then ambassador to Pakistan, the CIA sent a river of men and money, along with arms from China and Egypt, and even Iran. Assault rifles, land mines, antiaircraft guns, and grenade launchers; they sent anything and everything to keep the heat on the Russians. Pakistani General Mohammed Yousaf estimated that he saw over 10,000 tons of these items pass through Pakistan in 1983 alone.

And in March of 1985, the Reagan administration upped the ante some more by signing the National Security Decision Directive # 166,29. Now the CIA sent satellite data, even intercepted Soviet communications to the mujahadeen. America sent targeting devices for mortars, long range sniper rifles, and later even stinger antiaircraft rockets. And tons of the urban terrorists friend, C-4 plastic explosives.

It goes without saying that the US didn't just hand these over to a bunch of feudal barons barely out of the horse age without training them in how to get the biggest bang for the buck. While there isn't a much available information, logic assures us that there must have been a lot of training in the use of all these things. The CIA spooks surely spent time prepping this army of radical Islamic fundamentalists before aiming it at the Russian bear.

The US Created and Trained Radical Islamic Terrorists In their short-sighted desire to extract some "payback" from the USSR, America armed and trained an Islamic force, infused with a radical religious viewpoint, to fight, and win, a guerrilla war against a modern regular army that was much like our own army. The CIA would rather we thought that everything was aimed at military targets during this time, but there can be no doubt that some of these arms, and the training to use them, were used in assassinations and car bombings as well. The US could hardly avoid being in the terrorist training business.

Now every army needs recruits, and this one was no exception. Pakistan journalist Ahmed Rashid has said that in the decade between 1982 and 1992, some 35,000 Muslims, from over 40 countries, answered the call to join up. Thousands more poured in to the religious schools set up near Pakistan's western border. In all, over 100,000 radical Muslim extremists were culled from the from the world's most radical groups. Common sense tells us that the overwhelming majority were already committed to the fundamental ideology before they ever left home for the hinterlands of Afghanistan. Osama bin Laden was one of these recruits.

The CIA Connection to bin Laden and Al Qaeda Takes Shape

CIA officials steadfastly deny past knowledge of bin Laden, or at least of a paper trail. But in the trial of the Kenya embassy bombings evidence was shown that in at least 1989 he was the one they shipped a load of high powered rifles to. According to the Boston Globe, this was confirmed by the manufacturer of the weapons, a firm out of Tennessee. But a paper trail is hardly the point anyway. The CIA ran this operation, and bin Laden was on the team. Just because the Grand Wizard says he never saw some of the KKK members, it doesn't lessen his connection to them. The CIA produced this show, and bin Laden was in the chorus line.

Around 1988, Al Qaeda (The Base) was born. Then as now, it was a terrorist network led by CIA trained men like bin Laden. Men trained for war in Islamic fundamentalist religious schools in Pakistan. While the radical Islamic message was a wonderful bond for men facing the "godless communists", it was one that cunning leaders of the movement could aim at anyone. When the USSR tucked it's tale and headed north in 1989, an army of religious fanatics were left behind with no enemy worthy of their talents as a reason to go on.

The Weapon Turns on its Creator

It is small wonder that the better documented '90s saw Al Qaeda turn on the west, eventually declaring war in the only way they knew how, in the way they had been trained by the CIA to wage war. Without the USSR to fight, they needed some other high profile foe, and the "great Satan" of America was perfect for the role. Al Qaeda took control of the Taliban, those returning orphans of war that had been raised on bloodshed and Islam, justifying it's existence by finding a reason to attack the west.

Consolidating power, terrorist attacks against western targets went on the rise, reaching a crest with 9/11. By attacking America at home Al Qaeda showed the world that it was a power to be reckoned with. A well trained army, which these radical Muslims were and likely still are, is a danger to peace if they have no real ties to a home and hearth. A soldier without a war or a true home is like a mad dog.

Summary

In the final analysis, the western powers set themselves up for this war of terror. In a desire for revenge and an arrogance unworthy of our people, our leaders led us into an ambush just as surely as Custer led the 7th cavalry into one at Little Big Horn. We have yet to see if the piper has been paid in full.

Signs Of Alien Engineering On Mars?

Created by: mikesingh on November 21, flags: 60, replies: 138

What do we have here? Peculiar objects and formations that do not appear to be natural. Or perhaps the geology of Mars is such that it manifests itself in distinct patterns and objects as can be seen in the images below? Thought I'd share this with you. So here goes....

1. Strange Objects - Equally Spaced.

Here's an image of Mars taken from the Opportunity camera in Jan 07.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Opportunity Sol 1070

Courtesy: NASA/JPL

There are six objects you can clearly see that I've marked in red squares. They are all equi-distant! Can this be possible in nature? Are they just stones lying around, or are these artificial constructs? (There are more objects in a straight line in the original (links removed, visit the thread for external references) which I have cropped).

2. 'Craters' – Lined Up

This next image is a question mark. The exact location is unknown, but somewhere near 86.8°S, 341.3°W . This is an area termed 'Anomaly 502'. Note the 'craters' on the upper right of the image on the left. The B/W pic on the right is purportedly a radar contour image of the same area where one can clearly see the 'craters'. But they all seem equally spaced! Rare for a natural phenomenon!

3. Strange Parallel Furrows

These are in the form of parallel 'tracks' that run up the mountains from the valley floor, following the contours of the terrain in Candor Chasma. Though it's a 3-D overlay, it does not explain why these have formed. The image joint which is in a straight line is also clearly visible below the 'tracks'. So these 'furrows can't be the result of the joint.

Thanks to Undo for the source image from which I found the 'furrows'!

4. Trench / 'Canal System'

Here's a pic of the Cydonia region of Mars. Notice the parallel walled trench. Was it part of a canal system that is now in ruins? Probably a defunct hydro system?

Greer @ O.C. MUFON Presentation Nov 10: A ReCap/ Pics

Created by: Outrageo on November 11, flags: 57, replies: 136

Well, here's the way things transpired last night...

First off, I must say that I was pleasantly surprised with Greer's content and delivery. He's dropped all the "Gay Planets, levitation, and spaceship ride" banter, for this 2-hour talk at least, and spoke instead about continuing grass-roots disclosure efforts, international disclosure initiatives, and clandestine government reverse-engineering and alternative energy development projects.

Maybe he's taken a lot of heat for the L.A. "love-in" and recent $800 Greerstock Festivals in the mountains and deserts. Or it could be the relatively large, mostly conservative crowd in Orange County.

What I had assumed would be just a small, intimate gathering of UFO buffs assembled to listen to Greer was shattered when I pulled up nearly an hour early to try and snag a good seat and was greeted by 2 or 3 hundred people standing in line already in front of me. There was clearly a much bigger turnout than expected and they had to keep opening and expanding the hall to accommodate the continuous stream of people cramming into the large facility. My rough estimate puts attendance somewhere north of 1,000, with many sitting in aisles and standing along the walls. The photo below was taken while people were still pouring in.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Greer wore his trademark khakis and blue muscle shirt, and spoke a steady stream for two hours before taking another thirty minutes of Q & A. Some highlights of his talk included:

- * Negotiations with a G8 country regarding imminent full public disclosure of that country's UFO/Alien documents despite immense pressure from others to maintain the status quo of information suppression.

- * A contract made with an inventor's consortium to bring some new type of alternative electromagnetic energy to market with a time-frame in months.

- * A visit by Greer and a scientific team to a "secret location" on another continent where Greer and company physically examined Lilliputian Aliens (adults ~60cm, juveniles ~15-20cm).

- * Substantial political discussion regarding the "military/industrial/laboratory" complex, as he put it, and the way they are forcing the economic/political state of the world. He was particularly incensed at the "dozen or so" men who are really controlling everything, he says, especially on the global reliance on oil to maintain their money and power - even at the cost of millions of lives and trillions of dollars through wars, hunger, pollution, etc. - most of which Greer says has been unnecessary for 50 or 60 years.

- * Quite a few intriguing anecdotes and commentary regarding the "truth" as known to US Presidents from Truman onward, including the "meeting" Eisenhower had with Aliens, Kennedy's assassination "reasons", including the role played (or intended to be played) by Marilyn Monroe & JFK, Nixon - Watergate related to disclosure, Ford & Carter's "ultimatum", Reagan's "UN hints", Papa Bush/CIA, "W", Clinton - Greer left no stone unturned here. The drift was that most President's didn't know much, if anything, and when they tried to find out, were "visited" and told to shut up and back off or "end up like JFK".

- * Greer spent some time talking about the "Secret/Shadow Gov't" - the same one Sen. Inouye (D-HI) was 'dead-on' about - (own rules, own budget, answers to no one) that are really in place to do the bidding of the money/oil/power cabal.

- * He didn't do as much plugging of AERO as I expected, though he took the opportunity a few times to direct the audience to the (links removed, visit the thread for external references) to find out more about it - get involved ($?). Alternative/zero point/"borrowed" energy was a recurring theme in his talk, however.

* There was a new twist I haven't heard him expound on as much before regarding the "rising" of the people to force disclosure. He emphasized that the recent surveys showing 60%, 70% of the general public responding that they believe in extra-terrestrial life, UFO secrecy, etc., prove that there is enough of a majority now, a tide swell of interest and strong belief that will push for an achieve disclosure. Unlike years past, when believers were in a minority, Greer thinks that there are enough now, greater than 50% in any case, to tip disclosure into favor.

Unfortunately, IMO, Greer never cites the "studies" or "authorities" or "world leaders" or "secret government operatives" he is referencing other than to toss out a military rank, or just say "famous University", or "well-known official" - so it's still impossible to validate anything he is claiming. Tonight was no exception to that - though he did make his usual "it's just around the corner" tease. I think his credibility will increase once we start having real people and genuine documents/artifacts/evidence to review for ourselves. But that's just me - it seems the audience, for the most part, was soaking up every word and nodding affirmatively with every gesture. For the most part, the hall last night looked to me like a sea of bobble-head dolls gazing adoringly at Greer.

During the Q & A session, which ran well past the allotted time simply because Greer couldn't help using every question as an opportunity to further expound on all sorts of off-topic anecdotes -and because the line of people wanting to ask him something extended well toward the back of the large hall we were in.

When asked about Area51/Dulce/WPAFB, he said that many of those are a diversion from real facilities that currently house and experiment on vehicles/aliens and the like, some of which he has visited with "top secret personnel". He also said that he has many "friends and supporters" in governments and organizations around the world, many of which are starting to share with him (and him alone it seems) some amazing technologies.

He was asked about the May, 2001 Press Conference in D.C (the video we've all seen a bunch of times), and specifically when we will finally see the full disclosure of what these "hundreds" of witnesses have to reveal. His reply was that nearly all of it was available in his already published books and CD's - all of which were for sale in the corridor, and for which he will host a signing after the event, etc., etc., He especially directed people to his "Disclosure" book, saying seventy witness testimonies and accompanying evidence is found there. Some other witnesses, apparently, are waiting to be invited before congress to make their evidence public through the official channels.

Greer was questioned about crop circles (some are real, some aren't - but the real ones have a "message" we should all interpret and heed), about interstellar travel and communications (the travel is possible but problematic, "communication", however, is easier and nearly instantaneous), and about crashed discs (they "didn't crash" at all but rather were shot down").

He said the discs are made of a unique material that can "heal itself" up to a point, that "communicates" with the operator for maneuvering and operation, and that utilize zero-point electromagnetic propulsion systems, the knowledge of which, were it not suppressed, could easily power mankind on Earth and eliminate pollution and a host of other problems forever. He added that the intergalactic community "are just waiting" for humans to mature and evolve to this point before welcoming us.

He also said of the aliens that there are no hostile alien species, that there are many varieties, but that "the Grays" are merely a Hollywood manifestation designed to "scare" the public into fearing aliens, a disinformation campaign that continues today. When pressed on the Roswell "crash", Greer asked the audience if they really thought that a craft capable of traveling through space and operated by advanced beings could really arrive at their destination only to fumble and crash into the surface. He reiterated that they were shot down, and that...

...there has been a decades-old, very expensive (trillion$) program to weaponize space, and specifically designed to target vehicles that are penetrating the atmosphere. This program, according to Greer, was created and is maintained by the secret oligarchy so that their grip on the world economy (oil) is not threatened, among other reasons.

Greer also alluded to 9/11 as not having transpired as or because of what we have seen, but he was rather evasive on details, resorting instead to the implication that the story we have been spoon-fed is a "big lie". He seemed rather reluctant to talk about this - in my view uncharacteristically so.

In response to a question about political figures and the threats for disclosing or pressing for disclosure, Greer said that even he has started getting threats, and that he now has a security detail that is necessary to protect him. He did not elaborate on the threats.

One theme that kept resurfacing was Greer's many private meetings with powerful individuals in government and elsewhere in which many have expressed frustration in dealing with the tight lid that is clamped down on information. Some -heads of state, directors of intelligence agencies, wealthy industrialists, etc., have told him that all the money and all the power that they have brought to bear have not been able to pry the lid loose, much less off, of the secrecy surrounding this issue. Some have told him that they themselves have been told that they "have no need to know", that they should stick to their other work and forget about getting anything that would compromise the established security, and that they were told clearly to either "shut up or be shut up".

Refreshingly, Greer avoided a lot of the "New Age" stuff that he has been espousing lately, though he did hold up a small crystal sphere once or twice and explain how "communication" can occur via the clear orb. He also spent some time describing some of the equipment he takes on his mountain/desert sojourns and how he, his followers, and his "scientific team" have been able to summon "entities", have "experiences", witness "vectoring craft and beings", etc. I sure would like to see a picture or video of such an event one day – though Greer left us with the impression that though the lasers/rangefinders/scopes and other equipment was all very tangible and real, that the results these experiences bring were somehow manifested in unique, new "consciences" – in other words in your head. I may be wrong on this point, but it seems much of Greer's work, in this regard at least, is quite ethereal and can only be appreciated once you've reached some higher astral plane (?).

Well, I don't know about that – I haven't been to any of Greer's gatherings in the wilderness to experience such things for myself.

In conclusion then – Dr. Steven Greer certainly has some interesting things to say. I'm on the fence with much of it, give him credit for some of it, and think some of it is beyond my understanding. He certainly has increased awareness, and though some might argue he is giving Ufology a black eye, there is no denying he is packing halls wherever he goes. A typical local Mufon meeting may see a dozen or two attendees – last night there were clearly over a thousand. He's an eloquent, charismatic speaker, and is obviously passionate about what he is saying. How much of it is factual is something I guess the rest of us must wait to see.

Nevertheless, I have no doubt that there are SOME individuals on this Earth that are in possession of some secrets regarding UFOs/aliens and the like, and I would have to assume that at least some of these have revealed to Greer at least some of what they know. He has certainly attracted enough global attention for that.

For this privilege alone, I admit I envy the man. For he likely has already been made aware of secrets and truths that the rest of us are still starving for. Let's face it – even if just a small, tiny percentage of what he claims to know is in fact true, then we have all been collectively denied that truth for many years. And, in my opinion, we deserve to know that truth as well.

Famed NASA Astronaut confirms Extraterrestrials are Here

Created by: housegroove23 on November 15, flags: 47, replies: 127

Zorgon had found this wonderful news earlier today and posted it in one of the John Lear threads. I decided it would be best to create a new thread and share this great news with the rest of you. :)

Famed NASA Astronaut confirms Extraterrestrials are Here

Space Shuttle Columbia during STS-80 took a crew of five astronauts into a 17 day, 15 hour and 54 minute mission around the earth, the longest flight in the history of this vehicle. During this lengthy flight a very strange event occurred that even had crewman Dr. Story Musgrave unable to explain what he observed from the shuttle windows.

A large disc shaped object appeared below the Columbia. The shuttle was approximately, 190 Nautical miles high.

The disc was first observed to miraculously appear from out of nowhere, flying through the clouds below and progressing from right to left as the astronauts stared in utter amazement. The outer rim of the craft appeared to be rotating counter-clockwise. It was very large (compared to common space junk and breakaway ice), approximately 50 to 150 feet in diameter."

There seems to be more and more articles coming to light... I think we are in for a wave of disclosures and sighting reports...

"During an earlier interview, Dr. Musgrave stated he attempted to communicate with ET life forms during each of his six missions. He actually asked them to take him with them. Now that's an astronaut with a lot of courage. Dr. Musgrave retired after this flight from NASA. Since then he's been spreading his considered opinion that alien life exists. When Musgrave speaks of this, it's no great leap for one to assume he's admitting knowledge of alien life. As the final slide of a "Grey" ET was shown during a recent astronomy presentation by Dr. Musgrave, he made this surprising comment: "These guys are real... I guarantee it!" Dr. Musgrave does know the truth. This author guarantees it!"

The Dummies Guide to "No-Planer" theory

Created by: PepeLapew on November 2, flags: 40, replies: 183

Ok, before I start with 9/11 and the "No-Planer" theory I want to offer you some historical background.

The JFK assassination "conspiracy theories" versus the truth

Those who were behind the JFK assassination knew very well that many would ask questions about the assassination. They knew very well that some would question the lies that were passed off as truth in the media. So in order to obfuscate their investigations, send them into a wild goose chase and discredit them, false clues were planted into the events. Those deliberate false clues were planted to promote false "conspiracy theories". For example, Oswald had a Russian wife and he had spent some time in Russia. Oswald was picked as the patsy to promote "conspiracy theories" that the Russians were behind the assassination of JFK.

Then Jack Ruby, a man with connections to the mob was picked to kill Oswald. This was done to create yet another "conspiracy theory" with the idea that the mob was behind the assassination of JFK.

Then images of anti-Castro Cubans in Florida cheering the death of JFK were also planted into the news to promote another "conspiracy theory" - the idea that anti-Castro Cubans were behind the assassination of JFK.

Then more rumors were circulated about the possibility that Castro himself was behind the assassination of JFK. And more and more rumors were circulated, all intended to provide more "conspiracy theories" - it was the mob, it was the Communists, it was the South American drug lords, it was Castro, and so on

All these "conspiracy theories" were intended to be piled up on top of the truth. So now instead of one unified truth movement, there was a wildly divided bunch of "conspiracy theories" and everyone was sent researching on a wild goose chase. But the mob, the anti-Castros, the Communists, the drug lords, the Russians, and so on, none of these organizations would have had the power to prevent the truth of JFK from coming out for the past 40 years. None of these organizations would have had the power to corrupt the Warren commission.

But the goal was simple: to bury the truth under a ton of impossible, easily discredited "conspiracy theories".

The 9/11 "conspiracy theories" versus the truth.

Today, with 9/11 being a much more elaborate event than the assassination of JFK was, the planted false clues and the planted "conspiracy theories" would have to be much more subtle, complex and much more elaborate. Again, they knew ahead of time that many would question the events of 9/11. So even before 9/11, some false clues were planted to promote varying "conspiracy theories". Some of these "conspiracy theories" are promulgated by agents planted into the movement, some others are promulgated by innocent and well intended people who were fooled into accepting the false clues at face value without questioning common sense. I will not examine all of these false "conspiracy theories" here with you as it would take too long but I will address only one of them : The "No-Planer Conspiracy Theory" which was planted in the truth movement, not only to send us on a false track, but also to discredit the truth movement as it is a simply idiotic theory which should be dismissed on pure logic alone. But in order to express this pure logic I shall take you back to one of my childhood experiences.

The shed explosion

This was about 25 years ago during my teenage years back in Northern Quebec. I grew up in a "cottage country" with snowmobiling, hunting and fishy as common hobbies for all. So one evening, I was riding my snowmobile with a friend, I must have been 15-16 years old. We were riding on the frozen Lake Pressac when we saw a cottage in the distance that appeared to be going up in flame, so we set out to get closer and see for ourselves what was going on. By the time we got to near the burning cottage, the firefighting crew was already there with there hoses and along were maybe 15-20 other onlookers. Some of the onlookers were up on the road on the other side of the cottage while some were, like us, on the frozen lake riding their snowmobiles. We stuck around to witness the firefighting efforts, the firemen drilling a hole in the lake to get more water, the roof of the cottage slowly collapsing after a while and all that stuff. While the firemen made sure nobody was getting too close, we could see very well what was going on from a distance of maybe 50-80 feet away from the house.

But all of a sudden, after having been there for maybe 15-20 minutes, a shed about 25-30 feet away from the main house exploded. Well it didn't really per say explode, it was more of a sudden burst of fire. But right out of the blue, that shed was engulfed in flames and burning bright. Now, I don't know what caused that shed to catch fire like that - maybe a spark of flame traveled downwind to the shed, maybe there was some flammables stored up in the shed maybe someone had deliberately set fire to it and maybe it was intentional I just still don't know. But what is sure is that no snowmobile was driven into that shed. If a snowmobile had been driven into the shed, or if a missile of some sort had been thrown in there, there would have been a lot of people who were in the area who would have witnessed a snowmobile coming over and driving in, the noise of a snowmobile driving into it and also the tracks of a snowmobile leading to the shed.

There was at most 25-30 people there - at the most! If anyone had tried to claim that a snowmobile or a missile or a car had been impacted into the shed, there would have been at least 10-15 people, including my friend and I, who would have seen it and we would have rapidly exposed the snowmobile/missile/car lies.

Shirley MacLaine & Dave Rabbit Interview – ATS MIX Show 42

Created by: Dave Rabbit on November 16, flags: 40, replies: 74

What can you say about someone who is as gifted and talented as Shirley MacLaine? Actress, Author and a Believer? If you don't open your eyes and dig deep, you will miss the multiple layers of Shirley MacLaine and will allow her inner thoughts and inner strengths to completely pass you by. Shirley MacLaine has graciously accepted the invitation of the AboveTopSecret.Com family and will do a one on one interview with me, which will be recorded on Tuesday November 27, 2007 and will be ATS MIX Show 42, which will be published through our worldwide feeds on Friday November 30, 2007.

Go to Shirley's website, Google Shirley, do your Home Work, THEN come back here and POST YOUR QUESTIONS to Shirley. Shirley and her Publicist will be coming here through Monday, November 26th, 2007 and will select some of the AboveTopSecret.Com's member questions. Your ATS Name and Question will be aired and answered by Shirley. You don't have much time. The absolute cut-off for your questions is Midnight November 26th, 2007.

About Shirley MacLaine – In Her Own Words

I think we all choose the paths of our lives. I knew I wanted to be a "communicator" from the very beginning. So I communicated through fifty films, many TV and stage shows and ten books. For me the search for Truth is paramount... The truth of a character I'm playing, the truth of the subject matter I write about or the truth of why we are alive and how it relates to our destiny.

I see life as a creation each of us paints for ourselves. We do create our own reality in order to be aligned with our destiny

The search then becomes a search for self. It is the most important journey we will ever take. I hope my website will aid in your search.

I'm a Taurus, born April 24, 1934, in Richmond, Virginia, to Kathlyn MacLean Beaty and Ira O. Beaty. Mother, a drama teacher, set aside her dreams of being an actress to raise her family. Daddy was also an educator and expanded my horizons with his knowledge of psychology and philosophy. They instilled in me a strong work ethic, a standard I still try my best to achieve in all I do.

"My parents made me an investigator, a revolutionary." As a toddler I had weak ankles so Mother enrolled me in ballet class to strengthen my muscles. Ballet class really helped and about a year later I experienced my first live audience during a recital. I had on a little green costume, tripped on the curtain and fell down. That's when I got my first laugh and I liked it! From then on I wanted to perform. I was always an extrovert even though I suffered from stage fright. But then that work ethic would kick in and I knew the show had to go on.

I learned something else from them, too. They tried their best to provide fences of security and safety and place protective boundaries around my life. I couldn't stand the constraints so I learned, through their efforts, how to stretch those boundaries. My parents made me an investigator, a revolutionary, a person who wants to change because they made me jump that fence of safety.

On some level they knew I couldn't be harnessed. Mother was never a "stage mother". She never egged me on or slowed me down. I was strictly on my own. Daddy had more reservations. He wanted to protect me from the possible pain of not succeeding in my dream. He could see that I would never stop daring. And he seemed to understand that ironically he, in effect, was teaching me to dare because I saw that he was such a spectacular disappointment to himself for having never tried it.

After my junior year in high school, I went to New York to study. Auditions were being held for the revival of Oscar and Hammerstein's musical Oklahoma. I auditioned and got a part in the chorus. I knew immediately that I would be happier here than in a ballet company. I was certain I wanted musical comedy. I knew I would be good. I also knew that at 5'7" (over 6 foot on point) the only thing that I could partner with was a tree!

At the end of that summer I was offered a chance to tour with the show in Germany. Mother and Dad left the decision to me. I must have realized that I would have plenty more chances to be in show business, but only one crack at getting my high school diploma. I returned to Virginia to finish high school and continue on with my ballet training, but the lights of Broadway were in my eyes and I knew I would return.

Take Back AMERICA!

Created by: ADVISOR on November 9, flags: 38, replies: 76

This goes out to my fellow country men a woman. Together is how we can make any thing happen. See below, and more to come for details.

Take it back, from the privatization, out sourceing, non competitive contracting. Take it back for each other because the "U.S. of A." is a place Of The People, By The People, For The People.

Take back our employment, production and manufacturing. Take it all back. No more poisonous toys from china, no more cheap quality assurance, take back the American way. Buy American, keep money in America. The rich get richer and the poor stay poor, how many people will it take, before the majorities eye stay open, longer than a blink?

I can not quote this enough;

"Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.--

Amazing SOHO Photograph: UFO Formation Near The Sun!

Created by: mikesingh on November 30, flags: 37, replies: 104

Now things are starting to get better, what? Here's a photograph of a huge triangular shaped unidentified object in formation with other objects near the sun, taken by SOHO. There is also another spear shaped object at approx 10 O'clock of the triangular object.

Well. That's not all. The first image was taken on 5th Apr 2000 at 1106 hrs where the whole 'fleet' is visible. The second image was taken on taken on 6th Apr 200 at 1632 hrs where the 'fleet' seems to have dispersed, leaving the spear shaped object which is seen to be projecting something resembling a light beam. I'm not sure if that is a photographic glitch. I wonder if anyone can find the official SOHO image?

It is apparent that this particular image isn't cooked up or hoaxed. I've a couple of threads on what seem to be huge alien 'spaceships' in the Solar System, around Saturn and the Sun. This could be the smoking gun that corroborates what has been purportedly photographed by the Voyager and Cassini missions.

5th April 2000, 1106 hrs. Huge triangular shaped object surrounded in an almost perfect semi circle by smaller objects. Note the spear shaped object at 10 O'clock.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

6th April 2000, 1632 hrs. Triangular object moves away, leaving spear shaped object behind, which seems to shoot a beam.

Filtering the triangular object, this is what comes up - a clear geometric shape!

So, are we alone? After looking at these SOHO images, I think not! There does seem to be something out there!

The Rainbow Conspiracy - what is this picture?

Created by: spikedmilk on November 10, flags: 33, replies: 217

Sometime back I bought the Rainbow Conspiracy by Brad and Sherry Steiger. It actually turned out to be one of my favorite UFO reads. It had a few pictures in it but it had particular photograph in it that really could not be explained. When I bought the book, it was before I had full time access to the internet. So me doing a search for it didnt really happen. After awhile I forgot about it, but I did try did try later and came up nil. Perhaps, I wasnt searching correctly or there was still no updated information regarding the picture. Even before I set out to do this post I did a little search (google/ATS) and came up with nothing. I saw Steiger was discussed in some threads, but it mostly pertained to his study of Ghosts. I am putting this thread into Alien/UFO board because this book is in regards to UFO's. Maybe, I'm too late and this pic has been explained, but I'm hoping someone knows that answer or has heard something. Even some new speculation might be fun. When I look at the object, my first thought is either Stargate or $2.00 ride at the state fair (ya know that gyroscope thingy) - I know someone is gonna be thinking it. :D

My feeling is this is another Disclosure Project type event that will present unconfirmable evidence and testimony that will once again be ignored.

Why * I Disagree With John Lear * And YOU Should Too

Created by: Rockpuck on November 2, flags: 31, replies: 190

Been a long time since I commented on a John Lear thread. For a couple of reasons, most importantly the last time I was post banned for a few days, but also because Lear completely avoids confrontation... which in my personal opinion proves he is disingenuous.

Now, but quite honest if ANYONE said half the things HE says they would be banned for hoaxing.

John Lear, son of the man who made the Lear Jet. Perhaps that gave him the idea that he is important and that people would listen to him, who knows.

The thing is, he has all these contacts, NSA, NASA, CIA, HLS, ect, ect, ect .. very connected. But its is claims that give him away.

For instance.

soul collector on the moon. What a joke. Any pics? No. None. He has pics of rock formations he claims are mines, but to lazy apparently to capture the giant soul collector.

Ask him for proof... he insults you. Ask him to back up a claim, he deems you ignorant.

As I said, if I claimed to know sources to prove a giant soul collector (among many things) without proof I would be banned for a hoax.

I thought ATS denied ignorance, not embrace it.. so I ask, under what reasoning do his devout followers believe such bogas information?

And more importantly

Why, John Lear, do you not answer critics instead of ignoring or insulting your critics?

Sure, we could wait until we returned tomorrow to start looking into it but we figured you guys might know the answer or be able to answer it faster than either of us could. So, I'm offering 10,000 points to the first person to tell me which nation had the capability to launch the heaviest object into space in August 1967 and, more important, how much was the maximum launchable weight?

10,000 points to the first person to find the right answer (yes, I would like something to document it). FYI, there is mention of where we are and what we're doing so, if you can put two and two together, you can figure out how big this might be.

Discussion of contents of NIST Letter of Rejection

Created by: Valhall on November 2, flags: 27, replies: 32

I have decided to create this thread as a place to discuss the statements made by NIST in their letter of response to a request by some of the families of the 911 victims to release more information and to incorporate or make modifications to their analysis.

You may read NIST's letter here:

I would first like to list the problematic and concerning statements made by NIST in this letter:

First and most concerning, the report stated that the less severe damage models for the WTC impact/fire "did not meet two key observables: (1) no aircraft debris was calculated to exit the side opposite to impact and most of the debris was stopped prior to reaching this side, in contradiction to what was observed in photographs and videos of the impact event (see Section 7.10), and (2) the fire-structural and collapse initiation analyses of the damaged towers (NIST NCSTAR 1-6) indicated that the towers would not have collapsed had the less severe damage results been used."

The request of the families was basically that you can't not publish model results simply because the impact/fire damage alone didn't result in collapse....so please publish the less severe damage models. NIST's response to this was that the above quote from the report...

"...should have read, "The less severe damage case did not meet a key observable: no aircraft debris was calculated to exit the side opposite to impact and most of the debris was stopped prior to reaching that side, in contradiction to what was observed in photographs and videos of the impact event (see Section 7.10). NIST has issued an erratum to correct this error..."

So they removed their reasoning because their reasoning was challenged. This critical statement of the model selection process will be removed from the report.

Let's review what is left. NIST states that the other reason the less severe damage model was not published is because the debris did not exit the opposite side of the building and therefore did not create visible external damage in agreement with photographic and video evidence of the day, but in the first paragraph of response A they state:

"In the less severe damage case, while the damage to the exterior wall impacted by aircraft was in reasonable agreement with observable data, namely photographic evidence, agreement with other key observables was not achieved, in particular the shifting of building contents due to the aircraft impact."

Of course, immediately one sees an issue with this statement because no one knows of photographic or video evidence of the shifting of contents in the buildings. One is left to assume that NIST has no idea what that shifting was and therefore this is not a valid reason for rejection of the model, OR NIST has photographic and video evidence that has not been revealed to the public. Of course, one can also assume that if NIST is being honest in this statement then the greater damage model MET this content shift of which they have knowledge and since numerous eye witness accounts and first responder transmissions and depositions result in evidence of 20 foot marble slabs blown off the lobby level walls of WTC 1 and collapses in the sublevel of the building, we are left to assume these events did, in fact, occur in the more severe damage model. Right?

But they go on to say:

"While none of the damage scenarios resulted in landing gear debris exiting the opposite face of the WTC 1 model, NIST documents in NCSTAR 1-2, chapter 7, the uncertainties in the configuration of the building interior on the floors of impact that could influence the modeling results and also documents the aspects of the model construction that also influence the model results."

These statements are problematic to NIST in regards to the reason given for rejecting the request to publish the lesser damage model. First, if none of the models matched the video and photographic evidence they are reporting to be the benchmark for validation, then the reason given for rejecting the lesser damage model, that of not meeting this same evidence, can't discretely be applied to rejecting that model relative to the other models. In addition, if NIST is going to confess they don't even know the configuration of the building interior, how can they claim to have sufficient knowledge of the shifting of contents in the building to the point they can use it as a criteria for rejecting the lesser damage model?

In response E of this letter NIST responds to the families' request that the models be re-ran at the maximum temperature of 250 C (around 650 F) due to the fact NIST states in their report they found no evidence that any of the recovered core columns experienced temperatures in excess of 250 C. They reject the request to re-run the model at this lower temperature based on the disingenuous argument that just because they didn't find core columns that had experienced higher temperatures doesn't mean there weren't core columns that exceeded 250 C; that and the small number of specimens they tested was too small to be representative of the core column population.

Well, this point has been a point I have hammered on for 2 years now.

1. NIST if you didn't do enough specimen gathering and specimen testing then you robbed the US taxpayer...because you didn't do your job. Give us back our money and turn your engineering licenses in.
2. NIST if you state you did not find evidence of core columns being exposed to temperatures in excess of 250 C then you should not model with higher temperatures you have no test data to support. And you CAN'T reject the request to model at the temperature limit your data DOES support!

The last section of this letter has to do with the families' claim that NIST violated the Data Quality Act and the OMB/NIST Information Quality Standards because the NIST did not look at additional factors other than the plane impact and fire to fully investigate the possible scenarios leading to collapse.

I could regurgitate their bureaucratic backside-covering response, but it really doesn't matter at this point because they already admitted in the report they rejected any damage models in which the impact and the fire didn't result in the collapse of the building - but hurry and go read it in the report because as noted above, they are going to remove that statement now.

This thread will be dedicated to the discussion of the importance of the contents of this letter and the implications it could have going forward. In addition, if anyone has further points they would like to make about certain statements in the letter not covered in this post - feel free.

This thread will not be allowed to be derailed to another topic and I will make sure Springer stays involved to prevent that. You have been duly warned.

U.S. Constitution invalid for nearly 75 years

Created by: jackinthebox on November 19, flags: 27, replies: 59

On March 9, 1933 Congress granted President Franklin Delano Roosevelt his request of "Broad executive power to wage a war against the emergency as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe."

The emergency was a shortage of gold reserves (with the Great Depression underway.)

Vast un-Constitutional powers are granted by emergency power rules and remain in effect until the President declares the emergency over. (Property seizure, military deployment and martial law, travel restrictions and censorship etc. are granted without further Congressional approval.)

Neither FDR nor any of his successors have declared the emergency over.

In 1973 Senate report 92549 admitted, "Since 1933 the United States has been in a state of declared national emergency..."

Presidents Truman, Nixon, and George W. Bush have added further declarations.

These declarations must be annulled and the emergency declared over by the U.S. President for the Constitution to be effectively reinstated.

Movie of an Alien found in my C Directory on My Computer!

Created by: Palasheea on November 5, flags: 23, replies: 657

Before you read my post here, my only request is that you read it with an open mind and don't even think that the information presented here is fraudulent in any way, shape or form. What happened really happened and everything that I am saying here is completely true and I'm still trying to decide if I'm thrilled about that or not but please read on...

I found these 2 video's not too long ago inserted directly into my C directory. I never save any of my files directly into my C Directory but that's where they were found. I live alone and I'm the only person who uses this computer. These movie files were also labeled in a way that I never label my files... nor do I ever record and save avi movies, yet, these files were in avi format. But here's the bottom line, I DID NOT EVEN RECORD THESE MOVIES!! ... SOMEONE OR SOME-THING ELSE RECORDED THESE MOVIES but not I.

But before I continue, below is a screenshot of my C Directory showing where these video's were found. See ScreenCam avi files near the bottom of the below picture? Notice the time when each was recorded? One minute apart right? Right.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

As you can see in the image above, there are 2 movies. Each were only taken ONE minute apart. (read on to understand why I'm so amazed by this). One was of my leather recliner and another was also of my leather recliner but WITH SOMEONE IN IT (and someone was behind it too where its large ROUND head bopped up for a second and went back down -- but what in the world is it?? And who's sitting in my chair??).

I put them on some You Tube pages for anyone to view. The quality of the second movie is poor because they used no artificial lighting and closed the blinds too to keep out the daylight. But in the movie showing just the recliner, the blinds were open at that time allowing for a better quality recording.

Here is the movie showing only my leather recliner. The blinds were open at the time when this short movie was recorded which was only ONE minute before the second movie was recorded:

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

Here's the second movie (below) and as you can see, whom ever or what ever recorded this movie closed the blinds before recording it. 'They' used my old webcam to record these movies and when there's not enough lighting they turn out really grainy, like this one. Nevertheless, one can still see that something really weird is going on here where there seems to be 'someone' or something sitting in the chair where there also is SOMETHING, with a LARGE ROUND HEAD that bops up from behind the chair and then goes back down again!! Here's that movie taken ONE minute after the first one which showed only the chair...

(isit the thread to view linked videos)

Here's a slowed down version of this same movie:

At any rate, I'm just guessing on this but I think 'they' included a movie showing just the chair so that I would know that the second movie taken one minute later was also the chair too but with someone in it and someone or something behind it too.

Here are some frames from the movie (see link below). Once again, that second movie is poor in quality and so are these images but this is not National Geographic and I was not even going to present any of this information here in this forum because of the poor quality of that movie. But now several months have gone by and I've decided to show these movies just in case someone out there may find them interesting.

In my view, the being with the large round head is of special interest and looks... well... ALIEN.... sort of like the quintessential head of how greys have been described.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

The being that's sitting in the chair is interesting also and there's also another being to the left of it leaning on the chair with part of its arm showing. There are other interesting faces and so on ... some of these 'beings' seemed to morph into other kinds of 'beings'. I'm just using the word 'beings' in its general sense.

Traumatized by the September 11th attacks, one man struggles to dismantle official history, at the expense of his sanity and even his life. Grappling with multiple realities - and multiple personalities - he must retreat into his mind in pursuit of the truth. In a fictional film about non-fictional events, there is a place where belief and faith will blind you, where nothing is sacred, and to get there all you have to do is ask:

Healthy eating only for the rich?

I have seen statistics claiming that 17% of kids aged 2 to 19 years old were overweight.

And that 32% of adults were obese.

Could this be discrimination due to poverty?

The cost of eating healthy is enourmously disproportionate. Is this because the government is subsidizing the crappy foods, making them cheaper?

I came across this graph:

(visit the thread to view linked images)

"And corn subsidies in particular aren't just why meat is subsidized. It's why things like pop and other types of junk food are so much cheaper than healthy foods (think high-fructose corn syrup), which is also why poor people tend to be more obese, have higher incidences of diabetes, and so on.

Empty and unhealthy calories are just cheaper, and they're cheaper because the government straight-up subsidizes them."

This doesn't seem very fair. The people who cannot afford to eat healthy are stuck with disease and obesity because they cannot afford good food?

Does anyone else think this is disgusting?

Lest WE Forget

November 11th will soon be upon us. It's Remembrance Day here in Canada and Veterans Day south of the border. A day that we are asked to take time to remember and thank all the men and women who have fought and who have died in service to our countries. So in honor of that I want to take the time to say thank you.

Thank you to my Great Grandfather, who at 16 enlisted in the Canadian Army and fought in WW1. He was wounded in combat at the Battle of Ypres in April of 1915.

Thank you to my two Great Uncles, who fought in the invasion of Italy and who landed on Juno Beach, Normandy, June 6th 1944.

Thank you to my little brother, who served in Somalia, Bosnia, Eritrea, and Afghanistan. Who was part of the honor guard for the 60th anniversary of DDay in Normandy.

Thank you to all the veterans, past and present, who heralded the call to serve their country.

Thank you.

All though we have one official day a year to remember, we should take the time every day to thank the people of our Armed Forces. We may not agree with the operations they are on but we should respect them for their sacrifices.

""In Flanders Fields"

by: John McCrae

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:

To you from failing hands we throw

The torch; be yours to hold it high.

If ye break faith with us who die

We shall not sleep, though poppies grow

In Flanders fields."

Detailed Ufo case: Florence, Italy 1954

Created by: ImShrike on November 20, flags: 22, replies: 45
What happened in Italy in October 1954 has nothing to do with airplanes and meteors.

Newspapers at the time wrote that into the sky was as if a hypothetical staff of flying discs had decided to make its big maneuvers in Florence and Tuscany.

It was the year of great wave autumn that practically all interested peninsula and the recurrent theme cover of the Domenica del Corriere and Titles of the newspaper La Nazione.

According to chronicles are recorded repeated sightings of unidentified objects that seemed "to couples from different forms: as a wing white seagulls in flight, a drop of water, a hat Chinese; fast a few seconds of each other."

The witness is the most famous of journalist Batini author of a comprehensive article on The Nation, but the newspaper reported for a day following reports and related assumptions about the nature of the phenomenon.

LA NAZIONE + L'UNITA' 28/10/1954; UFO IN ITALIA II, 244

IL GIORNALE del MATTINO 24/11/1954; UFO IN ITALIA II, 330

MESSAGGERO + GAZZETTA PADANA + GAZZETTA del SUD + IL GAZZETTINO + altri 20/10/1954; UFO IN ITALIA II, 134

Two men, namely Gennaro Lucetti and Pietro Lastrucci stood on the balcony of a hotel located in St. Mark's Square of Venice, on October 27, 1954. The men suddenly saw two "shining spindles" flying across the sky. The objects left a fiery white trail as they zipped along. Both objects flew at high speed, one of them at some distance away from the other. Then the objects took a U-turn and flew away in the direction of Florence.

At Municipal Stadium was playing soccer between Fiorentina and Pistoiese. Among the players Fiorentina note Costagliola, Magnini, Cervato, Chiappella, Rosetta, Segato, Mariani, Gren, Virgili, Gratton, Bizzarri, Sarti, Capucci, Del Scratch, Scaramucci, Biagi, Orzan, Luna, Tassinari, Ghersetich, Buzzin, Vidal . For the Pistoiese Vadi, Pierallini, Vettori, Caiumi, Tuci, Lomi, Balsimelli, Lenci Carpinì, Vannucchi, Fossi.

Above the stage there was two mysterious flying objects. The match was interrupted; fans of the two teams, astonished, lifted his eyes to the sky to watch the evolution of the objects; Ferruccio Valcareggi also observed the scene along with players of the two teams.

Romulus Tuci, at the time of Pistoiese captain, said: "It was a beautiful day. At some point we noticed that the spectators looked in the air. Was spontaneous stop for us players. As I saw small rings away, what were not know really. short, we were among those who saw them and who does not, and there was also those who did not pay any attention, believing in who knows what. How long remained suspended the game, sincerely do not remember, passed fifty 'years, how do I say ten minutes, or more? But we watch all in the air. Fifty years ago, you think? "

The whole town had halted with the nose up to observe the evolution of the objects.

It was certainly not of collective hallucination; ten thousand people at the stadium, phone calls from all over the city and suburbs, Sesto, Peretola. All to describe objects in the sky and a strange snow of spiders' webs.

Mr Jacopozzi and other people in his company looked objects with binoculars and gathered the mysterious cotton-like. The comments would be revealed that the objects were shaped drop of water, others shaped hat Mandarin Chinese; proceeded at speeds high and were produced in complicated evolution.

ATS Premium: The Katrina Incident: Media Manipulation Masks Government Malfeasance.

Created by: xenya on November 18, flags: 22, replies: 43

Introduction

New Orleans, Louisiana is the location of one of the greatest disasters to occur in modern times. On August 29, 2005 a hurricane hit land and began its destructive movement north. The hurricane's official designation became 'Katrina,' and will be remembered as the most expensive natural disaster to occur in United States history at roughly 86 billion dollars. Whole island chains were obliterated, as evinced by satellite photography, and nearly 80% of New Orleans ultimately ended up flooded. [1] The meteorological nature of hurricane Katrina is but a small piece of what actually happened, however; the real disaster began after landfall. The political action, or inaction, by the government is viewed by a wide array of people as a chief failure of current executive power. Therefore, various failures in government reaction have been the main focus in the public consensus. However, the proactive quality of engaging in illegal activities by the government should be viewed with far greater scrutiny. Indeed, could it be that the media coverage was manipulated in such a way as to mask the true nature of government infringement on rights? These and other issues are of prime importance to this essay and will be supported by evidence from the public forum held at Chester University, October 23, 2007.

The Chester University Public Forum

In the opening sequences of the forum, a few issues seemed to dominate the discussion; chiefly, the notion of evidence through media coverage as factual or fictional. Although one of the speakers claimed that media sources are almost always right, scrutiny needs to be given to this subject. The media exists to provide people, some of which may have little or no direct contact with the covered event, with objective data reporting. However, media does tend to have an agenda.

Richard M. Cohen, former Senior Producer for CBS political news, illustrates this concept quite well when he reportedly stated that, "We are going to impose our agenda on the [media] coverage by dealing with issues and subjects that we choose to deal with." A universally unbiased media outlet seems to be something of a nonentity. Why were the Katrina survivors and "refugees" not considered as such, as a whole, but more so as separate groups; blacks, whites, looters, gang bangers, criminals, and survivalists.

Thereupon, an assortment of media providers were covering the event for the entire country, and world. Their stories, implications, and captions were powerful indeed. Unless one had physically experienced the events in New Orleans following hurricane Katrina, media was likely the exclusive source of information.

Racially Inflammatory Rumors Delivered as Fact

Forum member Larry Kesterson, staff photographer of the Philadelphia Inquirer, referenced the supposed rape of a six year old female in the Superdome as being entirely fabricated. The Superdome acted as a post disaster relocation and detainment center for New Orleans refugees; it is the apparent epicenter of several rumors of murder, robbery, assault, and rape, many of such claims remain unsubstantiated. These rumors became news as this information was recorded, synthesized, and then broadcast to millions of listeners worldwide. Therein, the margin for a substantial disparity existing between the factual occurrences of a besieged New Orleans and the reported news is rather large.

What might the motives behind the rumor propagation and falsification of stories be? One unidentified student attending the forum asked the following question of the forum's leaders, "Why do you feel the abuses of civil rights were so underreported; rights such as protection from illegal search and seizure, and the right to keep and bear arms?" Indeed, this raises questions. Why was there so much emphasis on highlighting the dangers of looting and the obvious roles of the various classes and races of the refugees? According to musician Kanye West, "You see a black family, it says, 'They're looting.' You see a white family, it says, 'They're looking for food.'" This quote illustrates the quality of the situation, wherein various roles and designations were given to certain groups of "refugees" by the media.

Few people seem to have noticed, immediately anyway, the broad scope of what the government accomplished in this time. While the media seems to have been focused on the relief effort in general and various criminal activities, the government was carrying out broad sweeping violations of the Bill of Rights.

Abuse of Power by Government Representatives

There are numerous reports of blatant disregard for the 2nd amendment through illegal gun confiscation. Deputy Chief Warren Riley publicly announced that "No one will be able to be armed. We are going to take all the weapons." In one dramatic incident Patty Konie, an elderly but well stocked and prepared civilian homeowner, was attacked by heavily armed police for possessing a pistol. Furthermore, Patty Konie was not in the immediate disaster zone and her life was not in danger. A substantiation for confiscation of her weapon remains unseen.

In ABC World News coverage, Konie goes on to explain how the police, "punched [her] in the face" and she ultimately believed that, "...they were going to kill me." [2] In addition to the 2nd amendment, the 4th amendment was simultaneously violated by the seizure of her property (pistol) and the search of her home. In the same report, Robert Zas, a civilian firearm owner, claims that the police seized his legal firearms and promptly destroyed them on the spot following an illegal search of his vehicle. The abuse of power by the government is incongruent with the with any legal method for seizing one's property or revoking the right to keep and bear arms, these were law abiding and peaceable citizens, not criminals.

An Opportunity for Treachery

The obvious and gross abuses of inalienable Constitutional rights of citizens may represent phase 1 of the government's denial of civil liberty. Race issues were well documented by media as well, and may represent another facet of the government's treachery. The assertion has been made repeatedly that the failure of the government to respond to refugees was due to race related issues. Institutional racism, as mentioned by Annette John-Hall who works as the metro columnist for the Philadelphia Inquirer, is defined as a step beyond individual racism where racism exists as policy or de facto norm. However, it does not appear as though racism can directly be associated with the improper action of FEMA and the government in general.

The issues at hand with the incident of Katrina deal with everyone, people of all races, and they represent a gross violation of civil rights as delegated by the US Constitution. Racism does exist in the United States, perhaps even on an institutional level through biased and politically motivated reports as noted earlier by Kanye West. Yet Katrina represents a far more universal attack on rights, people of all races have been affected.

Government Hired Private "Security" Forces As A Means Around Posse Comitatus

Of a more frightening nature, however, is the use of force by private entities. Why are there reports of private property owners being allowed to defend their stake with weapons? Journalist Jeremy Scahill rights:

"As business leaders and government officials talk openly of changing the demographics of what was one of the most culturally vibrant of America's cities, mercenaries from companies like DynCorp, Intercon, American Security Group, Blackhawk, Wackenhut and an Israeli company called Instinctive Shooting International (ISI) are fanning out to guard private businesses and homes, as well as government projects and institutions. Within two weeks of the hurricane, the number of private security companies registered in Louisiana jumped from 185 to 235. Some, like Blackwater, are under federal contract. Others have been hired by the wealthy elite, like F. Patrick Quinn III, who brought in private security to guard his $3 million private estate and his luxury hotels, which are under consideration for a lucrative federal contract to house FEMA workers." [3]

Thus, individual citizens were disarmed leaving them subject to the whim of criminals, who by definition do not subscribe to the rule of law, and mercenaries, some of whom had recently been deployed to Iraq for combat. The Posse Comitatus act forbids the use of US troops to police citizens or to be used as law enforcement. Using mercenaries may be a way around this regulation without having to declare martial law.

The Media Distortions Masked Wide-Spread Rights Violations

This has all happened within the United States. Civilians have been killed by mercenaries, police have murdered civilians, and one must let the unreported or undocumented incidences speak for themselves. [4] Lawlessness and a breakdown in society has occurred before in the 1992 Los Angeles riots, it occurred in New Orleans in 2005, and the threat of it happening anywhere in the United States again is very real. It seems clear that in times of emergency the prevailing ideology is to look to government for safety and sustenance, this mindset must be challenged. Violations of humans rights go virtually unchallenged unless a stable system of government exists to prosecute those infractions of the law; however, this is taking into consideration that a stable government will at some point restore the rule of law and order. If such a disaster were to be extrapolated to account for a multi-city disaster situation, the blatant violations seen in Katrina would return with ruthless similarity. The chances of further meteorological disasters in cities on the eastern seaboard does not seem obvious as yet; however, the events of the hurricane Katrina disaster produced a critical lesson for those meaning to survive in the 21st century.

-survival is self proclaimed and not assured-

"WASHINGTON (AP) -- Yellowstone National Park, once the site of a giant volcano, has begun swelling up, possibly because molten rock is accumulating beneath the surface, scientists report.

Yellowstone's Great Fountain Basin spews in file photograph provided by the National Parks Service.

But, "there is no evidence of an imminent volcanic eruption," said Robert B. Smith, a professor of geophysics at the University of Utah.

Many giant volcanic craters around the world go up and down over decades without erupting, he said.

Smith and colleagues report in Friday's issue of the journal Science that the flow of the ancient Yellowstone crater has been moving upward almost 3 inches per year for the past three years.

That is more than three times faster than ever observed since such measurements began in 1923, the researchers said.

FOIA: White Sands Missile Expert Sees Flying Saucer

Incident #90 Between Las Cruces, NM: White Sands V-2 Firing Range

Interview with White Sands missile scientist who saw a "flying saucer" over the V-2 test range, and reported it to local media.

Document date: 1947-06-29

Department: Naval Research Laboratory

Author: Naval Research Laboratory

Document type: report

pages: 14

Archivist's Notes: The document includes newspaper clippings of the missile expert's eye-witness account of a flying saucer over the Naval Research Laboratory missile range. The expert, Dr. C. J. Zohn, who was in the area to participate in secret tests, indicated he saw the saucer four days before the scheduled testing activity at White sands.

This one is really interesting. Apparently a missile expert summoned by the Navy to participate in testing the V-2 at White Sands saw a "flying saucer" a few days before testing began. He reported it to local media, and then the official cover-up began.

I suppose someone called in by the Navy to participate in testing missiles would have a pretty good idea of what he's looking at in the sky.

The forces are here to break our bonds with the Draco (Lizard Race) or Orion Syndicate who have been here on this planet in force enslaving us through corrupted Government officials by various methods.

J.Cazbolt also talks about advanced technology our Govt has that can be added to telescopes to view these ships. Stating Jose E. who photographs rods also have pics of these ships. Its total discloser and why arent we talking about it?

Anyone else aware of this war?

Has anyone heard about our Mars colonies being eliminated? Called Adam and Eve? 300,000 humans lost to the Draco.

U.S. Supreme Court Takes Up Gun-Rights Case

It's the first time since 1939 that the justices will confront the Constitution's right to bear arms.

Analysts are calling it political dynamite.

The potential landmark case is the first time since 1939 that the Supreme Court will confront whether the Second Amendment protects an individual's right of gun ownership or merely a collective right to keep and bear arms while serving in a state militia.

The answer is important because it could set the ground rules for gun-control laws across the country. If the right to keep and bear arms is an individual right, it will limit government efforts to restrict the prevalence of guns among law-abiding citizens. Gun-control efforts would have to be reasonably related to a government interest, and entire categories of firearms – like handguns – could not be banned. "(visit the link for the full news article)

After listening too some of the interviews he has done in the interview section apperently by 2009 the US will not have a president?

and in APRIL 2008 sees the opening of the Seventh Seal of Revelation as stated in the Bible (The Great Tribulation) where it starts with a massive attack on the US and Other Countrys which will lead too WW3.

This then leads too the last three and half years of the great tribulation period and Christ return in fall 2011... KINDA WEIRD HOW IT ALL ENDS BY 2012? IN 2012 onward Gods Kingdom will supposbly Governing the Earth and will be Gods Time Too Rule.

"2008 - God's Final Witness

From now until the latter part of 2008, many prophecies are going to begin to be fulfilled, especially the Seven Thunders of the Book of Revelation, which the apostle John saw but was restricted from recording. Those thunders are revealed in this book, as well as detailed accounts of the final three and one-half years of man's self-rule on earth, which are recorded in the account of the Seventh Seal of Revelation.

Some of these prophecies concern the demise of the United States over the next year, which will be followed by man's final world war. This last war will be the result of clashing religions and the governments they sway. Billions will die! This time will far exceed even the very worst times in all human history.

As these events unfold, the world will increasingly become aware of the authenticity of the words in this book and realize that Ronald Weinland has been sent by God as His end-time prophet.

This book is primarily directed to the people of the three major religions of the world (Islam, Judaism and Christianity), whose roots are in the God of Abraham. Ronald Weinland has been sent to all three.(links removed, visit the thread for external references)"

Holmes Related Prediction (Crop Circle)

Created by: tunin on November 14, flags: 20, replies: 74

Ok, I'm not much into predictions, but this one caught my attention:

Teaser:

"English crop pictures have always concerned themselves with various aspects of astronomy in our solar system. That makes perfect sense, if such messages are being sent to us across vast spans of time, from another human-like culture who lived on Earth in the distant past. What else would two such disparate cultures such as theirs and ours (who might not share a common written or spoken language) have in common, except for science, mathematics or astronomy?

For example, crop pictures from the year 1994 showed many schematic diagrams concerning the impact of Comet Shoemaker-Levy on planet Jupiter (see Kris Sherwood, or www.cropcircleconnector.com/anasazi/longwoodwarren2007.html). In the latter case, news about break-up that comet appeared in English fields three months before professional astronomers on Earth learned of the same event.

www.cropcircleconnector.com/Millennium/scorpiushour.html). Likewise, crop pictures from the year 1995 showed the unexpected outburst and break-up of Comet 73P Schwassman-Wachmann near Earth (see www.cropcircleconnector.com/anasazi/longwoodwarren2006.html

Continues..."

Original article:

I'm not saying this is true, as predictions come and go we barely pay attention to them anymore (at least me), but I can't deny it's surprising to see crop circles predicting something of this magnitude.

And so far, nothing on the media.. yet.

As always, we shall wait and see what happens the next week.

They have successfully created a solar coating that is the most cost-efficient solar energy source ever. Their PowerSheet cells contrast the current solar technology systems by reducing the cost of production from $3 a watt to a mere 30 cents per watt. This makes, for the first time in history, solar power cheaper than burning coal."(visit the link for the full news article)

Demon Dog in Photograph

Created by: Osiris1953 on November 5, flags: 18, replies: 264

This is a very odd photograph/video that was being discussed on the radio on the way home from work. I figured I'd check it out. I'm really not sure what to make of it, so maybe we can get some opinions. It seems to clear and perfect to be real, but at the same time, who knows? Everyone else there at the time says that there was no dog around, but there it is and angry looking dog over the guys shoulder. It's also being reported by a fox news affiliate and we know how that can go. Anyhow, take a look.

The dollar's decline: from symbol of hegemony to shunned currency

"The decline of the dollar, symbol of US global hegemony for the best part of a century, may have become so entrenched that some experts now fear it is irreversible.

"An American businessman over here who is given the choice would take anything but the dollar," David Buik of Cantor Index said yesterday. "I would want to be paid in yen, and if not yen then the euro or sterling.

Korea's central bank has urged shipbuilders to issue invoices in the local currency and take precautions against the weakened dollar, and three of the world's big oil exporters, Iran, Venezuela, and Russia, are demanding payment in euros rather than dollars. Iran insisted that Japan should make all its payments for oil in yen, rather than dollars.

JFK killed for $5 billion ???

Created by: jackinthebox on November 25, flags: 18, replies: 36

I found this in "Secrets and Lies" by David Southwell.

"In 1963, President Kennedy signed Executive Order No. 11210 which issued $5 billion of currency directly from the US mint and bypassed the Fed. These notes could be redeemed for silver and gold. However, after Kennedy's assassination, President Johnson recalled these notes...The shocking truth is all notes issued since 1964 are no longer exchangeable for gold, silver or lawful money; they are all illegal under the Constitution."

Could the assassination really have been motivated to carry out a $5 bil heist, then covered up in counterfeit notes? Is all our money counterfeit? I'll add some more to this later, but I had to get this out as soon as I read it. Seems a highly plausible motive, and one I've never heard before though I do have some doubts.

Astounding Moon Footage! Did NASA Want You To See This?

Created by: mikesingh on November 26, flags: 18, replies: 159

Frankly, I really don't know what to make of this! NASA footage of the Moon that shows something like smoke emanating from a smokestack/chimney! This is probably the result of a glitch in the camera or processing anomaly.

Have a look...

"The August, 2003 issue of Electric Space Craft, a scientific journal, contains an amazing series of images taken from NASA footage included in the TV program, NOVA: To the Moon. The significance of the images has only recently been noticed.

As Apollo 8 orbited 70 miles above the lunar surface, with Earth in the background, it filmed the ground below. At one point, a small, black object, tall and cylindrical, appears jutting from the moon. Just as the camera is about to pass by, the strange object clearly releases a jet-like cloud. It looks like a smokestack ejecting a puff of smoke. The cloud drifts to the right and then dissipates."

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Still from the animated gif below. Note the object toward the bottom center.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Assembled animated gif from footage.

Courtesy: L.E.M.U.R Paranormal Investigations.

Considering the height it was taken from, it must be thousands of feet tall! Heck! What if it cannot be explained? Could it then imply an Alien presence on the Moon?

"In 2006, L.E.M.U.R. learned from a NASA affiliate (whose connection to NASA was independently confirmed) that top NASA officials privately claim this footage is indeed legitimate. However, certain aspects related to this footage are highly classified, and the matter is under investigation."

Who these so-called 'top' NASA officials are, we may never know. And therefore, credibility may have taken a beating here! But then, what if it is legit?

Cheers! :D

Ref:

[Edit to add:]

I would also like to mention the very idea of a 'tower' or a 'smoke stack' on the Moon is considered way beyond credibility. I wouldn't go that far. Because there's something that does resemble what is seen in the animation above, but much clearer.

Take a peek at this image by Apollo 16 which I have posted later and thought of reproducing here:

This is not exactly a conspiracy as such... It is not even 'breaking news' though its not old news... I checked the search and did not see anything specific about it covered...

The topic is related to another recent thread, but I felt it wise to separate the issue as it will lead in different directions...

It began with this post by a new member... (I am sure it was half joking, but carried a message)

"Originally posted by SpaceMax

Thanks for the welcome, and the kind words.

Job specifics? In the same thread where the phrase "Ken Johnston Treatment" was coined?

Um....no.

You'll have to wait for my Book, DVD and lecture tour. (It'll be waaay better, in 3D AND Sensurround, and maybe even partial nudity) And yeah, it'll cost more than $150 too, production values like that aren't cheap. And when I breathlessly tell you the REAL truth about the 2 dimensional "thing" that Air Force Brigadier General Pete Worden kept in his underground office at DARPA....rest assured you WILL diaperdrive across the continent to give me your credit card and pin numbers.

But today, I'm happily employed. (though not at JSC) So back to the moon..."

Well in all honesty I had heard little about General Pete Worden, though I admit I should have looked further before...

If ever there existed ONE PERSON that could answer all our questions about what is really going on, my money would be on this man...

I will highlight in bold all the key posts that have to do with the whole Space Conspiracy issues that we have come across... this man has been through them all...

So bear with me a moment... this will take several posts...

Dr. S. Pete Worden (Brig. Gen., USAF, ret.) is the new NASA Ames Research Center Director. Prior to becoming Director, Dr. Worden was a Research Professor of Astronomy, Optical Sciences and Planetary Sciences at the University of Arizona where his primary research direction was the development of large space optics for national security and scientific purposes and near-earth asteroids. Additionally he worked on topics related to space exploration and solar-type activity in nearby stars. He is a recognized expert on space issues—both civil and military. Dr. Worden has authored or co-authored more than 150 scientific technical papers in astrophysics, space sciences, and strategic studies. Moreover, he served as a scientific co-investigator for two NASA space science missions."

(links removed, visit the thread for external references)

In addition to his former position with the University of Arizona, Dr. Worden served as a consultant to the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) on space-related issues. During the 2004 Congressional Session Dr. Worden worked as a Congressional Fellow with the Office of Senator Sam Brownback (R-KS), where he served as Senator Brownback's chief advisor on NASA and space issues. Dr. Worden retired in 2004 after 29 years of active service in the United States Air Force. His final position was Director of Development and Transformation, Space and Missile Systems Center, Air Force Space Command, Los Angeles Air Force Base, CA.

In this position he was responsible for developing new directions for Air Force Space Command programs and was instrumental in initiating a major Responsive Space Program designed to produce space systems and launchers capable of tailored military effects on timescales of hours.

Amazing Photo's of S.F UFO Seen Last Summer

Check out this news site!

It shows photographs of a UFO seen over S.F back in July of this year and the images are STUNNING!

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Below is a section of an interview of the person who captured those photo's seen on the above link and it's amazing that considering the size and how clear the UFO is seen in those photo's, he didn't see anything up there at the time when he took them!

"An Interview with The Photographer

TB: Did you see anything at the time the shots were taken, or did you only see them when you looked at the shots later?

I noticed nothing that I thought was abnormal. I did, however, take note of very strong winds. Keep in mind I had just driven straight across the country for 3 days from Amherst, NY. So nothing would have seemed too out-of-the ordinary. I only noticed the objects in the pictures upon reviewing my 2,000 or so photographs from the trip at work one week and several days later. The lighting that can be seen on the water, was certainly not visible to me at my time on the dock. I was peering out over the water, shooting direct shots of the landscape just beyond the water. I was basically staring at the water during the time I took these shots. None of the objects or lights in the picture were visible to me. Nothing was of any alarm.

TB: Was there any noise?

Any noise would have been obscured by wind. We were on the bay and it was a very windy night.

TB: How close was it?

I knew of no object at time the photographs were taken."

I was abducted last night!!

OMG OMG OMG I was ABDUCTED last night no joke! I was not afraid at all however.....I was like..."hmmm so THIS is what everybody is going on about WHOOPIE!!!"

I was asleep in a really enjoyable dream, and then I felt the 'pull of going out of body' so I came right awake, as I know this 'feeling' really well... I was OOBE and in a beam of light in my bedroom floating above my bed, stiff as a board! slowly moving up.....

I was being floated slowly straight up to the ceiling I was laying horizontal as if still laying in bed but I was totally frozen and could not move anything but my eyes!!! I remember CLEARLY!!! I was not afraid....

...I was thinking ..."WOW so abductions are not ALL just physical..... they DO take people via OOBE as I have read about, how interesting!! I wonder if I get to see the aliens?? HOW EXCITING!! Oh YAY I am SO GLAD they choose me!!!"

I slowly rose to my ceiling and through it (all that going through the layers of building material thing, where you can smell it and taste it) and out of the roof and then BLAM this is where all my memories end.....nuttin more. Complete blankness, not even of coming back..... I slept extra long this a.m and now I am up and straight here to type. Im not dressed nor have I looked in a mirror, but I DO have a cup of coffee.....

I can't tell anybody about this but you ATS folks.....as I have allot of books on the UFO subject and like to watch shows about it.....I post in the UFO forum. Nobody would believe me if I told them...they would all be likeya right:@@:

I did not get to see any ship or any aliens, as they blacked out my memory...

But I know this happened.

I kinda hope it happens again, as I would like to meet other beings.

I want to be able to remember...

I put all this in a post on my big OOBE thread....

...but have decided it warrants a thread of its very ow, as it was clearly an abduction event and belongs in the UFO forum.....so here it is for you all....

Alien Telepathy- Type 3 Telephone System

Created by: Scramjet76 on November 1, flags: 15, replies: 26

Many of you are aware of the first proposed by the Soviet astronomer Nikolai Kardashev. Basically, the scale is a logarithmic time table for how quicky a civilization will advance based on it's energy consumption/needs.

One proponent of this theory is Dr. Michio Kaku- a theoretical physicist, author, and professor at City College of New York. For those of you who get BBC, there will be a (links removed, visit the thread for external references) (with Dr. Kaku) documenting the possibilities of tomorrow. It starts Monday November 5, 2007.

Dr. Kaku talks of searching for ET using methods derived from the Kardashev Scale. He notes that our own civilization would currently be considered a "type 0," but predicts that we will reach "type 1" within 100 years. According to Kaku our civilization is already beginning to show signs of a type 1 (planetary) civilization including a dominant language and culture.

"What is the internet?" Kaku asks. Basically it's a "type 1 telephone system." It's easy to dismiss the professor as having too many superstrings in his brain, but before one does this you have to ask yourself: What is a telephone system?

Basically a telephone system is merely an update to our communications abilities. We distanced ourselves long ago from the rest of the animal kingdom when languages emerged. A telephone system is a communications update made possible by our advancement in our understanding of nature.

The internet is the "the next update" in my opinion. It offers the same benefits of the telephone + much extras. Today I can get online with another individual and instead of using an archaic language to describe a situation, I can send them an image or a video. How much better is that than the telephones of the past? Obviously much better.

Now when we hear reports about interaction with aliens we ask, "how do they communicate?" The answer is always telepathy. You hear people say that they are able to understand the aliens, but that the aliens don't speak english. It's often described as "hearing a voice in my head but not exactly." Or people say they can "see images in their mind" which convey the message the aliens are trying to communicate. You know what that sounds like to me if I was going to guess? It sounds like a beefy communications update.. perhaps a type 3 telephone system.

Today we hear ideas of merging carbon and silicon all the time. "Computers are the future" is something everyone is familiar with. People write books about it. We make movies about it. On some level we all know it's true, yet difficult to predict the extent to which computers will become intertwined with us. Perhaps the aliens offer a glimpse of the future. Could it be that a type 3 telephone system is basically an internet in your mind? Why would I use a clumsy set of characters which need to be audibly communicated and then reinterpreted by another being? Why not just transmit the information directly to their mind?

Currently we transmit spoken words, characters (i.e. english, math), images, and video via our emerging type 1 telephone system. What kind of information is transferred via an alien type 3 telephone sytem? I have no clue. All I can do is submit this idea to the forum as we continue to work together on unravelling a mystery.

A flood expert has told Sky News unless swift action is taken "we could have a significant number of deaths".

The Environment Secretary Hilary Benn told the House of Commons a surge "of up to three metres is making its way down the North Sea".

The Chief Executive of the Environment Agency, Baroness Young, told Sky News: "A surge wave is expected between 7 and 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, with Great Yarmouth and Lowestoft likely to be the worst hit."

Six severe flood warnings have been announced across East Anglia, the Norfolk Broads and the coast south of Great Yarmouth, along with six further flood warnings of lesser severity and two flood watches in the region.

My 1988 abduction experience with detailed images

Created by: WorldShadow on November 30, flags: 15, replies: 62

In 1988 I had an abduction experience in northern Maine around mid October. I live in Wisconsin and had taken a truck load of material to the northern most point in Maine and was returning south on interstate 95 when I became very sleepy around 7pm and had to pull into a rest area just south of Medway, Maine, 55 miles north of Bangor, Maine.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Pulling into the rest area with my rig, I scoped the parking area for any suspicious vehicles or activity. One has to be careful when traveling on the interstates for opportunist waiting to descend on the unsuspecting. Seeing nothing worth worrying about, and the rest area being empty of cars, trucks and people I sat up in the cab for a short while to get familiar to the piece, calm and scenery. It was a warm and breezy fall evening and I felt pretty comfortable where I was. About 20 minutes later, and I jump in the bunk and go to sleep.

Sometime after falling asleep I had this eerily disturbing sensation I was awake but in total black darkness which was filled with absolute quiet. Than I felt as those I was ascending through the black. It felt as though I was in a horizontal position with my feet slightly elevated as I was floated up. I than suddenly came up into view of a room and there black clouds rolling around and off me as I came up into this circular domed room.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Now I am fully conscious to my position and visually observant of the surroundings. My sensation now is I am lying on my back facing up to a gray circular domed ceiling in a round room all lit up from a source I cannot see.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

The strange thing here is, I feel myself lying flat, but don't feel anything under what should be my body. In fact I have no sensation of a body at all. I only know I can see and its like only my visual power is able to take in my surrounding. I look around and see the beamed circular ceiling with a gray wall surrounding the room. To my left I see a panel a lighter shade of gray than the walls. I am not in fear or afraid. Just very curious as to what I am in and whats happening.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Now I have adjusted to my surroundings and again look over to my left at the gray panel when a gray alien comes through with another, and another, following. It seems they came out from behind the panel and not through it. The first one comes to my left side and looks down at me with the other two moving in on either side of the first one. Now all are looking down at me. I look up to the ceiling and than over and into each one of there black eyes.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Than the first one leans forward and over my face and looks deep into my eyes as I look back into its eyes. I hear a voice in my head as if some one speaks but not this which is in front of me. I hear "You are a by product of a botched abortion". I look up to the ceiling and back into its eyes and say nothing as it continues to gaze into my eyes.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

I can't believe what I just heard in my head and wonder what the hell is this. The alien withdraws back and is standing level with the other two and all are continuing to look down on me.

Suddenly the first one in the center of the three comes up with a circular metallic device in its left hand. It has three fingers on the device as it holds it up for me to see and with nothing being said or projected into my mind, the alien places the device on the side of my left face.

(visit the thread to view linked images)

Now it gets frightening because this device on my left jaw/neck begins to give me a hot flowing sensation where my left leg and arm should be and its flowing up to my body and its becoming like electricity voltage increasing to the point I am scared and it continues getting increasingly severe.

They are draining my life force from my left side and its distressing me to panic level. The hot feeling is very uncomfortable as is the electrically charged feeling flowing up my left leg, arm, body and heart area.

I have to tell you, I was in shock at this point and did all that I think I could. this was a flit moment and I wanted out of there no matter what.

Than I tried to relax as it all faded away and I was drifted down to my truck in the blackness filled with shock and fear like I never before felt. I wake up in the bunk and have this hot buzzing electrical feeling on my entire left side. I sit up and go whew!. Than step up to the driver seat and sit there looking out into the night. My left side is buzzing and I am afraid.

I have to pee and there is a rest stop bathroom 30 feet from my truck. I get out and stand on the side of the truck and cannot move. I have this absolute feeling something is above and behind me watching and my neck hair is on end. I can't turn around and to hell with walking over to the restroom. I was being watched and all I knew was I had to get out of there.

I drove 54 miles south to Bangor Maine where I checked into a truck stop and I was still buzzing from the experience. The next day I thought about it all again and than went about my business. It was all forgotten by mid day and for the next 7 years till 1996 when it all came back.

That is where I encountered a strange chevron craft in Arizona.
